Mrs. Lewis Hodges Elected President Of Women's Group

The Women of the Presbyterian Church held their last general meeting of the year Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. V. Taylor, with Mrs. S. C. Burgess serving as co-hostess.

Mrs. R. H. Foard, president, presided over the business session which was opened with the hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus", and prayer by Mrs. Foard.

The following officers for the coming year were elected: Mrs. Lewis Hodges, president; Mrs. Cloe Moore, recording secretary; Mrs. J. H. Wilson, Sr., historian; Mrs. S. C. Burgess, World Missions; Mrs. C. W. Barrett, education; Mrs. F. V. Taylor, spiritual growth; Mrs. Jim Gibbs, special causes; Mrs. Bruce Gordon, stewardship. Other officers serve another year.

Mrs. Harry Miller reviewed the Mission Study Book, "We Americans, North and South", by George Howard.

The meeting was closed with the Mizpah benediction, after which the hostesses served refreshments. They were assisted by Mrs. W. C. Messer.

Mrs. Laura Taylor Is Club Hostess

Sult Home Demonstration Club held its January meeting at the home of Mrs. Laura Taylor. In the absence of Miss Edna Bishop, home agent, Mrs. Frances Puett, assistant agent, was in charge of the meeting.

The subject was "Organization", which included appointment of committee chairmen and project leaders and general planning for the new year.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. F. Wood.

On the basis of preliminary 1950 census figures, the REA estimates that on June 30, 1951, 84.2 per cent of U. S. farms has central station electricity.

The importance of minor minerals in crop production is becoming more apparent as more is learned about them.

Sparkling Holiday Drinks

When the Christmas tree is decorated to the satisfaction of everyone, and the last stocking is hung for Santa's visit, it's time to sit back and admire the results of your happy labors. You may like to listen to Christmas carols, or just relax in the glow of the Christmas tree lights, but you can be sure that all hands are ready for a long, refreshing drink. And during the Yuletide season you'll find many occasions to serve delicious drinks. There will be parties galore—children's parties, teen age gatherings and adult parties for family and friends. On all these occasions long drinks will be much in demand.

Many times a tall glass of pale dry ginger ale, with its delicate flavor and fine tang will hit the spot. Keep it on hand in the refrigerator along with sparkling water and chilled fruit juices, and in a twinkling you can serve a wide range of drinks. The youngsters will enjoy this arrangement, too, for they can whip up their favorite drinks when the gang descends.

A quickly made drink is cranberry juice and pale dry ginger ale in equal amounts, a dash of lemon juice added. Among the easier drinks to make are the old stand-bys, grape juice and ginger ale, half and half; orange juice and ginger ale in equal proportions, or pineapple juice and ginger ale.

Super Blend

1/4 cup grenadine
1/2 cup grapefruit juice
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup grape juice
1/2 cup pineapple juice
Pale dry ginger ale

Combine grenadine and fruit juices. Chill. Divide among 6 tall glasses. Add ice cubes and fill glasses with pale dry ginger ale.

Relatives Of Murphy Resident Hurt In Explosion

Six persons, four of them relatives of A. D. Peacock of Murphy, were injured in a balloon explosion in Wayne Monday. All suffering from first-degree burns of the face, hands, and body and ruptured eardrums are still in Wayne Memorial Hospital.

The explosion was set off when Dock Coker and a neighbor, Ted O. Peacock, made an attempt to inflate a huge balloon with gas. The balloon was a Christmas gift to nine-year-old Garry Coker.

Injured were: Dock Coker and son, Garry, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Peacock and two children, Ted and Sue, at whose home the experiment was tried.

Joins Family

Sponsor Week For Key Deer

National Wildlife Week, sponsored annually by the National Wildlife Federation, will be dedicated this year to helping one of America's most interesting wild animals—the diminutive Key deer—in its last-ditch fight for survival.

The Week will be observed March 16-22, and its chairman will be Ed Dodd, nationally-known cartoonist, conservationist and outdoor enthusiast.

Carl D. Shoemaker, conservation director of the Federation, said the nearly-extinct Key deer will be used as a symbol of America's dwindling natural resources which may yet be saved or restored.

According to federal wildlife authorities, only about 30 of these unique little animals, smallest race of whitetail deer, remain alive. Menaced by poachers, predators and forest fires, they cling to a precarious existence on the Keys off the coast of Florida. During the last year several have been killed by speeding automobiles along the overseas highway to Key West.

Because of the centuries-long adjustment to its own island background, the surviving herd cannot be transplanted to other regions where they might be better protected.

Little more than knee-high, the elusive Key deer weighs no more than 30 to 35 pounds when full-grown. Their fawns are about the size of rabbits.

A short course for commercial flower growers will be held at State College February 19-20.
