EXCELLENT PRESENTATIONS TO BOARD OF TRUSTEES

At its last Board of Trustees meeting last Friday, the PSU Board received three excellent slide presentations as part of its "information meeting." Warren Baber, director of admissions; Dr. Norma Jean Thompson, dean of records and special programs; and Dr. Mary Boyles, director of developmental learning programs, made the presentations. They provided detailed explanations of their areas of responsibility. Dr. Boyles showed an example of how much a student can improve his writing skills in a few weeks' time. It was remarkable. Also making a presentation was Dr. Joe Mandel, associate professor of communicative arts.

TWENTY-THREE FOREIGN STUDENTS ATTEND PSU

It was also noted at the meeting that 23 foreign students have attended PSU this academic year. Twelve of them are from Japan, while five are from Nigeria, two from Finland, two from Iran, and two from Korea.

These are the most foreign students ever on the PSU campus.

He has been a tremendous friend of PSU, using many feature stories in which PSU has been involved. When Chancellor English Jones retired in 1979, Grant devoted his entire column space to a story written by your correspondent about Dr. Jones. How to stop a stuffy nose

A stuffy nose is good for one thing -- to get rid of! But even worse congestion is the rule when nose drops or sprays are used wrongly.

Here's my advice: If you need relief, I usually recommend a spray because it makes better contact with the nasal membranes than a liquid or drop preparation. Spray each nostril once -- then, after a few minutes, spray once more. The first spray shrinks membranes while the second penetrates more deeply, ridding you of stuffiness.

Visit our pharmacy -- where stuffiness was relieved long ago!
