Editor's Note—This is the seventh in a series of articles by Heinz Rollman—industrialist, Waynesville, N. C.

In last week's column, I tried to describe what went on to enable Hitler to start World War II, thanks to the cunning communists.

We all remember the day when Hitler's armies turned to the East and invaded Russia, and Churchill's proclamation to the whole free world that we have to come to the rescue of the communists. I mentioned that I felt that after the Allies helped Russia, Russia would become the greatest enemy the world had ever seen.

Before 1940, Russia was not nearly the menace that they have been ever since. Already, during the war, Russia lied to us; Russia kept secrets from us; Russia tried to fool us every day of the war that we were helping them; and we, with our decent standards and decent feelings, never could imagine for a moment that a country to whom we gave so much, and which we saved from complete destruction, could actually stab us in the back. But then, that is what the Russians have always done—they stab other nations in the back and they stab their own people in the back just the same way. That is, the communists do.

Where on earth has it ever happened that 8 million farm families were ordered to be slaughtered on the instructions of one man, and they were ordered to be slaughtered—men, women and children—to keep their own farms and work for just one reason. They wanted to keep their own farms, but Stalin wanted the State to own the farms and wanted the farm families to now work for the government, and not for themselves anymore. So between 1923 and 1926, 8 million farm families were systematically and methodically slaughtered. But that alone was not nearly enough—

This article is confined to that Hygiene that applies to the body only.

To discuss this subject in a way that it will be of any benefit requires statements that get on the toes of most of us. One company calls it's deodorant, Hush.

The skin is in addition to being a covering for the body is a very complex organ, which secretes about a gallon of water and solids per day and regulates body temperature, etc. In addition to the water the skin excretes carbon dioxide organic acids, cast off skin cells sodium chloride, etc.

If this skin is not bathed daily these substances dry and ferment on the skin giving us what we call B. O. All of us has some odor, either pleasant or unpleasant. If you don't bathe daily in warm weather, this odor is unpleasant and may run all the way from just unpleasantness to a stench like a pole cat.

I have seen good honest citizens going around stinking to high heaven and you do too every day, just from lack of the use of soap and water. This throws extra work on the kidneys and shortens life and the thing I want you to know and remember—if you don't bathe daily in summer weather you have B. O., more or less, and you are neglecting the only body you will ever have and causing it to wear out prematurely in addition to being offensive to those with whom you come in contact.

No one is so poor that they can't get soap and water, so there's no excuse for any one going to bed dirty, and remember if you don't smell yourself, others do.

It is better to be in rags cleaner than in silks with B. O.

also 12 million Russians were put into concentration camps, or had to work as slaves in order to provide cheap labor for the State—for a state that had the nerve to proclaim that it is the only true democracy in the world—for a state that had the nerve to say to the rest of the world, and to their own people, that they have found the formula of how to make life much, much better for all human beings. Today Russia is no different at all from what it has been for 40 years. Nothing ever has changed. In Russia only the life of the people is getting more miserable by the day. Naturally, one might ask the justified question, "Why, if things are so miserable, do the people in Russia not start a revolution and throw out communism, pull up the iron curtain, and let the free world help them get back on the right path?"

"THEY HAD A DREAM"
"And Moses went up from the plains of Moab, to Mount Nebo; so Moses the servant of the Lord died there in the land of Moab. And there has not risen a prophet in Israel like Moses, who knew the Lord face to face."
Deuteronomy 34

Much attention has been drawn to the life of Moses lately because of the movie, "The Ten Commandments." Moses was a great man "there has not risen a prophet since in Israel like Moses, whom the Lord knew face to face." His life is the common knowledge of most of us. The favored Israelites of Joseph's time had become the bondsmen under a later rule. Then Moses was born, his life strangely preserved, his rearing carefully patterned in every respect. And why was this? Because his parents had a dream for his life.

Israel was in crisis The nation was desperate. The yoke of slavery was heavy. God's first move to meet that crisis was to have a baby born. Have you ever stopped to think that just that is so frequently God's first step in meeting some dire need of His people — the sending of a baby into the world? The crisis of famine was going to confront the family of Jacob in years to come. That family had to be preserved for the fulfillment of God's purpose for humanity. And Joseph was born. The time came when their deliverance had to be made possible and, looking down through the years — Moses was born! There came a time for another deliverance — and Christ was born. And again looking down the years, knowing that there would come a time when the message of Christ had to be freed from its geographical and racial barriers — God caused a baby to be born in Tarsus who was named Saul — later called Paul. And one illustration from more recent times. There came a time in the life of man when God saw that man would need to know the secret of the lowly peanut and sweet potato — and, that the need of man might be met at that time — He caused a Negro baby to be born. to parents who were Slaves as Moses' parents, who was named George Washington Carver.

There are new crises every day, and a baby is born, who is named he might well be yours. Each time you see a child think of these words: "I am a child. All the world waits for my coming. Civilization hangs in the balance,

For what I am, the world will be to morrow." The tragedy of life and nations is that so many parents never seem to grasp this profound truth, unable to realize the possible worth to the world of their child. And failing to realize this worth, they fail to realize the importance of giving them Sunday School instruction, and of setting the example of attending Sunday School with them. They fail to dedicate their child completely to God. Their vision is weak. And faith in God is feeble. and they do not bring up their child in the "nature and admonition of the Lord."

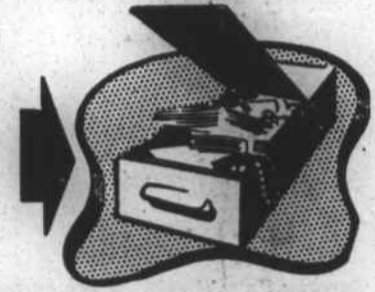

Moses' parents had a dream for their son, a dream that even the threat of the Pharaoh could not wipe out. Have you such a dream for your child?

Our sad-faced friend is Bill McGoo,
Who thought he'd bought a car brand-new;
And while he got a "special deal"
His disappointment he can't conceal!
While others drive in Swept-Wing style
Poor Bill just mutters curses vile:
"They got new styling, features, too—
"I bought a 'deal'—boo-hoo, boo-hoo!"

Moral: Yesterday's looks and features are no bargain at any price!

No car is a bargain if it's obsolete in styling and engineering features. And the Swept-Wing Dodge actually obsoletes other cars in its field with its low, low look of tomorrow and revolutionary advances like Torsion-Aire Ride, Push-Button TorqueFlite and Total-Contact Brakes. So don't get "bargain-talked" into yesterday's styling and features. The same money buys the car that's years ahead. See your Dodge dealer. Join the swing to the Swept-Wing Dodge.
