Needed - - - 249 Pints of Blood The invensified effort to build up Red Cross blood supplies is secrying of the attention and support of everyone in this comrently.

Figures of the Murphy RadCross Chapter show that current ollections of blood are running some 249 pints behind the must quote of 350 pints. This is a serious deficiency and se which could have tragic implications. Death can result scause a certain type of blood is not available in an emergency.

Unfortunately, too many people, possibly not sware of the protection of self, family, and community, the Blood Program provides, have been indifferent to the constant appeals. Every donation of blood enhances one's chances of safely overcoming an accident or unexpected illness.

In contributing to the RedCrossBloodProgram, we literally store up life-saving account for ourselves, our families, and our neighbors.

The Red Cross has arranged a Bloodmobile visit to Murphy on Tuesday, April II, from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m. Donations will be accepted at scheduled times at the Murphy Power Board Building. Everyone should plan to donate to a cause which is singularly noble while at the same time self-serving.

THIS WEEK IN THE LEGISLATURE

By Representative Herman H. West

ways seems a little hard on the lower income people.

It is your representative's view that more mensy must come from some source to provide for North Carolina an improved school system; therefore, it is my opinion that in the final analysis, and when the chips are really down, that in the final analysis, and when the chips are really down, that the majority of the money will come from the sales tax as proposed by the Governor.

I introduced legislation this week to authorize the shortiff of this county to appoint two salaried deputies at $300.00 per month; and also to direct the county commissioners to provide funds to equip three vehicles for the sheriff's department with two way radios and to establish a base radio transmitting and receiving station. This bill is rather familiar with now, I must bey that your representative was in some measure disappoint-ed that the Governor did not propose more taxes on whis-key, wine, and beer, and did not propose any tax on soft drinks and tobacco products; instead, he proposed to ex-tend the sales tax to include food and drugs, which, in some transmitting and receiving station. This bill is rather station. This bill is rather controversial in the county and appears to have a pretty dimfuture, however, I think it is a good bill and much needed in the county.

Plans are being laid by the legislators of this area for furthering a construction program of roads in the mountains.

Letter To Editor

The Editor:

Spring is just around the corner in both nature and education. With the coming of spring, new life and a rapid period of growth appear. We look forward to this period in nature when we can see in nature when we can see new buds, fresh flowers, and a new surge of life in every plant and animal. In this time, the beginning of the atomic age, the same thing is true in our educational system. We recognize that time is forcing a new life and period of growth in every phase of the curriculum, in recent months, much has been said and written about it on local, state, and national levlook at our schools. We are even taking a new look at educational systems in other countries to see how we are doing in comparison with

This looking, comparisons, and thinking all bring an impetus in education as the pring season brings about new growth in nature.

This growth in nature.

This growth is about to come because we are unhappy with what we have seen as we examine our present facilities. Only last week we read in the paper that Western Carolina College has accepted almost all the students that can be accomposited next. that can be accommodated next fall. With this announcement fall. With this announcement came the boast that only boys and girls from the top fifty percent of senior class-shad been accepted. What is to happen to the next twenty-five percent that make up the rest of the average students? These too would like an equal opportunity to make for themselves a place in life the same as the upper half. The lower the upper half. The lower twenty-five percent also needs our attention; perhaps more so than the upper seventy-five percent. This past week, our local school board announced tentative long-range plans for our schools. We are glad that the best available authorities the best available authorities were called in to help in the planning. The idea is good.

The fact that vocational buildings were in the plan was most gratifying. Our schools need to be planned for one hundred per cent of the students and not fifty percent. This is especially true through high school level. We, as citizens, school level. We, as citizens, parents, and proponents of better schools should be happy with this long-range planning and be interested enough to prod the school board and other officials to bring about the maximum in the new surge of growth.

of growth.

Because everything that can be of benefit to our children can also be of benefit to our people of the county, we should show our willingness to give full support to this program.
