

Woman Talk

By EMILY COSTELLO

From the entrance of the first flapper to the exit of the last dude, the Roaring Twenties party staged Saturday night at Duke's Lodge by OPIE and HOBIE MCKEEVER and MARTHA DREHER was a howling success.

Really, you ain't seen 'nothin' until you hear about the hilarious costumes that turned out of Murphy Saturday . . . most of them "the real thing", being dragged out of many attics hereabouts.

Hostesses McKeever and Dreher were clad, the former in acru lace over blue taffeta, with a sash, just at the right place on the hip; and the latter in a really attractive black evening frock of Ciell Bueck's. (And do you know—Martha, even with her trim form didn't cut the figure Ciell did, for she had even let in pieces on the side seams.)

Hobie wore knickers, long socks and bow tie, as did prize winning male FRANCIS BOURNE, JR. Francis also had on a checkedy vest, and hat.

MARGARET GIBBS, prize winning drsner of the fairer sex, wore a street costume of black, with vermilion accordion pleats showing from the hemline. She also had a shaggy Fox neckpiece, and a dark cloche. ANNE WARD was dressed in brown—with a scream of a brown hat with a plume a mile long. MABEL MASSEY wore black satin, set off with a big red poppy (or rose) sassily perched on the skirt. LIZ GRAY wore a pale yellow dress, with a trailing wing-like effect.

DAVE MOODY wore the uniform of a World War I sergeant; while IKE OLSON was a colonel from the same war. (And I must say, Ike didn't fail to pull his rank on poor Dave.) HILDA OLSON wore a green dress and carried a matching fan, all belonging to Emily Davidson, who had bought the frock especially for Martha Lee's wedding, I believe.

ROSEMOND MATTOX wore a filmy royal blue dress, with wide pink sash. H. A. had bow tie and straw sailor, as did HARRY BISHOP. CATHERINE BISHOP wore a flowerdy frock.

BETSY BOURNE had on a light pink dress, with jeweled trim; VIRGINIA HYDE wore the reddest dress present, and she had her hair arranged in very convincing spit curls. (Virginia's dress was borrowed from Emily Miller). ED HYDE was very dashing in a

Andrews Personals

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Munger of Topton and Mr. and Mrs. James Lenox of Indianapolis spent several days last week in Asheville. While there they were overnight guests at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. John Neville in Montreat.

Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Newman of cute "homemade" outfit of knickers bright red sox, plaid vest and hat.

O. L. and KATIE ANDERSON were there—she wearing a blousy hairdo and a green dress. LOUISE BAYLESS wore a black dress, and a wicked looking gold evening band around her forehead. BUSTER came as he was.

EDNA WHITLEY wore a bluish dress and in general looked awfully cute. KATHLEEN DAVIDSON wore an appealing black velvet dress trimmed in pink rosebuds and she carried a peach colored shawl, belonging to Annette Whitfield. JOHN DAVIDSON was in full dress (mostly Doc Whitfield's), including a high top hat.

FRANCES DICKSON and JOHN WRINN were there, and I believe Frances was wearing a dark frock. EMILY CARR (of Robbinsville, cousin of Francis Bourne) wore a real middy blouse, skirt and flat heels. Her brother, JACK SHURBER of Chafiotte was also present, as was JACK BARNETT, who assisted in entertaining JJACK and MONIKA DAVIS were in for only a short time—Jack being "on call". It was also good to see HELEN (Wells) and CHARLES SMITH there—Helen wearing a floppy flowered dress.

MARTHA NELL THUSS, I believe was also wearing one of Emily Davidson's pretty, fancy and short frocks . . . just right for the party. RUTH CRAVEN wore a slim dress of a gooseberry green satin material while KIFFEN CRAVEN was "formal".

The pink hat I saw when I first arrived, proved to have SIS DARNELL hidden beneath. BILL DARNELL was dressed like H. A. and Harry Bishop. Now, if I've named 42 people, that's the crowd!

BAR-B-QUE
Since my first week in Murphy I've heard the praises of TOBY FAIN's barbecue. Finally, last week, on invitation of R. M. ADKINS we were able to taste for ourselves . . . and I can tell you now, I like it! R. M. and Mrs. Adkins entertained last week for some 100 Pure Oil dealers and their families and a number of other guests, at barbecue—hash, beef, pork, and lamb, soft drinks and coffee.

At the P. T. A. meeting Monday there were more than 50 teachers and about 35 parents! Aren't you ashamed of yourselves? Not even one parent per teacher.

SIMS BE INDUCTED
RAY SIMS left Tuesday to be inducted into the army. Last year he was a pre-med student at Mars Hill College. He plans to complete his schooling once he is out of the army. The young R. A.'s at the First Baptist Church, of which he was counselor, I believe gave him a going-away gift.
