

Baptist People To Can Foods For Orphanage

The churches of Western North Carolina Baptist Association will can approximately 200 dozen half gallons of food for the Baptist Orphanage at Thomasville. The canned food will be delivered at Thanksgiving.

Jars are furnished by the orphanage and can be secured from the associational missionary, the Rev. A. G. Brooks. He says the jars are available at any time.

Mr. Brooks says requests are already coming in. When these jars are filled and delivered to the orphanage the churches will have

Farm, Home Week Is August 18-21

During Farm and Home Week, to be held at State College August 18-21, home demonstration club women from throughout North Carolina will have an opportunity to hear an internationally known authority speak on "gracious living."

According to Miss Verna Stanton, assistant State home agent, Miss Margery Wilson of New York will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the State Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs on August 21.

Miss Wilson, a teacher, writer, and lecturer, is the woman who started the modern study of "charm," and her 10 books on the subject are used in schools and colleges all over the world.

Presiding at the meeting will be Mrs. H. M. Johnson, Route 5, Kinston, State president. Assisting will be Mrs. Eva U. Yancey, first vice-president; Mrs. Charles Graham, Route 1, Linwood, second vice-president; Mrs. Earnest Eakins, Burgaw, recording secretary; Mrs. Marvin Ratchford, Route 3, Gastonia, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Roberta Ray, Boone, treasurer.

The annual meeting of the Federation's State Council will be held from 2 to 4 p. m. on August 21. Business matters of interest to each of the 47,421 club members in the State will be discussed.

State chairmen who will participate in the council meeting are: Mrs. F. J. Malone, Prospect Hill, Jané S. McKimmon Loan Fund; Mrs. Walter Pike, Hendersonville, health; Mrs. B. B. Jordan, Route 2, Salisbury, education; Mrs. Perry Taylor, White Plains, citizenship; Mrs. John Boone, Jackson, finance; Mrs. W. R. Langdon, Route 1

Coats, international relations; Mrs. George Apperson, Mocksville, legislative; Mrs. Braxton Bunn, Route 1, Spring Hope, publicity; Mrs. M. S. Emmart, Route 2, Wilmington, safety; Mrs. J. Paul Davenport, Paeolus, music.

Careless Swimmers Warned By TVA

Wading and swimming are highly popular with Tennessee Valley outdoor enthusiasts. Vacation time of 1951 found an estimated eight million persons swimming, wading, or just playing in the waters along the 10,000 miles of shoreline bordering TVA's lakes.

Records at the end of the year, however, showed that 24 incautious waders and swimmers were among the total of 50 victims of recreational drownings on the lakes of the Tennessee Valley. Seven were drowned while swimming or diving; 17 others were drowned while wading or playing in or near the water.

These tragic totals, reports indicate, are as unnecessary as the totals reported among careless operators and passengers of boats. Most of the swimming and wading accidents could have been avoided if the exuberant vacationists had observed a few simple precautions in their dealings with the inviting waters of the lakes.

First to be emphasized, of course, is the desirability of learning to swim. It is one of the best safety precautions available.

Next, but by no means secondary in importance, is remembering not to go swimming or wading alone or at unsupervised beaches. Heart attacks, cramps, or other sudden illnesses are frequent factors in drownings, and the presence of qualified lifeguards minimizes the danger from these attacks.

Now and then ambitious swimmers overtax themselves by trying to swim too far. Here again a lifeguard can minimize the dangers of their recklessness.

Wading, too, can be safe as well as enjoyable for all ages with the exercise of reasonable caution. Avoid wading in water that is too deep or in areas where you are not thoroughly familiar with the bottom. Many of the accidents to waders result from stepping over underwater embankments, into old roadbeds, or into forgotten holes along the shoreline.

Some of 1951's accidents are cited below for the safety lessons they teach. They emphasize how easily such accidents can be avoided.

One couple went swimming in Chickamauga Lake after dark. The woman, not a good swimmer, remained near the bank. When her companion returned from a swim further out in the lake, she had drowned.

In Fort Loudoun Lake a teenage girl went wading. When she slipped and fell on the muddy bottom, her mother tried to rescue her and was pulled down. Both were drowned.

Chickamauga and Cherokee Lakes were the scenes of two fatal accidents involving inner tubes. On Chickamauga Lake a young man who couldn't swim went about a hundred yards out in the lake on an inner tube. When he lost his grip on the tube, he drowned. The Cherokee Lake accident occurred when the inner tube a boy was holding slipped away from him. He was in water 15 feet deep and couldn't swim. Two witnesses of the accident tried unsuccessfully to rescue him and one of them almost lost his life in the attempted rescue.

Near a boat dock on Fontana Lake the parents of a four-year-old boy thought he was playing around their parked car. When they missed him, the search revealed he had slipped off a bank into 15 feet of water and drowned. A few fatal water accidents may be unavoidable. Most of the time, however, reasonable caution may enable us to enjoy the Valley's pleasant waters happily and safely.

Have you tried Buick's POWER STEERING?

HIGH-TAILING down a broad straight road, you have that same sure sense of command that has always put such a thrill into piloting a great performer.

You're the boss. Your hands tell you so. It's the feel that so many folks who love to drive have come to know and enjoy.

This year, you also have at your command the highest horsepower in Buick history—and an Airpower carburetor, with two barrels in reserve to deliver an extra spurt when needed.

You have the size, the silence, the smoothness that make this ROADMASTER so distinguished among fine cars.

Where then, you ask, does Power Steering come in?

When you want to get into—or out of—a tight spot at the curb, Power Steering takes over the extra effort of turning the wheels, and you can forget the two-tons-plus of automobile you're handling.

When you want to turn around in a narrow space—Power Steering lets you get the last inch of benefit from Buick's short turning radius, because it makes the maneuver so easy.

When one front wheel hits a bump, a chuckhole, loose sand or dirt at the edge of a road—Power Steering takes up the jerk—makes control of the wheel easier and therefore safer.

Many folks who have tried it tell us that Power Steering has added almost as much to the pleasure of owning a Buick as Dynaflo Drive.

When would you like to try it?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. †Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster only.
