REFRIGERATION DOES THE TRICK

COBLE DAIRY HAS YET TO GET its first complaint from a Cherokee County Merchant about the quality of our product.

AND REFRIGERATION is the answer! Our products are kept in a refrigerated storage room, shipped out daily in refrigerated trucks and placed in merchants' refrigerated show cases. That's why you pick up the best when you reach for COBLE'S.

Our friends, The Cherokee County merchants, handle all our products, but if you can't always find what you want, mention it to your grocer. He'll mention it to our driver and we'll have it there for you next time you shop.

And thanks for thinking of Coble.

When you buy insurance...

... buy from an agent ...
... who operates a local business, who supports local enterprise, and who pays local taxes—just as you do.

The money this agency makes stays in our town, and because it stays here and circulates, some of it eventually winds up in your pocket again. As you know, the more money circulating in a town, the healthier will be the financial status of every person in that town.

Apple Crop Near Failure

RALEIGH—The first forecast of the season for commercial apple production in North Carolina is for a crop of only 40,000 bushels — approximately two percent as large as the 1,900,000 bushels harvested in 1954.

For all practical purposes this year's crop was completely destroyed by the severe freeze of late March, according to the North Carolina Crop Reporting Service.

Reports from commercial producing areas indicate that later blooming varieties set a very light crop in some of the better protected orchards.

In most of the orchards, however, trees were in full bloom, or buds were swollen at the time of the freeze. Losses in such cases were complete.

For the United States as a whole, production of commercial apples is forecast at 105,560,000 bushels — only four percent below production of 109,512,000 produced in 1954.
