Missing Heiress, Lover Turn Up In S. C.

Runaway Girl, Former Chauffeur Apply In Dillon For Marriage License

DILLON, S.C. (AP) — Heiress Gamble Benedict and her Roman-born lover, Andre Porumbeau, applied for a marriage license here Tuesday.

Under South Carolina's 24-hour waiting period, they may pick up the license any time after 3 p.m. Wednesday.

Probate Judge Walter E. Allen, who took the application, said the handsome Porumbeau told him he has been divorced.

The couple swore to this statement in taking out the application: "I swear that I am legally capacitated to marriage and that this is my correct name."

Judge Allen said, "I read that to them. I told them, now you young people have had a lot of publicity and I want you to realize what you're swearing to."

It took the couple only three minutes to make the application. After that they vanished.

Earlier, Porumbeau's lawyer had said in New York when asked if his client was married, "I don't know, maybe he got a Mexican divorce."

Allen said Porumbeau showed him divorce papers that had been translated into English.

"I only read far enough to see that it was a divorce. I think it might have been a Mexican one," Allen said.

Miss Benedict, 19, and Porumbeau, 35, vanished Monday night from New York and a Brooklyn magistrate issued a warrant for her arrest.

The warrant charges Miss Benedict with being a wayward minor. She already was a ward of the court, outgrowth of her sudden trip to Paris with Porumbeau last December.

A police source in South Carolina who would not be named said officers here would not attempt an arrest unless the State of New York asks South Carolina authorities to take Miss Benedict into custody. He added that police could take the word of New York officials a warrant exists, but usually officers prefer to have the warrant in hand.

Search Pressed For Fugitive

RALEIGH (AP) — More and more officers were moved in Tuesday to press a systematic search for a desperate fugitive convict—wanted for murder and rape.

State officials also seriously considered the possibility of calling in National Guardsmen to help apprehend Robert Tyson, 40-year-old Negro who has eluded officers in the tangled woodlands of northern Wake County for nearly two weeks.

But at the end of the day, Tyson declared an outlaw Monday and with a reward of $500 on his head—still evaded the dragnet thrown out by a force of prison officers, Highway Patrolmen, SBI agents and Wake County deputies.

Prisons Director George Randall said representatives of all law enforcement agencies had met with him Monday and again Tuesday to study the advisability of calling in National Guardsmen.

He said the decision both times was to make an all-out effort with the reinforced posse of officers before asking Gov. Luther Hodges to call in the Guard troops.

Randall said he had checked with the FBI—which is now assisting in the Tyson search, "and they agree that the plan being followed is by far the best to capture the prisoner and to protect the people up there."

"We feel the man is in there," he added, "and that we have him pretty well surrounded. We think this methodical search will produce results."

"They seemed to have the thing pretty well planned," said Allen. "One fellow came in first and got the information as to the requirements. He went out, and then came back with the couple and another man."

Search Pressed For Fugitive

State Adj. Gen. Capus Waynick said the Guard is prepared to send in men quickly if the governor gives the order. He said units called likely would be from Butner, where the Guard has a number of men who are full-time employees, or else one or two companies from Durham.

Waynick said he had conferred with the governor about the possible use of guardsmen and they agreed "we can wait a few more hours" to see if the systematic search being staged by the reinforced posse of officers is successful.

Earlier in the day, gubernatorial candidate Terry Sanford had urged that Guardsmen be called out immediately. Sanford also asserted that the Camp Polk prison, from which Tyson escaped, should be moved immediately because it is located in a fast-growing residential section. The state already is studying moving the prison at the urging of residents of the area.

Joseph L. Saleeby of the Copper Basin School of Music announced that there will be an Annual Arts Festival which began April 24th and continues through May 8th.

The Arts Festival is the first of its kind in the Basin and will bring to our communities some of the top talent in music, and in art. The artists will include those living and teaching in Tennessee and our own communities.

The artists will be: George Luctenburg, harpsichordist. Mr. Luctenburg will give a lecture-recital on the harpsichord. He is now teaching on the music staff of the University of Chattanooga and the Cadec Conservatory of Music.

John Alda will be presented in a voice recital. Mr. Alda, who has dedicated his life to the teaching of voice, is considered one of the most skilled singers and teachers of this day and time. At present, Mr. Alda is in Chattanooga, Tenn.

The final program in the Festival series will be an art show by Miss Sue Mitchell of Copperhill, Tenn. Miss Mitchell's paintings have become nationally famous and have been on exhibition. The dates and places of these programs will be announced later. Adult season tickets will be on sale for $3.00. Students season tickets are $2.00. Individual performances are $2.50.

The Iris Garden Club of Copperhill has volunteered their services in promoting the Arts Festival and ticket sales. Several local civic clubs have promised their support.

Galveston, Tex. (AP)—Managers of most of Galveston's downtown stores announced Tuesday they are integrating their lunch counters. THE PEOPLE HAVE A RIGHT TO KNOW

Dear Fellow Candidates:
About
OUR HEALTH: Congressional candidates should now publish in the papers a report from a health clinic as to their physical fitness. (I have this report and I am happy to say that my health is good for at least another 10 Congressional campaigns under normal conditions.)
OUR KNOWLEDGE: We should all voluntarily submit to questioning by the deans of three colleges. We should be asked, if need be, hundreds of questions, and should permit the answers and findings to be published so that the people will see how much or how little we know about the things affecting our district, our nation and our world. (naturally, the professors decide on the questions they would ask us).
OUR TRUTHFULNESS: We should be willing to take, all together, in front of live TV cameras, a "truth detector" test so that all the people can see our true emotions. Do we want to be elected to serve our district and nation, or would some of us have maybe ulterior motives and want to be elected for other reasons? Or, are all of us willing to really fight for any promises that might be made during the campaign? The "truth detector" machine and method which has been approved by our government cannot be fooled.
If you are willing to go along with these proposals, please let me know.

Professor Enters Innocent Plea In Morals Case

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Dr. John P. Spiegel, 49, clinical professor of psychiatry at Harvard College, pleaded innocent in Superior Court Tuesday to charges of possessing indecent photographs.

Judge Edward A. Pece released Dr. Spiegel in his own recognizance and continued the case for trial.

Dr. Spiegel, a chief Air Force psychiatrist in World War II and noted lecturer on child care and social relations, told the court the pictures were part of a research program on which he was working.

He was taken into custody last month in a police raid on his office in the Harvard Research Building.

Misuse Of Drugs Aiding Disease, Doctor Claims

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Does illness, perhaps even death, await some unsuspecting Americans because they depend too heavily on some modern drugs?

There is growing circumstantial evidence that drug misuse—and even close contact with crop sprays and radiation—may be leading to an upturn in some blood disorders, says Dr. M. M. Wintrobe of the University of Utah, who is chairman of the American Medical Assn. Subcommittee on blood abnormalities.

Dr. Wintrobe has set up a clearing house for blood disease reports, located at the AMA Chicago headquarters.

One of the blood disorders is aplastic anemia—an upset in the bone marrow where red blood cells are made, resulting in a red cell shortage. Other disorders strike the white cells and the clotting factor in blood.

Any of these disorders can be fatal. Early diagnosis is important, but they are not easily recognizable. They begin slowly and the cause is not always apparent. Victims become weak and anemic. Breathing is difficult and heart flutter is noted.

Dr. Wintrobe says there is no census at present of the number of aplastic anemia cases in the United States.

"Of course the increase, as far as incidence is concerned, is hard to be sure about," he says.

"The Food and Drug Administration has suggested in studies that there is an increase, and we have known for a long time that certain chemical agents can produce aplastic anemia and aplasia in bone marrow."

Truman Happy With Big Lineup Of Demo Hopefuls

CHICAGO (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman said Tuesday it was wonderful the Democrats could come up with so many capable candidates for the presidential nomination when the Republicans can come up with only one.

"And," Truman added, "I don't think he's competent." Truman did not mention Vice President Richard M. Nixon by name.

Truman's remarks were at a news conference. He is in Chicago to address the annual dinner of the Broadcast Pioneers and to receive that organization's distinguished service award. The Broadcast Pioneers are meeting in conjunction with the annual convention of the National Assn. of Broadcasters.

Rebel Nabbed
