Did You Know?

THAT
On the 17th of February, 7:30 p.m., the folks in Clay and Cherokee Counties will gather at the John C. Campbell Folk School to have a good time, and to show appreciation to Phillip Merrill a good friend. For reasons of poor health, Mr. Merrill will be able to work only part time, so those of us who have enjoyed, and benefited from his enthusiastic help with the dancing and singing, and, in fact, all of the activities participated in by old and young, will welcome an opportunity to repay, in small measure, for his sharing of talents!

THAT
Study groups have begun to meet at the Folk School on Tuesdays, and Thursdays from 12:30 to 1:30; Wednesdays from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m., and Mondays, Tuesdays, and Wednesdays from 9:00 to 11 a.m. You may be missing something really worthwhile if you fail to attend the group in which you are interested! The subjects are: Diseases of cattle and poultry; tree farm opportunities; wood working, and wood carving. The consultants in each are specialists in that field.

THAT
Communication is one of the most important things we have to consider in our own lives, as well as in our inter-national relationships. How well do we make even our neighbors across the fence understand us? By the power of words, both spoken and written, lives are knit together, or torn apart; sharing experiences becomes possible, or self-interest is expressed; peace is obtained, or strife is engendered. So it becomes imperative to assure everyone the ability to read as well as to talk - Have you helped that person you know who does not read to enroll in a class now being taught by our volunteer teachers?

THAT
Many dairymen do not recognize mastitis in cattle until the udder hardens, and then it is too late! Dairymen have the opportunity to learn about this, the number one dairy cattle disease, and many other practical things about diseases in cattle, and poultry when the study groups meet at the John C. Campbell Folk School on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.

THAT
Quite a number of women are interested in not only wood carving, but wood working, as evidenced by the six who came in for the study of these subjects at the folk school on Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m., and Mondays, Tuesdays, and Wednesdays from 9:00 to 11:00 a.m. There is room for a few more aspiring whittlers, according to Mrs. Murial Martin - and good-natured Jesse Ledford will take on a few more budding wood workers! It will be your fault if you fail to develop that talent you have for these arts!

THAT
The pulp and paper industry is the South's fifth largest - and that two-thirds of the wood for our nation's paper demands is supplied by the south! How does YOUR farm measure up to its potential as a tree farm?

THAT
50 per cent of the total farm area in North Carolina is in woodlands - yet these woodlands provide less than 6 per cent of the state's total farm income! How well do YOU manage the woodland on YOUR farm?

THAT TREES ARE A RENEWABLE RESOURCE!

Marketing quotas have been in effect for flue-cured tobacco every year since enactment of the Agricultural Act of 1938 - except for 1939, when quotas were disapproved by growers.

For most flue-cured tobacco farms in North Carolina, 1961 allotments will be the same as in 1960.

Soil Conservation News

By John Smith
The time is here for planting forest seedling trees to assure a future supply of Cherokee County's most valuable farm product. Many thousands of seedlings have already been ordered this winter, but there are probably a number of people yet who plan to re-forest some of their idle acres, but still haven't gotten around to placing their orders for seedlings. The supply of seedlings in the state nurseries is still sufficient for most varieties, but orders should be received in the next couple of weeks to assure delivery before warm weather comes. Blanks for ordering seedlings are available at all of the Agricultural offices in the Court House, and any of the Agricultural Workers will be glad to assist any farmer or landowner in properly filling out the application.

Information recently received shows that Cherokee County farmers and land owners have placed orders for more than one hundred seventy one thousand seedlings up until December 31, 1960. A large number of trees have been purchased since that date. The latest information from the State Forestry Division showed that all varieties were available in plentiful supply except Long Leaf Pine. This variety is not adapted to this section of the state so any one desiring trees should have no trouble in getting the kind they want.

I am often reminded of a wet field in the Noah Hembree farm by a picture which was made just about a year ago. This 16" by 20" picture shows a field that is just as wet as it is possible for land to get. Water was standing about eighteen inches deep over nearly an acre of land. Tile drainage was installed in the field last spring, and since then no water has stood in the field. During a heavy rain a couple of weeks ago, I was by the field, and there was no sign of surface water to be seen. Noah has said on several occasions that the money spent for that tile was worth more to him than any similar amount he ever spent on the farm. He says that he couldn't get his corn planted, cultivated, or harvested on time before the tile was put in. Now the wet area is treated just like the rest of the field, and can be worked as if it were a hillside field. He is thoroughly convinced that tile drainage is an absolute necessity for wet land.

Barbara Garland Receives Award At Hiwassee Dam

Barbara Garland has been named the 1961 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow at Hiwassee Dam high school. Having received the highest score in a written examination on homemaking knowledge and attitudes taken by graduating seniors in her school, she becomes a candidate for the state Homemaker of Tomorrow award which will be announced in March.

Each school Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive an award pin, manufactured by Jostens and representing the slogan, "Home is Where the Heart Is." The examination papers of school Homemakers of Tomorrow will be entered in competition to name the state's Homemaker of Tomorrow.

NATIONAL ELECTRICAL WEEK
FEB. 5-11 1961
salutes an important national industry

Members of the electrical industry have made a big contribution to this country's development and progress. These industries produce the equipment and electricity for our humming factories, making this country the most productive in the world... for business and commerce, giving Americans more comfortable working surroundings and better service... for homes and farms, giving all of us a higher standard of living. During National Electrical Week, we salute our allies - and take great pride in being a member of an industry that has helped make this country great.
