

Murphy High School

GENERAL NEWS

Geraldine Shields
A series of interesting chapel programs have been planned for the next two months. The chapel is held each Thursday morning at 8:30, and the public is invited.

On January 7, Superintendent A. L. Martin will give us a brief History of the development of the public schools in this county over a period of thirty years and a word about the opportunity for young people in the field of teaching.

On January 14, the Andrews High school will present a program. The nature of the program has not been announced, but we can rest assured it will be interesting and worthwhile.

On January 21, Mrs. Thelma Dickey, will tell something of the various types of service the U. S. Post Office gives the county and the possibilities of employment under this branch of Civil Service.

On January 28, Mr. T. A. Case, wood contractor for the Champion Fibre Co., will talk on the supply and consumption of acid wood in the neighborhood.

February 4, Mr. W. E. Studstill will tell us the various types of Railway service we have in the county and the possibilities of railroading as a life's work.

On February 11, Mr. Noah W. Lovingood will talk on the service the retail merchant does for the public and the kind of training one needs to enter this field of work.

On February 18, Mr. J. B. Gray, mayor of Murphy, will talk on the service the town furnishes its citizens.

On February 25, Mr. H. G. Elkins, local manager for the Southern States Power Co., will tell us about the electrical service we have available.

On March 4, Mr. C. D. Mayfield will tell us about the lumber industry in Cherokee.

On March 11, Mr. A. E. Vestal of the Southern Bell Telephone Co., will give us some facts about the Telephone system.

A more complete and detailed program will be published later.

Only sixty years ago—the telephone was invented. Only twenty-one years ago—New York was linked with San Francisco. In less than ten years—North America's telephones have been brought in voice-reach of 69 countries in every part of the world.

During the last decade, there have been seven successive voluntary reductions in the "long distance" rates.

Unceasing scientific research and continuous improvement of operating methods have provided for you a system for talking with almost anyone, anywhere; quickly, clearly and at low cost.

You can use long distance telephone service to advantage, sending your personality across the far horizons while you remain at ease in your home or office. And remember, the cost is small wherever you call.

This is money for future delivery

MONEY to buy a home—start a business—provide a retirement income—pay off a mortgage—secure an education—pay bills. It is money to use for any of the things you would like to do and have.

Life Insurance is a means of obtaining money by making regular premium deposits, these deposits being smaller than the legal interest rate charged on the same amount of borrowed money, and guaranteed to be delivered at a definite future date. This is a true definition of Life Insurance.
