SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON--High School seniors who visit my office at this time of year often ask me this question: "What does a Senator do when the Senate is not in session?" I answer them by giving a brief resume of my daily activities which should be of interest to the readers of this column. Recently a typical day when the Senate was not in session went like this. The Subcommittee on Investigations was investigating the delays in our missiles program. I attended it briefly. Then I went to preside at another committee hearing being conducted by the Constitutional Rights Subcommittee of which I am Chairman. This hearing went on during the morning and afternoon. It provided testimony of able doctors, lawyers, and citizens who were interested in aiding the Congress to enact a law for the District of Columbia which will improve the statutes now in effect regulating the admission to hospitals of persons needing psychiatric assistance and clarifying the provisions of other statutes dealing with the hospitalization of persons acquitted of crimes on the grounds of insanity. At 3:00 p.m. while this testimony continued, it was necessary for me to turn over my duties as Chairman to Senator Keating and go to a third hearing as a Senate conferee on the Federal Judgeships Bill. During that conference it was agreed that the bill would provide for three additional North Carolina federal judgeships. The bill has since been passed by the Congress. A number of times during the day, I was called from the hearings to talk to constituents from North Carolina, to answer long distance telephone calls, and to confer with a member of my staff about some pressing matter. At the end of the day when I returned to my office, there were approximately 250 letters upon my desk requiring my personal attention and answer. There had been no roll call votes, no speeches in the Senate, no legislation enacted, but the Senate had been hard at work carrying on its functions.

Murphy School Library News

The Fourth Grade Reading Club met in the school Library for the regular meeting on Tuesday. The president, Penny Smith called the meeting to order and presided over the business session.

The program was on "Folk Tales Around the World." Members making reports were Mary D. Chaney, Linda Wilcox, Josephine Taylor, Lonnie Farmer, Jerry Hampton, and Sharon Rawlings.

Jerry Hampton's report was voted the best.

Mrs. C.C. Williams' pupils have an exhibit of art in the Library which has been most interesting to all the grades which visit the Library each week.

Mrs. O'Kelly Dies May 2

ANDREWS -- Mrs. Minnie Dale O'Kelly, 77, of Andrews died in a Morganton hospital Tuesday evening, May 2.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Blanche Ledford of Etowah, Tenn.; and three sisters, Mrs. George Barton of Rt. 1, Marble, Mrs. Melvin Thornton of Andrews and Mrs. Evelyn Walters of Miami, Fla. Services were held at 10 a.m. Friday in Ivie Murphy Funeral Home chapel.

The Rev. Algia West officiated, and burial was in Moss Cemetery in Marble.

the result of this delay. First, we are behind the Russians in an area of national security. Second, the stoppages have resulted in the additional expenditure of millions of tax dollars. Third, the disclosures have caused grave questions to be raised about the ability of our nation to defend its freedom.

MAN IN SPACE--Testimony before the McClellan Committee on the missile program indicates that we could have launched the first man into space six months ago if it had not been for inexcusable work stoppages at Cape Canaveral. Three very adverse effects have been
