

WILMINGTON,

TUESDAY, APRIL 9, 1805.

Captain Oliver of the Brig Polly, arrived here on Wednesday last, 19 days from Point Peter, Guadaloupe, informs, that the French fleet which took Dominique arrived at Basseterre (Guad.) about the 4th of March, with fourteen English ships richly laden, one of which was a Guineaman loaded with slaves; and having landed 2000 troops and sold their prizes, sailed from thence on the 9th.

Before Capt. Oliver sailed, accounts were received that they had taken Monserrat, Nevis and St. Kitts, which they evacuated for the consideration of a large amount in specie, after having destroyed such of the English shipping as they did not deem worth carrying off.

The day before Capt. Oliver sailed, a letter was received from St. Thomas's, by the Collector at Point Petre, stating that a French and Spanish fleet of 24 sail of the line and a number of frigates, with 10,000 troops, had been seen off St. Domingo; and report said they were destined against Jamaica.

While Capt. Oliver was at Point Petre, he says that 14 valuable prizes had been brought in, exclusive of those taken at Dominique, &c. &c. and that some of them were part of the Cork fleet. One ship and her cargo, consisting of dry goods and provisions, sold for 150,000l. sterling; another of the prize ships had on board 550 pipes Madeira wine, and three large brigs were loaded with provisions and dry goods. One of the prize ships, an Indiaman, was fitting out as a privateer—the mounts 56 guns and carries 350 men.

A French gentleman who arrived here last Wednesday, direct from Guadaloupe, informs, that the French fleet under the command of Admiral Mississy, consisting of five sail of battle ships, three frigates and two sloops of war, having on board 5000 troops under the command of General Lagrange, landed at Dominique.—The town of Rousseau was set on fire by the guns of the British. After having taken all the shipping and what was valuable in the harbour, the fleet proceeded to Tortola, St. Kitts and Nevis, took off all the shipping, laid heavy contributions on the inhabitants, which they were constrained to pay, and sailed again. Their further proceedings were kept so secret, that they were not even guessed at.

It is stated in the Raleigh Minerva, on authority of the Spectator, a New-York print, that the late conduct of John Randolph respecting the impeachment of Judge Chase, his introduction of the vindictive amendment to the Constitution, his opposition to the bill for defraying the expenses of the witnesses for Judge Chase, and his attempt to violate the Constitution at the close of the late session of Congress, had so roused the indignation of the democrats in Baltimore, that a concourse of citizens assembled, and having formed an image of Randolph, carried it in procession to one of the wharves, suspended it over the water and set it on fire—at length the cord by which it was suspended being consumed, the effigy fell into the water and floated down the stream until a number of dogs plunged in, dragged it to the shore and tore it to pieces.

The Baltimore papers which are received regularly at this office make no mention of the above recited act, and until it is confirmed by some other authority, we shall not presume to vouch for its authenticity, however deserving of public indignation may have been the conduct of Mr. Randolph.

Life of Washington.

An advertisement is inserted in the Charleston City Gazette of the 4th inst. informing the subscribers to Weem's List, in that city, of a full supply of that valuable Work having been shipped on board the brig Laurel the 14th Dec. last, and as said vessel has not yet been heard of, there can be little doubt of her being lost; in consequence of which a new edition must be published, ere a complete number can be forwarded.

No mention is made of the subscribers to Weem's List, in Wilmington, who have not yet been supplied.

A Boy of decent connection, 14 or 15 years old, who can read and write, will be received into this office as an apprentice, on liberal terms.

Bank of Cape-Fear.

THE Commissioners for carrying into effect the Law for establishing the Bank of Cape-Fear, congratulate their fellow-citizens on the certainty that the Five Hundred Shares directed by that Law to be subscribed for in the Town of Wilmington, will be completed without the least difficulty or delay.

Such has been the Patriotism and the laudable Zeal of a number of the Inhabitants of the Town and its vicinity, for effecting the establishment of that useful Institution, that within two hours after opening the subscription, propositions came forward for the whole number of Shares.

Should the same praise worthy spirit pervade the Citizens of our sister-Town of Fayetteville, there can exist no obstacle to the Bank being carried into operation in the course of a few months.

The Commissioners conceive they have already given unequivocal testimony of their wish to prevent a monopoly of the Shares of the Bank into a few hands, and now again under the influence of the same disposition, they give notice that subscriptions will be accepted until notification to the contrary, the present subscribers being willing to relinquish a portion of their Shares for general accommodation.
