AIRPORT NOTES

By BOB HEATON

(Editor's note: This is the first of a series of bi-weekly articles concerning your local airport—the Andrews-Murphy Airport. The "Notes" will cover the field's personnel, its facilities and its operations.)

The Andrews-Murphy Airport is one and a half miles west of Andrews and 13 and a half miles east of Murphy in a spacious setting in the beautiful Konnaheeta Valley. Altitude of the port is 1,690 feet.

Conceived and built in 1946 by E. A. Wood Sr., the airport is at present managed by E. A. Wood Jr.

Charter flights, student instructions, service and repairs are offered at the field. The port is the only field west of Asheville capable of handling both single and twin-engine planes on a year-round basis.

There are at present 10 airplanes based at the field. Six are privately owned; the others belong to the management.

Four of the privately-owned planes are used principally for business, emphasizing the increasing important role aircraft is playing in our economy. Three of the ships are owned by contractors and engineers.

A Piper Super cruiser is owned by Herman M. West Construction Co. of Murphy, a Luscombe Silvaire, was recently acquired by the Tom R. Hay Engineering Co. of Andrews and a Cessna 170 was just delivered for the J. H. Shuler Construction Co. of Robbinsville.

The fourth business flown plane at the port is a Piper Cub owned by Harold Hatchett of Murphy, an artificial breeding technician with the Murphy Milkshed.

C. H. Townsend of Marble uses his Monocoupe 90 mainly for pleasure as does Dave McClure of Peachtree, whose Aeronca Tandem is the veteran of the group.

A visiting plane, another Cessna 170, has been at the field for several days. One of several owned by Champion Fibre and Paper Co. of Canton, N. C., this ship is used to transport timer crushers.

But it is aviation in action that this column will be mainly concerned with. Which brings to mind that Tom R. Hay took off Sunday for Oklahoma, where his company is presently engaged.

The average North Carolina cow produces only 4,450 pounds of milk a year.

Andrews YWS Has Full Week

Focus Week for the Young Woman's Auxiliary is being observed in Baptist Churches throughout the south and the Andrews Church is focusing the attention of members of the church and community to the purpose, work and value of the YWA.

Special recognition was given to the YWA at church Sunday and Monday night the group was entertained with a buffet supper given by the YWA for the birthday anniversary of the Girls' Auxiliary. Miss Daisy Battle, counselor and Mabel Rayburn assisted.

The supper was given at the home of Mrs. Glenn McGuire who is counselor for the Intermediate Girls' Auxiliary. Mrs. June Brooks, her assistant, was also present, as was Mrs. Carl West, Junior G. A. counselor.

The table was centered with a large birthday cake and valentine decorations were used.

Those present were Barbara Battle, Bobbie Jean Bristol, June Cruise, Jill Thornton, Glenna Calhoun, Lucille Anderson, Deloris Flowers, Sue McGuire, Wilma Joyce Gray, Connie Sue Petty, Martha Derreberry, Ann Pullum, Petty Jane Brown, Sue Nicholas, Dorcas McGuire, Pat Derreberry, Jerry McGuire.

Other activities of the week will be the study of the new home missions book "Adventuring With God"; the regular family night at the church with a program planned from "the Window of YWA"; Thursday night packing a package for Korean relief and continuing the mission study.

Friday night the girls will take small gifts to send to a girl at the Missionary Training School in Louisville, Ky., and will complete the mission study book with Mrs. Mable McFalls Rayburn teaching.

PRESBYTERIANS STUDY

The Presbyterian Women of the Andrews Church met with Mrs. J. C. Neville Monday for the annual foreign missions program with the theme "Presbyterian Work in Africa".

Mrs. Neville was leader of the program which was in the form of a panel discussion.

Following the business session refreshments were served.

Boy Scout Week In Full Swing With Murphy Troop

With Boy Scout Week in full swing this week, Murphy Ministers were requested to remember the scouts during their morning prayers.

All scouts in Murphy are wearing their uniforms this week and several special programs were planned during the special period.

The Murphy troop—with some 35 members—went on a weiner roast Monday evening at the picnic grounds.

The Scouts will participate in a special program at the Murphy City School. A display has been set by the scouts in the library.

Scoutmaster Irvin Greene said Scouting is on the increase in Murphy. The local club is sponsored by the Murphy Lions Club with Hobart McKeever as chairman.

Bloodmobile Visit Is Call For Murphy Help

A clear, definite call for the citizens of Murphy to help our wounded servicemen, to help themselves and to help in one of science's most worthwhile battles has been made by the Red Cross of America. The call for assistance asks that we give blood when the Bloodmobile arrives here tomorrow at the First Baptist Church.

As far as the pain and inconveniences are concerned there is no reason why every person in Murphy should not heed the call. There is absolutely no pain connected with the process. The only trouble the donor is subjected to is the working of his hand while the blood is being extracted.

In the convenience department, it really takes little time to give the blood and almost everyone in the town can afford to take off the few minutes required for the process.

A person who will not help himself is hardly worth the help received from others. But that is the case of those who do not give blood. Part of the blood will be used to fill needs right here in Murphy while other pints will be used to fight polio a disease that can strike any of us here during the polio season. When we give blood for the fight against polio we are giving blood for our own security.

The last reason—and a reason that should bring out enough persons to flood the Red Cross mobile unit—is the fact that a great deal of the blood is collected to be sent overseas to save lives of wounded servicemen. Today there are Murphy boys fighting in Korea and at this very moment might be needing a blood transfusion.

Because of the Bloodmobile sent out by the Red Cross, that wounded Murphy boy will get the blood he needs.

But, one of these days if we don't keep up our end of the fight and continue to give our blood, the fluid so precious to those fighting men may be lacking.

Go to the Bloodmobile tomorrow and really give something for our servicemen, for polio and for yourself—give something that shows you care—give a pint of your blood. The gift only you can give.

No Favorites

Lesson for February 15, 1953

NOBODY loves a "teacher's pet. No teacher should have one; just as no father or mother should have a "pet" child. We all feel that everybody should be treated alike. And yet, strange to say, when it comes to religion, many a person who wouldn't be a teacher's pet for anything, will believe and hope that he is one of God's pets. All of us have this wish at times. We like to feel that God won't deal with us strictly, that he will let down the rules for us a little. We like to think of ourselves as special cases, we like to feel we have the inside track, or the "pipeline to God." But it won't do. God has no special favorites.

Fatal Mistake

It is a fatal mistake to think that God is bound to look out for ME, no matter what. In the time of Jesus, the leaders of his people thought God was just bound to give them the front seats in his Kingdom. For one thing, those Jewish leaders were proud of their ancestors. On their family tree were men like Abraham, Samuel, Moses, David and Dr. Foreman countless other good and noble people. The aristocrats of Jesus' time thought; and since we belong to the same family as those who have served God so well, surely God will show US special favors! But God does not grant special privileges merely on account of a family tree. There are people today who will tell you: "Yes, my people for three generations have belonged to this church. My great-grandfather helped to build it. My good old mother just about wore her Bible out—I could show you if I could find it around somewhere."

But Jesus did not hold out any hope that you can secure a seat by the Throne on Abraham's ticket by your dear old grandfathers' name. Any one else who happens to be high on your family tree. Then for another thing, those stuffed-shirt Pharisees thought God owed them something because of the position they held. They had the front seats in the synagogues; every one got up when they came in. They seem to have got the idea that even God would get up when they arrived in heaven. But Jesus gave an encouragement to that notion neither.

Promises "If—"

Another reason why these prominent men thought they had a sort of first mortgage on the Kingdom of Heaven was that they misunderstood the promises of God. Many promises of blessings, wonderful blessings, had been made to the people of Israel by prophet after prophet. These promises are still to be read in the Old Testament. Where the chief priests and all that crowd made their mistake was at two points. One: they supposed that these were promises "no matter what," promises without conditions, without any strings attached. God would give Israel all these blessings, they reasoned; they belonged to Israel, therefore they would share the blessings.

Not at all; Jesus tells them straight out that the kingdom is to be taken away from them and given to a "nation producing the fruits of it." What nation? That promise is still good, but no nation, group or people or race or church can claim it absolutely and finally. The "kingdom" with God's highest blessings, can belong to England or Japan or the United States or Ethiopia—IF. They are offered and promised to any nation that will produce the fruits. Does ours?

Christ or Chaos

Again these men were mistaken in supposing they could claim God's blessings and yet reject God's Son. The basic trouble with these big men of Jerusalem, and the people they influenced, was that they did not want Jesus. They did not want him, his ideas, his leadership; they had no notion at all of his sacrifice. Living or dying they had no use for him... and so they perished. Those who reject the living Grace of God have to suffer the consequences. Christ is still the test of community and nation. The people who welcome him, live by him, have enduring life. The kind of people who turn him away and try to destroy what he gave his life for, will themselves be destroyed. The epitaph of all wrecked nations could well be the same: Here lie the wretched remains of a people that had no use for God. To reject Christ is to choose chaos.
