SOUTHERN PINE BEETLE

ACTUAL SIZE

1/8" LONG

SOUTHERN PINE BEETLE KILLED THESE TREES

The beetle, Dendroctonus Frontalis, punctures the bark, lays eggs in the living tissue beneath. The eggs hatch into larvae, which eat the cambium, thus killing the tree. Consult your Forester when bugs attack your trees.

Warning Given Of Pine Beetles

Those fading yellow to red-colored patches of pines you saw a few weeks ago are now dead but the insect that killed them is still living. According to Assistant County Agent L. V. McMahan they have taken up residence in fresh live trees.

Farmers and other land owners who have patches of dead pines should examine live trees beside the dead ones to see if these are also infested by the Southern Pine Beetle.

The only external evidences of attack on green trees are brownish pitch tubes on the outer surface of bark scales and brown boring dust in bark crevices and around the base of the tree.

If these symptoms are present, peel off some of the bark to examine the inside. If beetles are present, there will be winding S-shaped galleries in the inner bark. The infested trees should be cut and removed promptly.

Trees of sawlog size should have the slabs burned immediately. If the trees are sold for pulpwood, the pulp mill should be notified that the load is infested so the wood will be processed immediately.

Tops and slash should be carefully examined for presence of beetles and if they are present they should be piled and burned, if feasible, or sprayed with the insecticide. Where it is not practical to salvage the infested trees they should be cut and sprayed with B. H. C. in No. 2 fuel oil or kerosene.

Farmers are cautioned to beware of "authorities" who tell them that they ought to sell their timber before the bugs get it. This has already happened in several cases.

The insects can be controlled if proper action is taken after an infestation is discovered. If you think you have insects in your woodlands but are not sure, call or write the county agent.

Keep heifers separated in individual pens for two weeks after milk feeding is stopped, N. C. State College advises.

THE LIFE OF JESUS

- Where do we find the Life of Christ recorded? In the Four Gospels, the first Books of the New Testament, written by Saints Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.
- Where and how did Christ die? He was betrayed by Judas, one of His Apostles, delivered up by the leaders of the Jews to Pontius Pilate the Governor, and condemned to death. He was crucified on Mount Calvary, outside Jerusalem.
- What happened on Easter Sunday? Christ rose again from the dead. "Jesus said to them: "The Son of Man shall be betrayed into the hands of men, and they shall kill him, and the third day He rise again." (St. Matt. xvii 21, 22)
- How long did Christ stay on earth after His Resurrection? Christ stayed on earth forty days after His Resurrection. He showed Himself many times to His Apostles and others, and proved that He was truly risen from the dead.
- After forty days where did Christ Go? After forty days Christ ascended into heaven. We commemorate this event on Ascension Day, forty days after Easter Sunday.

God love you now
