MISS THELMA WHEELER
Home Agent

Home Demonstration Club Organized at Wolf Creek

It is with much interest that the County Home Demonstration Council representing all the Home Demonstration Clubs in Cherokee County welcomes the Wolf Creek Home Demonstration Club members into the Extension family.

We are indebted to Miss Maud Collins, a long-time ardent and devoted 4-H club leader, for getting the women of this community interested in organizing a home demonstration club.

Miss Thelma Wheeler, home agent and Miss Mary Hensley, assistant home agent, met with the group on October 29 at 1:30 p. m. at the school lunch room. After an explanation of the program and a brief presentation of the program planned for the coming year the ladies expressed their desire to participate.

The following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Troy Simmonds; vice-president, Mrs. Winston Hawkins; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Roy Hawkins.

Fourteen women attended the meeting. The next meeting is scheduled for November 12 at the same place but detailed plans will be worked out effective with the January meeting.

CIVIL DEFENSE

Miss Thelma Wheeler, home

agent and Miss Mary Hensley, assistant home agent, were in Asheville, October 31 to attend the meeting on Civil Defense at the Battery Park Hotel.

Mrs. Jean Wood Fuller, director of women's activities for the Federal Civil Defense Administration, Battle Creek, Michigan, spoke to a large group representing the various women's organizations in Western North Carolina.

"Ours is an age of no warning," she said. She told us in plain, blunt words what we could expect in the event of another war and added that each day's news brought us closer to the realization that "it could happen to us."

Her appeal for every citizen to become concerned and accept the responsibility of being prepared in the event of an attack was most ardent and urgent and to "go back home and get to work."

Studies are now underway relative to "women power" as it is known that in the event of an attack upon this country every physically able-bodied woman will be needed. Studies point up that after available man-power is distributed that the job on the home-front will of necessity be left to women, the ratio being about six women to each man.

We should like to share this information with any group interested

Take good care of your electric blanket—it will give long and satisfactory service if it is properly handled. Read carefully the label that comes with the blanket. It should never be folded over; it may be lightly tucked in at the foot, but care should be taken to avoid jamming the wired area between footboard and mattress. It should not be crushed in any way. No heavy objects should be rested on it.

An electric blanket is not an ordinary blanket. It must be treated with respect. By all means, follow instructions when laundering.

Never dry clean an electric blanket. Dry cleaning solutions harm the insulation on the wiring. Note: The new blends now being used in electric blankets require no precautions against damage from moths and other insects. They are also non-allergic. Nylon bindings insure long-wearing.

Electric blankets are worth what they cost. Older people like the lightness of an electric blanket as well as the even temperature.

DEATHS

Mrs. Minnie Tatham OMITTED LAST WEEK

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. in Andrews First Baptist Church for Mrs. Minnie Tatham who died unexpectedly Monday at 4 p. m. in an Andrews hospital.

The Rev. T. F. Baker and the Rev. J. E. Carter officiated and burial was in Valleytown Cemetery.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Norvel Howell of Robbinsville; Mrs. Alice Hogsd of Andrews; two sons, Lt. Com. Roy Tatham in the Navy stationed at San Diego, Calif., and Lyle Tatham of Oraville, Calif., two brothers Wilburn Rogers of Brasstown, and Elmer Rogers of Robbinsville; two sisters, Mrs. Nina Huffman of Robbinsville, Mrs. Lola Burris of Vonore, Tenn. and six grandchildren.

Mrs. Tatham had been employed as a school teacher for many years, and at the time of her death was teaching at Marble.

Townson Funeral Home was in charge.

QUESTION: What is the best type of hay to feed dairy calves?

ANSWER: Fine-stemmed, leafy legume hay is about the best. It is palatable and has a high content of protein, calcium and vitamins. Also, excellent quality mixed legume grass hay ranks high as a feed for calves.
