

BOSTON, Oct. 31.

We have received, from our attentive correspondent at New-Bedford, the important and highly interesting intelligence which follows:—

New-Bedford, Oct. 28.

ESTEEMED FRIENDS,

This day arrived the ship Fame, capt. Howland, 36 days from Greenock to the owner, John Howland, having performed her voyage from Norfolk in 81 days.—No ship news. Capt. Howland has politely given me the Greenock advertiser, of Sept. 12, 15 and 19, which is herewith sent you."

LONDON, September 15.

DEATH OF MR. FOX.

At a quarter before six o'clock on Saturday afternoon this great and illustrious Statesman yielded his last breath, in the arms of his nephew, Lord Holland. His dissolution was so gradual and accompanied by so little struggle, as scarcely to permit the most anxious eye to ascertain the inst. His friends had at least the sad and melancholy consolation of perceiving that he suffered no pain—and they had been prepared for the event by the increasing symptoms of exhaustion that had increased for the two days preceding. On Friday at noon, the Physicians announced to him the approaching close, and he received it as he had done in the first instance, with that firm tranquillity of spirit which was characteristic of his nature, and which he maintained to the last.

Mr. Fox died at the very moment when the park and tower guns were announcing the capture of Buenos Ayres.

There are various reports as to who is to succeed Mr. Fox in the foreign department. Among those mentioned are the Marquis Wellesly, Lord Holland, and Mr. T. Grenville. The last mentioned gentleman, it is generally thought, will be appointed.

It is singular to remark the fatality that has spread among the leading men of this country within the last twelve months, viz.

MARQUIS CORNWALLIS, Oct. 5.

LORD NELSON, Oct. 21.

MR. PITT, Jan. 23.

LORD THURLOW, Sept. 12.

MR. FOX, Sept. 13.

The Monitor has stated that the illness of Mr. Fox, retarded the work of Peace. We shall not be surprised when we look at the state of the continent, if the Monitor shall next state, that Mr. Fox's death has prevented its completion.—Globe.

The embarkation of troops for foreign service, is renewed with increased activity.

It is rendered certain, that the Emperor of Russia has not ratified the treaty with France.

On the subject of the pending Negotiations with France, we can say nothing further, than that Couriers are continually passing between the two governments.

The troops which disembarked from the transports at Plymouth, in consequence of Admiral Louis's squadron which was to convey the expedition, having been detached for the purpose of intercepting Admiral Guillemeau, have been re-embarked, and the transports are immediately to proceed to Plymouth, to await the return of Admiral Louis.

A Messenger to the Russian Ambassador arrived at half past four o'clock yesterday, with dispatches, from the court of St. Petersburg.

Yesterday morning Mr. Russell, the messenger, also arrived in town with dispatches from St. Petersburg.

Last night a messenger left town for Paris, with dispatches to Lord Lauderdale.

Mr. Russell, the Messenger, set off on Saturday with dispatches from Copenhagen.

The remains of Lord Thurlow were bro't to town on Saturday, and it is expected that the body will lie in state in the course of a day or two.

The Russian Minister, in announcing to the French cabinet, the refusal of his master, to ratify the Treaty of M. D'Orville, declares, "that that minister had acted entirely contrary to the orders and instructions which he had received; but that in order to leave no possible means of restoring peace, and general tranquillity, untired, the Imperial ministry has received orders to make known to the cabinet of the Thurlow's, the basis on which his Imperial Majesty will be ready to renew the negotiations; so that it will depend on the French government, to accept or decline the equally just and moderate proposals which are made to it.

September 18.

We have received Paris papers to the 14th and 15th inst. they both agree in stating, that upon the news of the non-ratification of D'Orville's treaty, the return of the troops from Germany was countermanded, and the Camp of Muedon, near Paris, was expected to break up. A camp for the reception of 60,000 men is prepared at Zeist on the northern frontier of Holland; and other military movements and operations indicate approaching war. Private letters from Holland state, that the Prussian Ambassador had left the Hague. From the manner however, in which this statement is introduced, it seems evident, that the rumour of such an event was prevalent in Holland, and that war was generally expected between that country and France. The hopes of Peace have likewise diminished."

GREENOCK, Sept. 19.

Since our last, both the Hamburg Mails which were due have arrived. Their contents are important. Prussia has been driven to such extremity, that unless she at length determines to resist the farther encroachments of France, she must submit to receive the Imperial camp de grace, and sink into absolute vassalage.—Russia holds a commanding position.—Sweden preserves her wonted spirit—and Austria seems waiting for an opportunity to revenge the insults she has sustained.

PARIS, September 9.

The refusal of the Emperor Alexander to ratify the treaty of Peace, already concluded between Russia and France, has not as yet been followed by the rupture of the negotiations between the French and English plenipotentiaries, though certainly according to all appearances, they leave but slight hopes of Peace. In the mean time, as the signature of Peace with Russia was followed by preparations on the part of France for the evacuation of Germany, to the unexpected determination on the part of the Court of St. Petersburg, which rejected a treaty which had been actually signed, has immediately determined the Emperor Napoleon to countermand the orders for the return of his army to France, where some of it had already arrived, and the whole would have been soon collected. The camp of Muedon, in which the troops first returned, were assembled, and which in a few days would not have been sufficient to contain the number of troops expected, is about to break up, and we are assured that orders have been transmitted to Marshal Prince Berthier, Minister of War, and Major-General of the Grand Army, to stop the return of the army.

DREADFUL EXPLOSION AT MALTA.

Letters from Malta received yesterday, dated the 20th of July, make mention of a very disastrous event which happened at that island on the 15th;—A magazine, containing three hundred and seventy barrels of gunpowder and 1500 shells and grenades, blew up. Near one thousand persons were killed or wounded, consisting chiefly of Maltese, resident in the fort and its vicinity. The extent of the mischief in other respects, is incalculable. The fort is blown nearly in atoms, and considerable damage was sustained by the shipping. The cause of this shocking accident had not been ascertained when this account came away.

WILMINGTON.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1806.

The rumour of Burr's treasonable designs in the western country, continues to gain ground, and it is even said, that a council has been held at Washington, for the purpose of entering into measures to arrest the colonel and his associates

Petersburg Republican.

The honorable David M. Erskine, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of his Britannic majesty to the United States, was on Monday received by the secretary of state, and by him presented to the president of the United States.

On the same day, Anthony Merry, Esq. late envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from the same court, took his leave of the president.

National Intelligencer.

Information from the Westward.

The latest authentic accounts are from governor Claiborne and general Wilkinson, & come down to the 24th September. At this period an answer was expected from the governor of the Spanish province of Texas, which would be likely to determine the completion of the measures to be pursued on the part of the U. States. Such doubts were entertained on this head, that the preponderating opinion was, that a recourse to force would be rendered inevitable. In this event we rejoice to say, that there is but little doubt for apprehension. The Spanish forces amount to about 1500, while our regular force, reinforced by militia, will be from 11 to 1300. The Americans were still at Nachitoches, & the Spaniards at Bayou Pierre

By authentic information from the Havana, dated September 24, we are advised of the appointment of a new Intendant from which a favorable change in the conduct of that government to the United States may be expected. At that time, Miranda was said to have made good his landing, & to have made some progress in the country towards Santa Fe, where he had been joined by 2000 of the inhabitants of the country.

The French admiral Willaumez had got safe into port with the Foudroyant, although pursued under the guns of the Moro by the British frigate Anson.

At the moment of closing the letter containing this information, it was reported that a Spanish schooner had arrived at Bahabano, and brought accounts that Miranda had had an engagement, had lost about 1000 men, and had retreated about 25 miles; but the report was said to want confirmation.

KINGSTON, JAN. Sept. 30.

We understand Vice Admiral Daerle has received a letter from Sir Richard J. Strachan, which was put on board the American schooner Four Sisters, arrived yesterday, dated on board the Caser, September 1, off Bermuda, which states that his squadron had encountered a very severe hurricane, on the 19th August, off Harangade, that dispersed the whole of them, and the only ship in company with him then was the Triumph of 74 guns, she had lost her mainmast and sprung her foremast; the Terrible of 74 guns was totally dismantled, and left in the charge of the Decade frigate. In regard to the fate of the rest of the squadron, Sir Richard is said to have been totally ignorant.
