Some Catch 'Em Big, Some Catch 'Em Small Bring 'Em To Us And We'll Print Them All

Last week's winner in the Phillips 66 Fishing Contest, Max Payne, is shown left above with the beauty that brought him a tank of gas and motor oil from Snyder Jones' Phillips 66 Station on U.S. Highway 64. The large mouth bass weighed in at 7 pounds even and measured 24 inches long. Shown with Max is a fellow who is no stranger in this fishing contest, last week's second placer, Hugh Hackney. Hugh's catch this week weighed 5 lb. 9 oz. and measured 22 inches long. Both fish were caught on lizards down at Lake Chatuge. Williard Allen (middle above) is shown with a nice string caught off point No. 3 at Hiwassee Lake. This string has six bass, five pike, and one crappie. Not a bad afternoon's work and they too were caught on lizards. Guy Eller gave Williard a hand. Charles Hyatt (right above) holds a string of eight with three small mouth, the largest weighing 2½ lbs. and measuring 17", and five pike. Charlie caught them at Persimmon Creek, with the help of Gordon Isley and Howard Moody. Take 'em to Snyder Jones' for the weigh-in and then bring 'em to the Cherokee Scout for the picture. We don't charge much—just half the catch.

NORTH CAROLINA MEANS BETTER LIVING

One of the most progressive southern states in the field of agriculture, North Carolina now ranks fourth in the nation in production of commercial broilers. In the last two years, our farmers received more than 147 million dollars from their broiler operations alone!

In rural as in urban areas, North Carolinians are equally progressive in their attitudes toward the system of "legal control" of the sale of beer and ale, as being in the best interests of temperance and moderation.
