'Miss Pembroke State University' Scholarship Pageant To Be Held Nov. 21

With former "Miss North Carolina" and "Miss PSU" winner Francesca Adler Loeffke acting as emcee, the annual "Miss Pembroke State University" Scholarship Pageant will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 21, at PSU's Performing Arts Center.

"We think this is going to be one of the best productions we've ever had," says Dr. Diane Jones, PSU director of student activities.

Admission to the event sponsored by the PSU Student Government Association is $4 for general admission and $1 for PSU students, faculty and staff with I.D. cards. Children under 10 will also be admitted for $1.

Five coeds are competing. They will be judged in swimsuit, talent, evening gown, and interview competition.

Winner of the pageant will be awarded a crown, trophy, bouquet of roses, a $700 scholarship, and an opportunity to participate in the "Miss North Carolina" pageant next June. For the "Miss North Carolina" pageant, the "Miss PSU" winner will receive an additional $1,500 clothing allowance. This will be the third straight year that the "Miss PSU" winner has gained a spot in the state pageant.

Pageant director will be Florence Ransom of Pembroke, who has been putting on events like this for years, while choreographer will be Lisa Crenshaw of Lumberton, who has done the choreography for "Strike at the Wind!", the outdoor drama presented near Pembroke each summer.

Guest entertainers will include "The Vitality Dancers," David Carter of Lumberton, Brenda Hunt Williams who was "Miss PSU" of 1979 and also a former "Miss Lumbee," and Mrs. Loeffke. Mrs. Williams resides in Lumberton, and Mrs. Loeffke resides in Washington, D.C.

For Mrs. Loeffke, who lived in Fayetteville when she won "Miss PSU" of 1982 and "Miss North Carolina" of 1984, this will be a sort of homecoming. It will be the 10th anniversary of her winning the "Miss PSU" title.

Married to Gen. Bernard Loeffke, Mrs. Loeffke is the mother of two children: Marc, 2, and Kristin, 1. She currently heads the Inter-American Children's Fund, an international organization based in the nation's capital whose purpose is to support charities in Latin America. She is also a marketing consultant for Telsan International, a communications corporation in Washington, D.C.

As a student at PSU, Francesca Adler Loeffke graduated summa cum laude with a double Bachelor of Arts in theatre and public relations.

The names of the five contestants for "Miss PSU," their hometown, parents, class, major and sponsor are as follows:

Tabitha Collins, Maxton, Travis and Diane Collins, junior, elementary education, Native American Student Organization.

Tabitha Locklear, Pembroke, Leverne and Patricia Locklear, freshman, pre-law, family.

Psi Chi Inducts Six New Members

Psi Chi, the national honor society in psychology which is sponsored by the American Psychological Association, recently inducted six new members at an informal ceremony and dinner.

The new inductees are: Christa Evans, Laurinburg; June Kramer, Elizabethtown; Catherine Kurezenski, Laurinburg; Veronica McLeod, Lumberton; Rabon Parker, Lumberton; and Steven Thibodeau, Laurinburg.

I may never work again because I have had so much fun deer hunting this season.

But I did get upset last Friday when I set up my stand next to a highway over near the city.

I had just settled in when I caught a whiff of odor from a cheap cigar. True deer hunters don't smoke cigars while hunting because a deer can smell them and know that man is near. Not only did I smell the cigar I heard noises that could also scare deer away.

I began to look for the intruder. As I looked over the top of a hedge row near the road I saw a highway department truck over on the shoulder of the road. A man with a cigar would get out of the truck, dig a large hole in the ditch and then get back in the truck. A few minutes later, the other fellow in the truck would get out and fill up the hole, tap the dirt and then get back in the truck.

A few minutes later they would pull up about 25 yards and repeat the process - digging, waiting, refilling and then pull the truck up again. This was getting on my nerves, not to mention how they were scaring my deer.

I couldn't take it anymore so I yelled "What are you men doing?"

"We're on a highway beautification project," the driver said. "And the guy who plants the trees is home sick today."

Engagement Announced

Mr. Harold and Mrs. Luann Locklear of Pembroke announce the engagement of their daughter, Antonia M. Locklear to Thia Lee Clark.
