

Sen. Sam Noble Speaks To Fourth Graders

Four Students Selected as Lucy Smith Scholarship Winners

Red Springs—Four high school seniors who are dependents of members of Lumbee River Electric Membership Corporation have been named to receive the Lucy Smith Scholarships for 1982. The awards are to assist these students in their first year of post-secondary education.

The four winners this year are: John Wayne Locklear of Pembroke High School, Mark Allen Peterson of Magnolia High School, Priscilla Johnson and Dale Chavis of Red Springs High School.

John Wayne Locklear is the son of Gussie Mae Locklear. He plans to attend N.C. State University this fall. John was selected as a Smithsonian Scholar and spent a week studying in Washington in 1981. He will receive a $500 grant.

on the A honor roll, president of the JETS club, a member of the Beta Club and the school tennis team.

Mark Allen Peterson will attend Pembroke State this fall with his $500 grant. He is currently ranked number two in his class and is a member of the Beta Club, I.V. Club, Student Council and is in the North Carolina National Guard.

Mark has won awards in Geometry, American Civics, English and Biology.

Two students will receive $150 grants to continue their education at Robeson Technical College this fall.

Priscilla Johnson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Johnson. She is active in the FHA, the FTA, the FBLA, the Beta Club, French Club and Library Club at Red Springs High. Priscilla plans to study nursing at RPC. Dale Chavis is the son of Zack Chavis of Red Springs. He is in the bus drivers club, the FBLA and the Library Club at school.

The Lucy Smith Scholarship is given each year by Lumbee River EMC to honor Mrs. Lucy B. Smith who served as the first female member of the LREMC Board of Directors and its secretary for many years until the 1960's. More recent Boards have voted to honor Mrs. Smith for her dedication to serving the members of LREMC, especially the youth of the cooperative.

"We are extremely proud of our selections this year," said Youth Coordinator Jim Autry. "But it was a hard decision considering the quality of our applicants."

COLLINS AND LOWERY TO WED AT ISLAND GROVE

MISS GENEMMA COLLINS

Mr. and Mrs. James Edward Collins of Rt. 3, Maxton announce the engagement of their daughter, Genemma, to Jerry Lowery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lowery of Pembroke. Miss Collins is a 1976 graduate of Prospect High School and a 1979 graduate of Pembroke State University. She is employed as director of Wakulla Day Care Center. The prospective bridegroom was graduated from Pembroke Senior High School in 1975 and PSU in 1979. He is a home-school coordinator of Lumbee Indian Education Program. The wedding is planned for June 26 at 4 p.m. at Island Grove Baptist Church. Friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Pembroke Man Receives Governor's Award for Excellence

A security officer at Pembroke State University received the Governor's Award for Excellence during ceremonies May 18 in Raleigh.

Gov. Jim Hunt presented the award to Ed "Boots" Jacobs of Pembroke during a reception at the Executive Mansion. Jacobs received a plaque and a pin.

Jacobs is among the four award recipients selected from 64 nominees by the Governor's Commission for Recognition of State Employees to be recognized during North Carolina State Employee Appreciation Week, May 17-21. The awards are given for outstanding service, accomplishment and contributions to the state, according to awards guidelines.

Other 1982 winners are Kenneth G. Greer of Morganton, a machinist in the physical plant at Broughton Hospital; Bobby Mickey of Indian Trail, a driver education representative in the N.C. Department of Transportation; and Sara B. Wallace of Greensboro, a housekeeping assistant at UNC-Greensboro.

The names of the four recipients will be engraved on a plaque and permanently displayed in the lobby of a public building.

Jacobs was recognized for his actions in an emergency situation which occurred Sept. 7, 1981.

On that Labor Day evening, Jacobs received an emergency call for aid at the Pembroke Police Station. When he arrived he found a man in the police station who was threatening to kill himself, his wife and the police dispatcher with an automatic shotgun.

Jacobs talked the man out of the building, laid his own gun on the sidewalk, and kept the man talking until other officers arrived. The gunman reached down for Jacobs' gun; Jacobs struck him and wrestled the shotgun away as other officers assisted.

Jacobs' nominators lauded his good judgment, bravery and ability. "Through (Jacobs') meritorious action while exposing himself to extreme personal danger, an irrational man was prevented from killing his wife or the police dispatcher," the nominator wrote. "Had he not been successful in gaining the confidence of the irrational gunman and later subduing him, it is quite likely that the dispatcher, the wife and the gunman would have been killed or seriously injured in the incident."

The N.C. General Assembly authorized the Pembroke State University campus police to give mutual aid to the Pembroke police and Robeson County sheriff just last year.

Jacobs' actions during the Labor Day incident have also resulted in his selection to receive an award from the North Carolina Association of Campus Law Enforcement Administrators.

The Governor's Award for Excellence will be awarded annually to no more than eight state government employees. Each department and university within state government is eligible to nominate as many as five candidates.

The Governor's Commission on Recognition of State Employees was created to acknowledge and express appreciation for contributions made by state employees.

Ticks bite dirty!
"If the bug don't bite you in June let me know so I can sell whatever you're wearing, 'cause it must be the wildest perfume ever manufactured!"
While bugs bite routinely in June, it's the tick bite that a number of unfortunate victims fear most. About 5 ticks in 100 carry Spotted Fever. Symptoms usually occur 10-14 days after being bitten and include fever, aches, and a rash around wrists and ankles. Failure to get treatment if you contract this disease could be fatal.
