Lions Members List Club Activities

By W. F. ELLIOTT

The Lions' Club, like other civic clubs, is a charitable organization. Lions have several projects but give their major effort to the work of helping the blind and visually handicapped.

It is the purpose of this article to give the general public some thing of the work of the Lions' Club on behalf of our more unfortunate citizens of the state and adding to this a resume of the services rendered by the Murphy Lions' during the past fiscal year.

Twenty five years ago a very little was done for the benefit of the blind of North Carolina. Of course there was much sympathy for them but the general attitude was, "there is nothing we do about it." In March 1935 an agency was created by legislative enactment of the General Assembly of our state which brought into being North Carolina State Commission for the Blind. This commission began its operation in July, 1935. Since that date so much work has been done by the Lions for unfortunate folk that the totals seem exaggerated. Many thousands of dollars have been raised and expended for the citizens of the state and adding relief to our more unfortunate to the hearts of these who once were left forlorn.

During the year April 1, 1958, March 31, 1959, the State Commission assisted 56,351 persons and the money expended for the benefit of these folk amounted to $227,772.33. The joy, comfort and happiness provided by these services is inestimable.

Prohibition Does Not Work!

If that sounds like a strong statement, we invite your attention to our 10 year old slogan. "There is no such thing as a dry county," which has never been challenged.

The only thing which prohibition "drys up" is the legitimate tax revenue derived from the "legal control" system of the sale of beer and ale by private business.

Many people today who favor the "legal control" system would subscribe to prohibition if they thought it could be made to work... but these same people have learned that prohibition actually breeds the evils of crime and graft because the bootlegger immediately takes over whenever and wherever prohibition is tried.

Some will say prohibition could be made to work. All we can say is that never in all history has it ever worked in this country or anywhere else. How can any city, county or state even expect to enforce such a law with a large part of the population favoring "legal control" and when surrounded by "legal control" areas.

North Carolina has no adequate law enforcement agency for enforcing prohibition... but they do have an efficient agency for policing "legal control" — the ABC Board. Local cities and counties have officers to enforce their local laws, but they are not staffed to police the bootlegger who always moves in with prohibition.

But the main reason prohibition does not work is because it does not have the support of all the people; in most cases not even a majority of the people. When an organized minority wins a prohibition election, it is a hollow victory in every instance because no prohibition law ever stopped the sale of alcoholic beverages, much less changed the personal habits of a single individual.
