Bill DAVE. If the reaction we get from an event item in this issue is any indication of what's going on in the gubernatorial governor race, then Columbus Vance would be away out front.

We stated that it looked like a close race between Hinkle and David Phillip. Our main as a result of that statement indicates that Hinkle is far in the lead but the big Dave McConnell would be the number two candidate if the election were held today.

THE GLASS HOUSE. The not saying to the effect that if you live in a glass house you should not throw stones certainly applies to Addison Hewlett and his attack on Everett Jordan raising the question of whether Jordan supported FDR in an election field a generation ago.

The most have to be announced that Seawell is being sponsored by the administration and with the Governor's blessing.

There is something going on about that with enough money it is possible to put on what is referred to as Madison Avenue as the big set. That is to say, to put on a public through constant plug and via radio, television and the press, as well as with outdoor billboards, and so on, to conduct a certain product in a short time.

SEAWELL'S RECORD. Seawell's record of political, public and military service—or lack of it—makes it difficult to remember a candidate for Governor who has had so little to offer in exchange for so much.

Our memory is still clear about the meeting we arranged between the late William B. Umstead and Simmons behind the Governor's box at Kenan Stadium in Chapel Hill. It was half time at a football game. Umstead had recently been nominated for Governor.

Now Simmons probably thought the meeting between himself and Governor Umstead was merely by chance—but such was not the case. His friends, including this writer, had prevailed upon Governor Umstead to help us save our friend Simmons from a fate worse than death.

Words of Life

THE WORDS OF LIFE. BY H. C. LEFFORD, Pastor Church of God, Andrews, N. C.

The intrinsic priorities of light have you given it any thought? When sunlight is allowed to pass through a prism, it is observed that sunlight is composed of many rays.

When the true "Light of the World" is allowed to SHINE upon the unregenerate, it too may reveal a morbid condition that will send him to the Great Physician for moral surgery.
