

Teen Scene

By Betty Weaver

Mayor L. L. Hason visited Mrs. Wells' third period civics class last Friday. He explained various functions of the local government. Among these were the budget, the town council, the various committees, the police department and the volunteer fire department. The class asked Mr. Mason questions and discussed various issues confronting the town at present. Public spirited citizens and officials like Mr. Mason stimulate classroom sessions and make our subject matter more real and practical to us by discussing current issues with us. All the students appreciate such visits.

KANUKSHETA

A representative from the Hunter Publishing Company was at Murphy High School Thursday. Members of the Journalism Club chose a black cover with gold letters for this year's annual.

This past week annual deposits of one dollar were collected during homeroom period. Deposits are also being taken this week.

Pictures of the superlatives, class, clubs, sports, class officers, administration, custodians and miscellaneous shots have been on display on Miss Travis' bulletin board. Anyone who desires to buy one of these prints can do so.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS

It's a sleepless and fun-filled night. Indeed, when a group of Murphy girls get together for a pajama party. Nancy Lee Mills was hostess for such a party Friday, November 19. The girls stayed up all night dancing, snacking, listening to records, and just talking. The next morning everyone stayed for breakfast.

The guests were: Linda English, Carolyn Bates, Carol Ann Hemp-

ASSEMBLY

During assembly last Thursday several of the girls from Mrs. Gault's home room starred in a "television program" over Station WESX.

The ski was a take-off on a panel discussion about the questionnaires sent home for our parents to fill out recently. Eight of the questions were discussed. Particularly interesting were the ideas on the most needed improvements. Some were a band, a cafeteria, bleachers for the football field, and a dancing class and teacher.

Jane Cook was the narrator. Panelists were Jane Van Horn, Bennie Jo Palmer, Edith Faye Wilcox, and Mary Kephart, who comically had "no opinions". Patsy Kaylor did the commercials for the sponsors. "Doubleless Bubbless Chewing Gum", and "Spring Back Shampoo". Wanda West and Margaret Ritch say "In the Little Red School House".

In a more serious view, the actual tabulation of the answers on the questionnaires was told to the student body.

During the period, Mrs. Case told the student body some of Dr. G. Ray Jordan's remarks about it. He said that the Murphy High School students were the most reverent, most courteous, most well-behaved high schools student he had ever addressed. This is a compliment we are all very proud of.

Tree Planting Plan For North Carolina

Under the 1958 Soil Bank Conservation Reserve tree planting contract program, North Carolina farmers who place eligible land in tree cover can earn one of two establishment payments, according to Dan Hatch of A.S.C.

Hatch says that if active gully, wind or streambank erosion requires special efforts to stabilize land and insure planting success, the establishment cost-sharing rate may be $20 per acre. Special efforts may consist of planting trees to closer than average spacing, planting windbreaks, mulching the area with litter, land grading, etc.

In addition to the above establishment cost, you may sign either a five-year or ten-year contract on erosion control-type planting. The full rental rate in either case is $10 per acre.

Hatch says that where special erosion control efforts are not needed, the establishment cost-sharing rate will be $12 per acre. The rental period will be 10 years, and the full rental rate is $10 per acre per year.

He adds that spacing recommended for timber production plantings at the regular establishment cost-sharing rate of $12 per acre will give you an average of 500 or more live trees per acre at the end of the first growing season. This is the minimum needed to qualify your planting as successful under North Carolina Soil Bank requirements for timber production planting.

If erosion control planting is needed, spacings are designed to give a minimum of 600 living trees required at the end of the first growing season during an average year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Warner Sr., returned last Friday from a seven weeks visit with their son and daughter-in-law. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Warner and two grandsons, Al and Jimmy of Sapelo Island, Ga.

Reuben Battle Winner In Essay Contest

ANDREWS — Reuben Battle seventh-grade pupil at Andrews Elementary School, copped first prize in the essay contest sponsored by the Valley River Garden Club.

His topic was "Why I Don't Want To Be A Litterbug". Reuben is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Battle of Andrews.

The award was based on neatness, content and ability of pupil to express him or herself. Thirty-five pupils entered.

Young Battle's essay follows: "Why I Don't Want To Be A Litterbug"

"I don't want to be a litterbug because I want the community in which I live to be beautiful, something of which I can be proud."

"I would not want someone from another community to litter my community so therefore, I try not to scatter litter in other communities."

"Litter in our forests and along our streams mar their beauty. So we should always burn or carry our litter to a litter deposit, in order that we may be proud for tor others to see the beauty of our country."

"I would think I was a poor citizen if I did not love my country, my community, and my home enough to want it to look its very best so that I myself, and others may enjoy it to its fullest."

"Litter is not only unsightly but can cause very unpleasant odors and make a breeding place for flies and therefore helps to spread diseases."

"Also litter can be a fire hazard especially where it is strewn around buildings."

"Of course, I do not want to be a litterbug inside buildings such as my home and school. Not only is it unsightly, but it can be dangerous. A person could trip over litter in the home or school and sustain an injury."

"And last, the community and country in which I live is a free country, one to keep clean, and it is God's country. He gave it to us to work in, to live in, and to be happy in. If God thinks enough of us to do this, then I think I could do as much for Him by at least keeping the country He gave me clean of litter.

"So we should strive at all times not to be a litterbug".
