Meditation

It is a good thing to give thanks unto thy name, O most High: To show forth thy lovingkindness in the morning, and thy faithfulness every night, Upon an instrument of ten strings, and upon the psalter; upon the harp with a solemn sound. For thou, Lord, hast made me glad through thy work: I will triumph in the works of thy hands: O Lord, how great are thy works: and thy thoughts are very deep.
Psalm 92: 1-5.

Fight TB

The Thanksgiving season is with us; the people of Cherokee County are counting their blessings and raising their voices in praise to their Maker.

This period of thanksgiving and feasting will, in some twenty-four hours, give way to a feeling of a still happier holiday spirit when that particular Christmas air fills the county.

We no sooner get up from the Thanksgiving table than we start making out gift and greeting card lists. Throughout the days of Thanksgiving and Christmas all the best thoughts, ideas and inclinations come to the front.

While this holiday spirit is with us, we should all remember the wonderful work done with the money collected from the sale of Christmas Seals. It is through this money that many persons find relief and often times cure from that energy sapping and spirit robbing disease, Tuberculosis.

Those people of Cherokee County who do not feel inclined to answer the letters sent them by the local TB committee should take a short tour through a TB sanatorium. There a visitor can feel the wonderful atmosphere of hope, cooperation, and most important of all, efficiency.

Our citizens who believe that charity begins at home should remember that seventy-five per cent of the money collected here stays in the county. And we benefit from the other twenty-five per cent because that money is used to find new ways and encourage new ideas to fight and cure TB.

Coleman To Preach Here Sunday A. M.

The Rev. James H. Coleman of Waynesville will preach at the morning worship service at the Methodist Church Sunday in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. R. Delbert Byrum.

Rev. C. A. Smith will preach at the evening service of worship.

At the Midweek Prayer Service on Wednesday, Dec. 3, at 7:30 p. m., the Woman's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild will continue the presentation of the study book, "These rights we hold". This study book was written by Dr. Fred L. Brownlee, who is one of the directors of the John C. Campbell Folk School and who is now teaching on the faculty of Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn.

Everyone is invited to attend this service at the Midweek Hour.

Leader For WSCS

Mrs. H. Bueck will be program leader when the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church meets at 3 p. m. Dec. 2, in the ladies' parlor of the church. Her topic will be "Good Tidings of Great Joy".

Following the program, an informal tea will be held in the Men's Bible Class room to which all the women of the church are invited. Hostesses will be Mrs. H. G. Elkins, Mrs. W. M. Fain and Mrs. Vance Wilson.

Crawfords Entertained At Dinner Party Sat.

Dr. Helen Wells and Mrs. Harry Miller entertained Saturday night with a dinner party at the home of Dr. Wells, complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crawford whose marriage was a recent event.

The Thanksgiving idea was used in the menu and the decorations. The table was centered with an arrangement of red and white carnations.

The guest list included the honorees, Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Lillard Walker, Miss Addie Leatherwood, Mrs. Elizabeth Morris, Dave Moody, Miss Maria Travis, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Brumby, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wells, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Bayless, Mr. John Smith and Dr. Harry Miller.

Regular Meeting Of Lodge Be Dec. 1

Worshipful Master Sam Capps urges all members of Cherokee Lodge, No. 146, to attend the regular meeting of the lodge December 1. Officers will be elected and plans made for celebrating the 100th anniversary of the lodge on Dec. 9.

W. A. Singleton and Don Ramsey received the third degree at the called meeting Monday night which was well attended by members from different lodges.

Cherokee Chatter

BY THE EDITOR

I don't want to give the impression that I'm bragging but I believe Mayor L. L. MASON and I are two gentlemen of the old Southern School.

Of course, I wouldn't mention this except I think L. L. ought to get some credit for his chivalry. As for me, I don't mind; my reward came in the doing.

What I'm getting at is that The Mayor and I let his wife, Dot, and my wife beat us at Canasta the other night during the card party at the New Regal Hotel. The American Legion Auxiliary threw the party and I walked away with a beautiful and tasty cake as a door prize. See, boys, it pays to be a gent!

For some reason, they didn't see fit to give L. L. and me the high score prize. I believe the whole thing was fixed. My partner didn't have a good idea, though. He thought we should let the ladies run up a high score thereby capturing that prize and at the same time we would get the booby-ops, consolation prize. The ladies wouldn't cooperate.

Seven lovely ladies gave a wonderful program for the Lions Club the other night concerning hymnody or the study of hymns. Mrs. J. W. Davidson gave an interesting talk on the influence of hymns on civilization and the other ladies sang some of the hymns mentioned.

Those on the program included MRS. BOB WHITE, GLENDA IVIE, ROSALIND STALCUP, JUDY NICHOLS, SALLY MORRIS AND SHIRLEY BATES.

The Rev. DELBERT BYRUM and C. R. FREED gave the ladies able assistance on several hymns. But somehow they didn't look as pretty as the girls.

Preach In Andrews

Dr. R. E. McClure, Executive Secretary of the Asheville Presbytery, will deliver the sermon at the Andrews Presbyterian Church Sunday, November 30.

The pastor, the Rev. J. C. Neville, and Mrs. Neville will attend Presbyterian Worship Service at Robbinsville.

children, Norman and Karol will spend Thanksgiving week end in Atlanta with Mrs. Kay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Marks.

Miss Josephine Heighway, Mrs. Ruby Hill and Miss Phyllis Snyder left Wednesday noon to spend Thanksgiving with Miss Addie Mae Cooke at Chowan College, Murfreesboro, N. C.

Mrs. Mattie Piercy and son, Olen Stratton and Mrs. Stratton were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Odom.

Mrs. W. A. Phipps of Asheville was here last week end to see her mother, Mrs. W. B. Mulkey who was in the hospital.

Around Andrews

BY RUTH SUBSAVAGE

The men who engaged in the recent deer hunts were not all prize winners. However, GRADY HOGSED and PAUL FRANKLIN brought in a buck apiece, deer, that is.

After considerable concern by basketball fans in Andrews, the beginning of basketball practice by the high schoolers, was wholeheartedly welcomed. MISS RUTH HAMILTON, noted for her past hardwood success, is in charge of the basketeers.

Some people around town are talking about the need of a zoning regulation to protect home owners and home builders. The town is growing.

TOM DAY is busy talking up the annual Legion toy repair program. Those fellows really get to work on discarded toys making them look like new.

It's time to be thinking about home and business Christmas decoration. HARRY WOLF and HAROLD KATZAMAN, newcomers, presented a challenge in Christmas attraction last Season.

One of the greatest losses that can be suffered is a sense of humor. It's a service to mankind to maintain that infectious virtue as evidenced in market-man, BERKE WOOD.

One of the ENORMOUS trailer trucks that transports heavy equipment to Berkshire Knitting Mills, became trapped in a ditch at the Junaluska-U. S. 19 intersection, Monday evening. It's amazing all the excitement that can center around such a giant in distress.

CHIEF FRANK MEHAFFEY went a-hunting and came back with five prize squirrels.

A lot of cars are seen going very slowly out through Valleytown recently. The new home of DR. AND MRS. JOHN RODDA is attracting interest and admiration of those who pass.

MR. and MRS. "DOC" GIBSON will soon be moving into their attractive new brick home near Berkshire Mills.

Anyone wishing a pleasant farm visit should ask JEFF BROOKS to show his herd at Reece Farm. The trip is well worth the effort of getting there.

By the troubled look on BEN RAY'S face as he critically surveyed an array of jewelry in a local shop, we feel certain that a birthday card to MILDRED RAY would not be amiss.

Anyone needing an entertainer for the evening should investigate the possibility of obtaining the services of WARREN DEYER-MONT singing, "Too Old to Cut the Mustard."

What Makes Right?

Lesson for November 26, 1932

WHAT makes right, right? It cannot be determined by counting votes. The voice of the people is not necessarily the voice of God.

Even if everybody in the world did exactly what is right (which has never happened in this world yet) it still would not be right merely because they all did it. If "right" meant nothing more than what everybody does or what most people do, then right would change as often as popular opinion changed. It would change with the climate, with the calendar. But right is something more enduring than popular opinions, customs or enthusiasms.

Does "Right" Mean "Legal"?

Another notion of what it is that makes right, is Law. If it's legal it's right, if it's illegal it's wrong. But haven't we often heard the expression, "There ought to be a law . . ." The person who says that means that there is something which is right that isn't legal; he wants a law to match what is right. Or again, laws are sometimes repealed. But no one would ever vote to repeal a law if he didn't think the law was wrong. Good men sometimes repeal laws; but no good man ever wanted to repeal "right."

There is a variety of this idea which has more truth in it; namely, that right is the same thing as the law of God. But God does not make acts right or wrong simply by ordering them to be so.

Could God have said, Thou shalt kill, thou shalt bear false witness? Could he have said, Thou shalt hate thy-God and hate thy neighbor? Of course not. He could not have made up such nonsense-laws, such wicked commandments, because he is not that kind of God, for one thing, and for another thing because if he did, it would have meant the destruction of the human race. Although right, and the will of God, are really the same thing, yet an act is not right because God wills or commands it because it is right.

How Jesus Looked at It

How did Jesus our Lord stand on this question? What made a thing right, for him? He got into trouble with the lawyers of his time, and he got into trouble with what we would call D.D.'s and prominent preachers and professors of theology (the Pharisees); they called him "bad" and had him executed accordingly.

So there was evidently a difference between his way of looking at "right" and their way. It was precisely on this point that they split. Jesus tried to make clear, though the Pharisees were too blind to see it, that the Sabbath law, any law of God or good rule of man, is right and good only in so far as it promotes the welfare of man. This is not setting up man above God, for God is man's Creator. Right is what develops God's children; wrong is what stunts, deforms, defeats and destroys them.

To put it in another way: The test of right and wrong is always this: Will this thing make people better and make better people? If so, it is right. All our laws, institutions and interests must be brought to the test of their effect on human welfare. And of course, in Jesus' view, the welfare of man includes social, spiritual and mental well-being and growth, not physical health and financial wealth alone.

Liquor and Welfare

This being Temperance Sunday, it is a good time to think about the liquor traffic in the light of all this. Think it out for yourself. Remember, alcohol is a habit-forming drug, and all talk about liquor cannot erase that very plain fact.

Now think about the whole business of making it, glamorizing it in advertising, selling it and using it. Look around you in your home community, and in our nation at large, and ask: Does it bring more benefit to people in your community than it brings harm? Is the purpose of the business human welfare?

Ask the welfare agencies in your community—the Red Cross, the hospital, the agencies that look after the poor, the orphanage, and so on—ask these people: Does the liquor business make your work easier? Is the liquor trade the ally of the public school and the church? Does it make better citizens, better Christians? If it does, and only if it does, then as a Christian can you call it right.

Learn to keep your troubles to yourself. Nobody wants them. Everybody has plenty troubles of their own.

WMU Observes Week Of Prayer

The Woman's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church will observe the Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions Dec. 1-5. The theme for the week is "Lovest Thou Me?"

The meetings will begin each day, Monday through Friday at 2:30 p. m., except Wednesday, when all the circles will meet at 7:30 p. m. The topics for the week will be, Monday through Friday, respectively, "The Gift of God's Love", "Love Thy Neighbor", "Ocher Sheep", "For Love's Sake" and "If You Love Me."

The Ruth Bagwell Circle will have a special week of Prayer meeting Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Marvin Hampton.

On Sunday, at the regular worship service, the Rev. J. Alton Morris, pastor will speak on "The Bible and World Missions", and in the evening on "He Paid the Price".

On Monday at 7 p. m. the YWA will meet with Miss Susie Miller and at 7:30 p. m., the BWC will meet with Mrs. Alvin Buchanan for a Foreign Missions program.

Wednesday at 6 p. m. the Sunday School Workers' Council supper will be held, followed by a council meeting. At 7:30 p. m. Wednesday the night circle of the WMS will give the week of Prayer Program.
