

IN THE ARMED FORCES

LAWRENCE D. MALCOLM

Lawrence D. Malcolm, son of retired Army Staff Sgt. J.T. and Vera L. Malcolm of Pembroke, NC received practical work in military leadership at the Army ROTC Advanced Camp at Fort Bragg, NC.

The six-week training includes instruction in first aid, communications, marksmanship, orienting, weapons systems, defense and offensive tactics, reconnaissance techniques and other areas.

Most cadets fulfill their advanced camp requirement during the summer between their junior and senior years in college. The successful completion of the advanced camp and graduation from their respective college or university will result in the student's being commissioned a second lieutenant in the active Army or the U.S. Army Reserve or National Guard.

Malcolm is a student at Pembroke State University.

RICHARD D. SAMPSON

Navy Seaman Apprentice Richard D. Sampson, son of Willie F. Sampson of Pembroke has been selected for the Broadened-Opportunity for Officer Selection and Training (BOOST) Program.

Conducted at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, the 15-month military and academic preparatory course trains selected Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard personnel for college scholarships or appointment to the Naval or Coast Guard Academies, leading to a commissioned officer.

BOBBY D. HAMMONDS

Marine Pfc. Bobby D. Hammonds, son of Bobby E. and Lillian F. Hammonds of Lumberton recently returned from deployment to Norway.

He is a member of Battalion Landing Team 2/2, 36th Marine Amphibious Unit, Camp Lejeune, NC.

During the deployment, his unit participated in exercise "Alloy Express 82" in Northern Norway. The Exercise involved more than 2,000 Marines participating in the week-long cold weather training, some 200 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

...ABOUT AREA STUDENTS IN OKLAHOMA AND FLORIDA

Fl. Lauderdale, Fl. Mr. Woodrow Dial, Pembroke, NC, a doctoral candidate at Nova University, attended the University's Tenth Annual Summer Institute of the Center for Higher Education, held July 18-24 at the Diplomat Hotel in Hollywood, Fl.

The focus of the 1982 Summer Institute, which brought together some of the finest minds in the field of higher education today, was "Futurism in Education."

Nova University doctoral candidates, all of whom are working professionals in the field of higher education, gathered for seminars and lectures and to interrelate with their peers from every corner of the United States, Canada, and Puerto Rico.

Dr. Ross Moreton, Director of the Center, said, "The theme 'Futurism in Education,' emphasizes the importance of preparing today's educators for the year 2000."

Nova University, which is one of the largest private institutions in the State of Florida, has been distinguished by its innovative outlook, its unique programs which provide nontraditional choices in educational programs and its important research which is aimed at solutions to future problems as well as those of the present.

With students studying in Florida and 18 other states, Nova University is a university of national scope.

Norman—Students from 31 states and 16 foreign countries are among the 975 candidates for degrees this summer at the University of Oklahoma's Norman campus.

Students who received degrees in the summer may participate in commencement ceremonies slated in May of 1983.

Graduating from Pembroke, NC was Cynthia D. Jacobs who received her MA Degree.

Dynamic debut

Chavis scores first round knockout

By JIM TOTH
Sports Writer

It was a brief but successful boxing debut Thursday night at the 20 Grand Ballroom for Dearborn Heights Spencer Chavis.

The 17-year-old fighter, making his initial start as a professional light heavyweight, needed only 2:03 of round one to score a technical knockout over Cincinnati's Mike Presswood in a Las Vegas Style Extravaganza sponsored by the Detroit Spirits Professional Boxing team.

"I WANTED to get it (the fight) over quickly," Chavis said. "I wanted to get it all over with so I tried to keep him tied up in the corners. I kept jabbing away and then finally connected with an uppercut to the jaw."

Chavis, currently a member of the Detroit Spirits Professional Boxing team, said he was pleased with his first professional performance.

"I knew I could beat him because he looked real nervous in the corner before the fight," Chavis explained. "I felt I could end it pretty quickly so I kept attacking him. He was always trying to hold on to me but I found an opening and caught him with a left uppercut."

The 6'4", 179 pound hard-punching right hander said he decided to become a professional boxer for financial purposes and also because the style seems to suit him better.

"I FELT that if I was going to fight people I might as well get paid for it," Chavis said. "I have been trying to get a job so I thought this would be a good way to get some money. I just have to keep working hard and maybe someday win a championship title."

"Also I think the pro style is better suited for me. There are certain things you can't do as an amateur that you can do as a pro. I think it will help me out quite a bit."

Chavis, who began boxing at the age of ten in a local gymnasium, compiled an impressive 85-7 record as an amateur, including a Silver Gloves championship in 1981.

"I FOUGHT in a lot of places as an amateur and I liked it," Chavis said. "I hope to be able to do the same as a pro."

"Right now I have another fight scheduled for the last part of August, but I don't know if it will come off. Roland (Chavis' manager Roland Scott) said he would let me know if the fight will be on for sure."

Chavis said he believes he has all the tools to become a professional, but is quick to indicate he must continue to work hard to be able to achieve his goal.

"I feel I'm a hard puncher and a lot of the sparring partners have agreed with me," Chavis said. "I've been able to take a punch so far because I know how to defend myself."
