GARDEN TIME

By M. E. GARDNER N. C. State College

"One of the best ways for North Carolina farm families to make up for income lost through acreage cuts and other causes, is to grow most of the food they eat," so say Governor Hodges and his Advisory Committee.

"North Carolina farmers spend approximately $275 million a year for food and could save an estimated $83 million by producing two-thirds of their food on the farms. Figures for 1954 indicate that 14 per cent of North Carolina farms

Rollman's Views

Editor's Note: This is the forty-seventh in a series of articles by Heinz Rollman, industrialist, Waynesville, N. C.

We are making a miserable mistake, having so much to give to the rest of the world of our knowledge, by not telling the world our aims, our goals — the things we stand for.

A presidential press conference once a week, as good and as informative as it may be, doesn't replace the World Bill of Rights. We just don't tell people what we can do, and it appears that the people who should tell the world don't know.

That, naturally, is an intolerable situation. Rarely, if ever, has a Congress—a two-party Congress—been more willing to listen to an Administration than our present Congress. This Congress, as far as foreign affairs go, has almost delivered itself completely into the hands of the Administration on account of the scare that has come grew no vegetables, 24 per cent had no chickens, 31 per cent had no swine, 50 per cent had no milk cows and 42 per cent had no cattle for beef."

"To buy all of the food necessary to eat well for one year would cost about $366 per person. This amounts to $1,831.25 per year for a family of five, which is equivalent to the gross income from about two acres of tobacco, 12 acres of cotton, 12 acres of peanuts or six milk cows. Statistics through the Sputniks. This Congress and this Administration, therefore, should be in a position now to go ahead and work out a World Bill of Rights, and inform the rest of humanity what we stand for and also what we won't stand for.

Russia is spending this year over $2 million just simply for propagan da — just simply to tell the rest of the world what it will do — what communism will do — for the rest of the world. We have a budget to do the same job amounting to a grand total of $100-million — utterly inadequate — and administered by people who do not have either the emotional or practical background to do the best possible job.

Only dedicated people who love this country beyond anything else, can really spread the gospel. If we would put half as much effort into selling America to the rest of the world as our advertising industry puts into selling soap, humanity would be ready to swim the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans to come here and listen to our gospel.

We sit by quietly; watching sadly as we lose friend after friend — as we lose more and more the respect of the world; as we see the leadership of the world being grad-show that at least one person out of every five in North Carolina does not eat daily the food needed for best health. Foods most lacking are milk, fruits and vegetables."

In connection with foods that can be produced on the farm, our Extension Specialists have records to show that, for a family of five, the net income from a one-acre vegetable garden is $406.40. If you grow tree fruits, pecans, small fruits, grapes and figs, the figure would be considerably larger. Is this a challenge?

MUSTARD SEEDS

BY REV. JAMES J. WILKES
"The smallest of all the seeds, but when it grows up, it is larger than any herb." — Mt. 13: 31

ALL I WANT IS . . .

"When the fullness of time was come, God sent His Son, made of a woman, made under the law, that He might redeem them who were under the Law, that we might receive the adoption of Sons. And because you are sons, God hath sent the Spirit of His Son into your hearts crying, Abba, Father." (Gal 4, 4-6; Rom. 8, 11-15)

At Easter time, especially, therefore, as Paul reminds us, we should call upon God as our Father. Perhaps the best way to do so is to pray reverently the "Our Father" taught us by our Brother Christ when the Apostles asked how to pray. When we say the "Our Father", do we use the age-old words to mean what they really say, or do we say them as if they were something like this:

"Our Father, who art in heaven, ready to lend us a hand whenever I call for it, listen! This is what I want. I want my own little kingdom here, I want my name to be honored by everyone. I want my will to be done by Thee and everyone else."

Give me not only bread but pie and ice cream and a fat checking account so that I won't have to ask you for what I need each day. Oh, yes, and forgive all my sins. There are some people I can't forgive, because they are just too hateful to be let off easily.

"But forgive me, anyway, because I don't want to go to hell or have anything bad happen to me. Lead me not into temptation, but don't be angry if I get there on my own. And deliver me from bad luck. Amen."

Jesus called such souls, "Hypocrites!" and quoted Isaiah. "This people honors me with their lips, but their heart is far from me." (Mt. 15, 8)

RESOLUTION: Prove we sincerely mean "Thy will be done" and "Give US this day our daily bread" (spiritual) by repeating often the Lord's Prayer for Jesus' Easter intention: "I have come that they may have life and have it more abundantly. Pray the Lord of the harvest that he send forth laborers into His harvest. See multitudes, distress and like sheep that have no shepherd." (Jo. 10, 10; Mt. 9, 36-38)

PRAYER: Say the "Our Father" reverently for holy, zealous apostles.

Less than 100 acres of onions were produced in North Carolina in 1956, compared with around 180 in 1957.

Warm weather means lots of lush clover. Keep salt boxes full and have a rack of hay or shucks in the pasture for cattle to help prevent bloating.
