Fourteen ladies are baking big delicious cakes and a dozen or more students and young matrons are making candy for the two "walks." Sam Voyles will supply cold drinks.

Arrangements are in the hands of a committee composed of Mrs. Edna Gschwind, Inez Pope and Jeanne Karnes. A special invitation is extended to all army and navy boys home on furlough. A large group from the 6th Infantry medical and signal corps, at Fort Bragg plan to attend if they can get passes, and the roads permit.

The Santilla line was out for several hours Monday, and part of Tuesday, due to heavy snow. Richards and his crew worked practically all night Monday before finally locating the trouble between Santilla and Murphy. Both Mr. Richards and his men were deeply concerned over hospital patients as well as other consumers, and their plight spurred him on his tedious task. We are grateful to these men who seldom are heard of, except on occasions like this. They are the men behind the scenes, whose untiring efforts keep our lights burning and the lines up and "clear."

Telephone service was severed, due to lines being down. Mr. Cordes had to go all the way to Murphy to notify Mr. Richards, in Copperhill of the power trouble.
