The translator flatters himself that a work which cannot possibly wound the feelings of any political party or religious sect, and whose chief tendency is to promote the grand cause of Christianity, will meet the favorable smiles of all those who are desirous to promote the real interests of religion and virtue. It will possess one merit at least, in the eyes of some, being the production of a native American, and citizen of the United States.

S. HALLING, A. M. Rector of St. James's Church, Wilmington, N. C.

Oct. 15, 1808. Subscriptions received at this Office.
