Farm Facts

The U. S. farmer is the world's most efficient farmer. Because of this we are the best fed and best clothed people in the world and the most inexpensively in the proportion of our incomes it takes to obtain these items.

Research and its adaptation to farming have brought about a virtual agricultural revolution in this country in recent years.

A U. S. farmer produces enough to feed himself and 23 others. Only a few years ago he produced only enough to feed himself and seven others.

In Russia a farmer produces only enough to feed himself and one other. It was not by accident that Khrushchey visited an Iowa farm when he came to the United States. He knows that farm productivity is one of America's greatest sources of strength. He realizes, too, that as long as it takes one Russian on the farm to feed one worker in industry, Soviet progress is greatly handicapped.

In the past 18 years, U. S. farmers have improved their efficiency more than in the preceding 120 years. They have increased their per-acre yield of 18 leading field crops by 71 per cent in less than 20 years. Production per man-hour has almost tripled since the early 30's.

Agriculture is big business. It is one of the nation's biggest businesses. Farm investment in the U.S. exceeds $200 billion and it has been climbing steadily over the years.

The Agricultural Marketing Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture points out that total assets of agriculture—value of land and buildings, machinery and motor vehicles, crop and livestock inventories, household equipment, and financial assets—increased from $53 billion on January 1, 1940, to more than $208 billion on January 1, 1960. This was almost a fourfold increase.

Approximately 30 per cent of the increase in total farm assets resulted from investment by farmers in the various types of farm capital assets, in excess of depreciation or depletion. The remaining 70 per cent represented capital gains to the owners.

The aggregate increase in value of farm assets from 1940 through 1959, net of farm investment, was $109.6 billion, or an average of $5.5 billion each year. Higher values of farm real estate have been most important, accounting for about 80 per cent of all farm capital gains in the last 20 years. From 1952 to 1959 the value of farm real estate increased from $96 billion to $129.1 billion.

Farm investment in the U.S. exceeds $200 billion.

PLEASE SAY YES TO THE NEW MARCH OF DIMES

This likeness of Linda Breese appears on millions of posters and coin collectors.

Linda Gail Breese, a pictorial and high-spirited young lady of four, who lives in Columbus, Ohio, was named this week as the 1961 New March of Dimes National Poster Child.

Selection of the vivacious child, a victim of the grave birth defects of an open spine and excess fluid on the brain, was announced by Basil O'Connor, president of The National Foundation, parent body of the New March of Dimes. Study and patient aid in birth defects and arthritis, together with continued work in polio, embody the expanded program of the health organization.

In January, during which the New March of Dimes will be held throughout the nation, Linda will probably feel she is facing mirrors everywhere she travels. That's because millions of posters will bear her likeness which, in drawings and photographs, will also be published in thousands of newspapers and magazines. The blonde and blue-eyed child will also appear on network television.

Linda's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dean E. Breese. Her father is an industrial engineer. Her mother, Dorothy Lohr Breese, in addition to Linda has another daughter, Susan, 14, and two sons, Ronnie, 12, and Terry, six. Tragically, since there is handicapped Linda among the Breese children, Ronnie is a victim of cerebral palsy but his general physical condition is described as good.

Mrs. Breese has been a Mothers' Marcher for the annual March of Dimes.

"My husband and I are deeply grateful that at last something constructive is being done about birth defects," she says. "We pray that The National Foundation which, through public contributions to the March of Dimes, financed the development of the Salk polio vaccine, will in time also solve the puzzle of birth defects, which are the largest unmet childhood medical problem in our country today."

Emphasizing the enormity of the problem, Mrs. Breese cited statistics showing that 250,000 infants in the United States are born annually with significant birth defects. Also, because of these congenital malformations, 34,000 babies a year in the nation are stillborn or die in the first four weeks of life.

Linda underwent surgery to close her spine when she was less than a day old. The operation was performed at Children's Hospital, Columbus, where The National Foundation with March of Dimes funds established the nation's first Birth Defects Study Center a few months ago. Nine months later, she again had surgery for excess fluid on the brain and the little girl today wears a "shunt" tube to drain this fluid. Linda also wears crutches but has been able to discard her leg braces.

Recently, while helping her mother wash dishes, she took three steps without her crutches—a memorable and hopeful event.
