-says PARENT'S MAGAZINE

When the foremost magazine in its field comes out with a statement like that... it must be important! Health and cleanliness have always been important, but now more than ever, the longevity of apparel is a prime necessity! Junior and Mary may outgrow their clothes faster than they wear them out, but if these clothes have been properly cared for, some other child may enjoy them... Efficiently laundered linens and clothing guard the health of your entire family and enable fabrics to look newer... longer.

To The Voters Of Cherokee County

As you know, I am a candidate for election as Register of Deeds of Cherokee County on the Democratic ticket. I have served you in this office to the best of my ability. I have endeavored to be courteous to all parties without thought of their political faith.

The work of the office for the past year has been unusually heavy and so much so at this time that I have been unable to get away from the office enough to see all the voters personally. I must rely on my friends to again elect me to this office. I want to thank you for your support, regardless of party affiliations, in this election.
