Christmas Spirit Has Hit Cherokee County Post Offices

Although it is still a long time until Christmas as far as the general public is concerned—especially children, Cherokee County Post Offices are getting the Christmas spirit.

And for a good reason. Every year about this time postal officials begin their worrying over how many Christmas packages and greeting cards fail to reach their destinations on time. In some cases packages and cards go to the dead letter office and never reach the intended receiver.

It is an uphill battle for postal workers every Christmas but every year they manage to do a wonderful job of playing Santa Clause to loved ones in distant parts. It is no accident that the organization—set up to handle the normal flow of yearly average mail—is able to take on this mammoth load each year.

The Postal Department's plan of beating the rush is worked out in advance and it calls for cooperation of the mailing public. On Page One of this issue the Scout is carrying a news story from the Post Office that sets down the bet plan to follow in mailing cards and packages. These hints are tried and proved over years of Christmas mailing periods.

Cherokee County mailing patrons must remember that by following the plan, they will be giving extra assistance to their Post Offices; but, more important, their Christmas packages will reach their destinations on time.

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor:

I was shocked when I arrived here (in Korea) last February to see these children wearing no shoes and any scrap of old clothing they could find anywhere. They beg for any kind of food that is their only means of survival.

I have sent you this letter in hopes you will publish it. I feel confident that the people of Cherokee County won't let these starving children down. They didn't ask for war but they're the ones who are suffering the most of all.

Thanking you very kindly,

13 October 1953

Dear Friend,

Marines of the First Service Battalion are going to have a Christmas party. "Good!", you say, "But why are you telling me about it?" I'll explain. At the Imjin Refuge Camp, near our battalion, there are over 6,000 people living in mud huts, shanties, and lean-to's. Of these there are some 3,000 children, 800 of whom are in school. They go to school in tents, most of which are old and rotten. The children sit on the ground with no fire to warm them. These people are a part of 48,000 living in refugee camps in the First Marine Division area. Having been evacuated from their farms in the military zones the people are without any means of support and are completely destitute. They are in dire need of food and clothing.

Here is why I am writing to you. Service Battalion Marines are going to "chip in" to have a big Christmas party for these children. We want you to help us by sending clothing and nourishing canned food (not money) to give to the children at the party. Possibly you could interest a neighborhood group, church, school, civic or veteran's organization in getting up a package for us. Check with the post man in the size and weight limitations, and be sure to wrap and tie the package securely. Put an extra rope around it to make certain it will reach us. In order to get here in time, it should be mailed the first week in November. Send it to the Battalion chaplain at the above address.

For anything that you might send, we express our thanks in advance. It is our hope that you will receive a portion of the enjoyment and satisfaction by participating in our party in this way.

Very Sincerely,
S-Sgt. Roy F. Lovingsood
P. S. The clothing doesn't have to be new, used clothing is fine.

Dear Editor:

The business people of the Marble Community have reason to be happy and relieved this Sunday morning after Halloween. Outside of a little window soaping their places of business remain as they left them Saturday night. There is an atmosphere of good will all around. Even the sunshine seems a little brighter, and certainly the community spirit is more congenial. Instead of a feeling of contempt for cluttered doorways, there is a warm appreciation for well-behaved young folks. The people of Marble can greet each other with a smile, instead of a frown and regret. The children and their parents are to be congratulated for a harmonious Halloween.

Truck Wreck Was "Side-Swipe" Not Headon

A two truck wreck termed last week in the Scout as a "head-on collision" was a side-swipe accident, Investigating Officer L. H. Baker, highway patrolman, reported.

The wreck occurred two miles east of Murphy on Highway 19 early Saturday, Oct. 24. No one was injured.

A MERRY HALLOWEEN

We think that the people of Andrews, both young and old, may congratulate themselves on a wholesome and merry Halloween.

There were, as always, exceptions that prove the rule. A stop sign was torn down, and boulders that might have caused tragedy were rolled into the street, but it seems that each year there is less meanness and more real fun.

We feel that our young people are entitled to this gay evening that is peculiarly their own. They walk abroad in every conceivable costume, ghosts, witches, goblins, strange animals, supermen, Indians and spacemen.

Let us older ones continue to enter with the spirit of their good times. Let us continue to be hosts to them, having our doorways lighted and a merry greeting when they come with their "Trick or treat".

Last year many of them asked for "paper pokes" but this year they brought their own pokes and held them open for us to drop in the treats. It is true that they come in droves, but it takes so little to please them.

They are our own Andrews Young folks and if we will plan ahead a bit we too can be young and gay with them on their merry Halloweens. (Thanks to a friend of mine for the above article).

JUNIOR PARTY

The Junior Class of the Andrews High School sponsored a Halloween Party in the gym Saturday Night. Mrs. Ruby Barnett and Mr. Williford assisted the class in preparations and plans for the party. All types of folk and halloween games were played and following the games a square dance was held.

Refreshments were sold by the Class and proceeds go into the Junior Class Treasury.

Halloween parties were enjoyed by the grammar grade students in their class rooms Friday afternoon, with Teachers and Grade Mothers providing games and delicious refreshments.

MR. AND MRS. HUGH FORBES honored the Young People's Class of the Andrews Presbyterian Church at their home Thursday evening with a Halloween Party. Jack O' Lanterns, stacks of pumpkins and bright red apples decorated the home and lawn. Games, stories and a wiener roast were enjoyed by the 22 attending guests.

Truly, I enjoyed Halloween too, because my son, Charles, just 4½, when he first heard someone mention Halloween, he said "Momma, Lets have a Halloween Party" so we did and I had as much fun as the kids did.

Jack O' Lanterns and candles provided the light throughout the house and it was rather scary with masked faces peering from every corner. Hot chocolate, cookies, and candies were served to the guests.

Now I might leave out some of the names of the guest but it will be due to the fact that I didn't recognize them in their costumes.

But I think this is a list of them; Betsy Battle, Jean Bristol, Martha Dereberry, Mary Jo Battle Bud Battle, Lynn Love, Dicky Lay, Butch Love, Louise and "Cootie" Jones, Connie Garrett and David Jones, Mrs. Lil Love, Mrs. Hazel and Mackie Lominae assisted in the entertainment and refreshments.

TY W. BURNETT, President of Andrews Rotary Club, attended the 1953 Annual Conference of District 280 Rotary International, in Asheville, Monday and Tuesday held in the George Vanderbilt Hotel. He will make a report of the conference at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club, Thursday Noon, at the Shell Dining Room.

A/CMM BEN T. Jones and family, who have resided in Memphis, Tenn. for the past few years have moved to Andrews. He is the son, of Mrs. W. C. Jones. He is retiring from the Navy after serving 22 years and 3 months in the Naval Air Corps. He is married and has 3 children.

MR. AND MRS. CARL DEAN have moved to Franklin, where Mr. Dean is employed with the Nantahala Power & Light Company. They were wonderful neighbors and we sure will miss them.

DR. AND MRS. L. L. EZZELL have moved into their new home on Bristol Avenue. It is such a beautiful place with a nice view of the town and the surrounding mountains.

SAM JONES, Realty, reports that JOHN R. BRENNAN of Jacksonville, Fla. has purchased property near the Rhodo Community and will start construction of a new home immediately.

MRS. BAXTER LAY is a patient at the Emory Hospital, Emory, Ga. where she underwent surgery. Mrs. Lay is reported to be improving, and we miss her so much. We wish her a speedy recovery and are looking forward to her return in the store and the Beginner's Dept. of the Baptist Sunday School.

A combination Kindergarten and Birthday Party was held Saturday afternoon at the home of MRS. W. T. HOBLITZELL, honoring her son, William Kenneth, on his fifth birthday. The home was decorated with bronze Chrysanthemums and Halloween decorations. All the children were dressed in Halloween costumes. Refreshments consisted of Hot Dogs, Glazed apples in forms of pumpkins, orange juice, candies and a Birthday cake. Attending the party were Kathy and Suzanna Van Gorder, Joyie Bristol, Johnny Rodda, Charlie Dulany, David Willard, Jackie Ledford, Jimmy Sarsavage, Jimmy and Bobby Woods, Boyer Watry, Linda Chandler, Darlene Chreasmann, and George Hoblitzell.

TEEN-AGE CHATTER
MISS FRANCES BROOKS was hostess at a Birthday Party, honoring Martin West on his 17th birthday in her home Wednesday Nite, Oct. 28th. Following the games refreshments of punch, nuts mints and a lovely birthday cake were served the following guest, Mary Ruth Gibson, Norma Crawford, Jane Gay Neal, Judy Bristol, Shirley Matheson, Darlene Powers, Mackie Lomanae, Zeb Conley, J. B. Bettis, Jack Pullium, Lyle Bryson, Lawrence Hyde, Joe Mosteller and Ronnie Phillips.

Now that Basketball practice has started things will be in a rush for the girls and boys on the team. From various reports I think we will really have a swell team this year.

Church-Community

Lesson for November 8, 1953

EVERY Chamber of Commerce brags about the churches in its town, just as it brags about the parks, schools and museums. But sometimes the pride is for the wrong reason. Why should a community be proud of its churches and thankful for them? Why does every American community, with very few exceptions, feel itself not complete without at least one church? Not because they add to the beauty of the local scene, though many of them do. Not because they are inexpensive Dr. Foreman and democratic clubs, for a church which is no more than a club is not a true church.

What Does A Church Do For A Community?

What a good church does for its community can never be fully told. There are three outstanding services which the church and only the church attempts to do in the most vital way. One is to produce better persons. To be sure, the schools and the hospitals and all sorts of organizations are working at the task of making better citizens; so perhaps are the juvenile courts and even the police courts. But the church, and only the church, is working at the job of making better citizens from inside out. Only the church confronts sinning men with the living God. Only the church introduces men to Christ. Only the church keeps alive the memory, and practices the living presence, of the Son of God.

Even the most pugnacious mayor would admit that his city or town would be better if all the citizens were Christians. Well, that is precisely what the church is trying to do, "present every man perfect in Christ" as St. Paul expressed it.

The Personal Gospel

Some churches talk much of the social gospel; others never do. But even the most individualistic kind of religion may turn out to be a social gospel—a good news for the community—after all. For one thing, the church and only the church, within any community, not only knows what a Christian home ought to be, but works at it. If a church did nothing else whatever to solve the problems of its community, what it does in founding and supporting Christian homes brings rewards and dividends to the community that far outweigh anything the community can do for the church. The church keeps her eye always on persons; other elements in the community keep sharp eyes on profits, but in the long run people are more important than profits, even when it is only the church that sees it. In a certain large city there is a residential area where the people have been badly affected by fumes from manufacturing plants about a mile away. In the many arguments over the trouble, the factories (and the Chamber of Commerce) are concerned mainly with the money problems involved in ridding the community of harmful fumes.

Learning To Be Neighbors

In the long run, it is the church that helps a community to be a community and not a collection of houses. It is the church that teaches her members to honor others more than themselves. It is the church that teaches a morality higher and deeper than any code of laws. It is the church that preaches and teaches and in part practices unselfish love as the law of life. It is the church that gives the most profound meaning to the word "neighbor" and indeed to "community" itself. A church which is in itself a true fellowship is going that far toward making the whole community a fellowship in fact and not only in name. Here, alas! we run into a miserable fact; that some churches are so far from Christian that they harm the community-spirit instead of building it up. In a small Delaware village some years ago a feud between two denominations reached the point where one locked the other out of the Thanksgiving service! That is an extreme; but any one who rides through the country and sees in a tiny village more churches than it can ever support or fill, cannot help wondering whether all these "holier-than-thou" societies are building or breaking a spirit of togetherness in that place.

United States production of lamb and mutton will likely be somewhat smaller in 1954. Consumption may drop to about four pounds per person from this year's average of 4.6 pounds.
