

Tobacco Violations Are Discussed

Tar Heel tobacco farmers have shelled out over $1,872,000 in penalties for failure to comply with ASC's Production Adjustment program.

H. D. Godfrey of the State PSC Office, in reporting these penalty collections on the 1954 tobacco crop, explained that the rate of penalty for this year was 21 cents per pound for flue-cured and 26 cents per pound for Burley.

This represents a penalty on flue cured tobacco of 40 per cent of last year's average market price. On Burley the penalty was 50 per cent of last year's average price.

When congress amended the law with respect to the rate of penalty it was too late to put the increased rate into effect on flue-cured. The penalty rate for flue-cured will be increased for 1955.

Godfrey reported that this penalty money collected totaled nearly three times the amount required for administering the program in the State.

These penalty collections are deposited to the general fund of the federal treasury and used to supplement tax collections.

RECORD MILK PRODUCTION

RALEIGH, N. C.—Estimated November milk production in North Carolina totaled 141 million pounds—a record high for the month according to the N. C. Crop Reporting Services.

The November flow showed a seasonal decline of 11 million pounds from the October output but was 8 million pounds higher than production during November 1953 and 27 million pounds above the 1943-52 average for the month.

U. S. Milk production during November, estimated at 8.4 billion pounds, was only a little above last year's previous record for the month, but was nearly 10 percent above the 1943-52 November average.

On Burley, 18,185 farmers harvested 11,422 acres.

The number of acres planted in excess of allotment for burley was 432. This gives a total of 10,261 acres of both types of tobacco planted in this state either without an allotment or in excess of allotment.

At the same time, Godfrey reports, there were 5,683 tobacco farmers who did not plant any tobacco and they had 6,640 acres of allotment.

Godfrey says that the program just about evens itself out with just as many farmers underplanting as there are overplanting. At the same time he reminds of the nearly two million dollars added to the federal treasury.

The farm population in the United States reached a new low of 22 million persons in 1954. Farm residents now comprise about 13.5 per cent of our total population.

GARDENTIME

BY ROBERT SCHMIDT

During the dormant season we should examine our shrubs and fruit trees closely to see if they are infested with scale insects. If you do not know what scale insects look like, call in your county agent or some horticultural friend who is familiar with them. If your trees are infested with scale it is important that you do something about it.

Scale insects are very small sucking insects that attach themselves to the twigs, leaves, and branches of shrubs and trees and proceed to suck the life out of them. As soon as they are attached to the twig they construct a tough scale covering over themselves for protection. That is why they are called scale insects. The scales are usually white or gray in color.

In order to kill the insects it is necessary to use a spray material that will penetrate the scale covering. Such a spray would be too strong to use during the growing season because it would also damage the plants. Therefore, we must spray for scale insects during the dormant season when the plants are not growing and deciduous trees are free of leaves.

The mis-cible oils, such as Volck and Scale side, and lime-sulphur solutions, are effective in controlling scale insects when used according to the manufacturers' directions. Oil sprays should not be used in freezing weather. Because of its fungicidal action, especially on peach trees, it is preferred to use lime-sulphur spray late in the dormant season.

Also, at this time of the year we may find a number of spindle shaped cocoons or "bags" hanging on the twigs of our narrowleaved evergreens. Many of these "bags" contain eggs of the bagworm which will hatch out into caterpillars in early summer.

Later in the summer they will change to adults and the females off and destroyed. During the summer will lay eggs in their cocoons. For mer the caterpillars may be killed in control of bagworms all cocoons with a DDT spray or an arsenical on the trees or shrubs during the winter season should be picked and destroyed.
