Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I have wanted to write this letter for some time, but have hesitated because I know that it will offend quite a few people (some of them my own people). In November we will elect the President of the United States, a person who will have a direct bearing on all our lives. Let's elect the one best fitted for the job. It is everyone's civic duty to vote. It is one of the reasons this country was founded. It is what has kept this country free from dictators, and this party system has worked for many years. Everyone should take an interest in county, state, and national elections.

Too few people, especially women, exercise their right to vote. We should all be kept well informed on what is going on in the world around us. You could ask some people in Cherokee County who is our Senior Senator, and I'll bet they wouldn't know. Ask who is the Secretary of State and you would get the same answer. We have three great mediums of information: newspapers, radio, and television, but to some there are too many more important things going on around them to just take a few minutes out of every day to find out what is going on in the world.

Some of the most prominent men in both our great parties have put their religion way down at the bottom of the line in what they say they are, and in what they believe. (Some haven't said they believe anything.) I would like to say that I am a Christian first, a free American second, and a Democrat third, but since my party did not put a man that I can in all good faith vote for, the other party will get my vote. Some might say what is one vote? Great issues have been decided on one vote.

There are in the U. S., 37 million more registered Democrats than Republicans so it will take a lot of people who have just one vote to elect the president that I want and I am sure a lot of other people, just like me, want, too.

I have heard some of our Protestant clergymen say they cannot vote this November. Everyone that doesn't vote is, in a very real sense, supporting the other man. Sometimes it is better to forget what your political party is, and vote for the man instead of just voting for your party.

I know I am not so smart in many things, but I believe in doing what my heart tells me is right. I believe in this that I am right - At least I hope - and pray that I am.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

The gong sounded! I dashed from the office into the crowded street, and hurried into the fading sunlight. The bell in the familiar old church tower was striking five. I had made it again! I would reach the commuters' train and be in my suburban home at the usual hour.

As I rushed past the church, chimes sounded melodiously over the busy, struggling mass of humanity. Suddenly, I stopped in the midst of it. Why this mad rush day after day? Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow would be the same. But today the chimes recalled to me a sense of peace and purpose, a satisfaction once experienced in the fellowship of worship and friendship.

The commuters' train was forgotten as I entered the vast, semi-lighted church. From far up at the marble altar came the words of a prayer: "O God, our Heavenly Father . . . the endless tide of business, toil, and care moves on around us. Go with us and bless us who have stopped within this holy place of prayer for one brief moment to be refreshed by thy love, and quieted by thy peace." The organ took up the response and the "Amen's" soared upward as I knelt in grateful prayer. "Never again," I resolved, "shall I deprive myself of the security and satisfaction of regular church attendance and worship. My place in the little suburban church shall be filled on each Lord's Day."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
