Your Home Today

Murphy Electric Power Board
by Mrs. Beryl Fulton

Getting all steamed up over summer meals is quite unnecessary when you cook electrically. At the flick of a switch, your electric range gives you exactly the amount of heat you need—fast heat to start foods cooking immediately; controlled, low heat to keep them cooking.

This exact, controlled heat is applied directly to the cooking process. Utensils that fit your surface units keep the heat from escaping into your kitchen. Your oven, heavily insulated, keeps the heat inside where it belongs.

This measured heat cuts down on watching and stirring, too. Once you've worked out timetables for your foods, you can safely turn the cooking of them over to your range.

If your range has automatic controls, you can set them, put your food on and leave the cooking entirely up to your range. Hours later, you come back to a meal cooked exactly as you like it. This feature of your electric range takes you completely out of the kitchen.

If you want to cook a meal in a hurry, your electric range gives you snappy action. You can start cooking immediately—and your range is on only a short time.

When you prepare dishes that must cook a long time, you'll cook them on low heat—barely enough current to keep the food cooking gently. And hovering over the range—watching, and stirring while you cook—is out.

You simply time your cooking—and return to take up foods for serving piping hot.

With the electric range, you can serve hot nourishing meals to your family any time you wish—and still be a cool cook!

Social Security News

For social security purposes, payments Western North Carolina farmers will receive as part of the new Federal feed grain program will be treated the same as soil bank payments, according to Grady Grubbs, field representative of the Social Security Administration.

Grubbs made this statement today in answer to questions being asked by area farmers who want to know whether payments under President Kennedy's 1961 Feed Grain Program count as earnings under the social security law. The grain payments to self-employed farmers, like soil bank payments, will count as earnings from farming. Farm landlords who have all or part of their acreage rented out, but who materially participate in the renter's operation, are also reminded that their shares of feed grain payments, like their shares of soil bank payments, will count as earnings for social security purposes.

Farm operators and materially participating farm landlords should include feed grain payments in the earnings they report on their income tax returns. Through their tax returns, these farmers pay the social security tax and get earnings credited to their individual social security accounts.

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

No other wagon can match Ford's features (or popularity!)

There's a whole wagonload of Ford features that only America's station wagon specialists can bring you.

First, there's more room. Ford's extended load deck is the longest and widest in its field. The tailgate opening is seven inches wider than last year, too.

There's more convenience. You can have an electrically controlled roll-down rear window in any Ford wagon... it's standard in all Country Squires and 9-Passenger Country Sedans. In their field, only Ford wagons have all seats facing forward.

There's more distinction. The Country Squire (shown above) is the one and only wagon in its field with body panels that look like mahogany, wear like steel.

There are more savings, too. Ford's Ranch Wagon is America's lowest-priced,* full-size wagon. And like all Fords, every Ford wagon is built to be more service-free: goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications, 4,000 miles between oil changes, brakes adjust automatically, mufflers are made to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers, and the finish never needs waxing.

STOP putting off that station wagon you've always wanted. SWAP for a '61 Ford wagon now while your Ford Dealer's celebrating record-breaking sales: SAVE with the wagon America loves most... made by FORD... America's station wagon specialists for 32 years!
