TAX LISTS.

BEING appointed to receive the Tax Lists for the current year for the Town, the Subscriber will attend to the same at his store until the 1st of August next.

JOHN M. GABIE.

July 7th, 1810.

N. B. It is particularly recommended to proprietors of real property in the Town, that in their Tax Lists they describe the precise situation of the property, the breadth and length of the ground and the dimensions of the buildings, as for want of such descriptions the assessors have found infinite difficulty in making the assessments fair and equal.

FOR SALE,

That well known Plantation called

WOODFORD,

where the subscriber now lives, situated on the N. W. branch of Cape-Fear river, containing about 800 acres, 60 of which are cleared upland, with good fence, and a convenient dwelling house with necessary out houses, &c. Also a fine orchard, of young Apple and Peach Trees—300 acres of the above are low lands, 15 acres of which are cleared and under cultivation, the balance abounds with the best of Cypress timber handy to the water—the low lands are all fenced in, which makes them good range for stock.

The remainder of the upland, is timbered chiefly with Pine, and has a quantity of light wood on it.

Those who may wish to purchase can judge the value of said land by looking at the crop that is now on it. For further particulars apply to

R. GIBBS.

July 17.

Elizabethtown Academy.

THE REV. WILLIAM B. MORONEY, commenced on the 18th inst. the superintendence of the Elizabethtown Academy.—His qualifications as a Teacher, have been generally commended; that the Trustees forbear making any comment. Amongst the variety of circumstances, which will tend to deterring leave of absence, the Trustee Elizabethtown is situated near the middle ground between Fayetteville and Wilmington. A weekly communication with those places, is afforded through the medium of the stages—hence Books, Stationary, &c. if not to be obtained on the spot, may be had without any perplexing delay. Parents and guardians of children, living up or down the river, may hear from them weekly. The Trustees have it not in their power to annex the rates of board; but suppose they will be much more reduced than in towns more populous. This institution for some time, will not be much crowded: hence an unremitting attention of the Principal, might produce advantages which do not so fully appertain to those establishments, on a more extensive plan, however happy the arrangement as to assistants.—The exertions of the Trustees will steadily direct to every mean, likely to advance or benefit the students. Assistant Teachers (both male and female) will be procured as soon as required.

Rates of Tuition:—Spelling, Reading, Writing, and Arithmetic, 3 dollars a quarter—Latin, English Grammar, Geography, &c. dollars a quarter.

By order of the Board,

THOS. BROWN, President.

LETTERS UPON FRENCH INFLUENCE,

Written by Mr. Elliot, once a Republican member of Congress from the State of Vermont]

No. VII.

To the People of the United States.

It was originally intended, by the writer of these papers, to "unfold the history," as well as to "display the character," of French influence upon the affairs of the U. States. This was precisely the pledge which he gave to the public. It was his object to examine in succession the various viands and different dishes of the great political entertainment which France has given to the U. States—ab ovo usque ad mala—from the egg to the apple of Thomas Jefferson's noble feast of Embargo. But there is a certain impatience and ardor in the public mind which the writer must suffer to influence his conduct, tho' he will not suffer them to govern it. As a public writer, he knows his rights, and will maintain them with a firm and proud independence. The public have their rights also. They may manifest impatience, they may exercise all the powers of criticism, they may read or not read as they please. But here they must stop.

The writer will listen to advice, but he will repel dictation. Some appear to require volumes in a moment upon a subject which has required the reflection of years in merely deciding upon the proper mode to be pursued, and every step in the progress of which, in his own poor judgment, demands great deliberation and great caution. Such shall be disappointed. Such shall not be obeyed. The author will, in this case, be governed by one of the few Jeffersonian maxims upon which he now sets any value, and will manage his own affairs in his own way." The cool judgment of the public, however, will be greatly respected. In deference to it, we now exhibit new, extraordinary, and most interesting information, to the American people.

Descending, then, at once, to the memorable session of 1805-6, the reader's recollection is recalled, for one moment, to the (public) message of the President, Jefferson, at the commencement of that session.

If indicated, in terms the most unequivocal, that the U. States were on the eve of war with Spain. Speaking of the injuries received from that power, the message said, "Some of them are of a nature to be met by force, and all of them may lead to it."

I cannot therefore but recommend such preparations as circumstances call for." The message indeed, abounded in that ambiguity of expression, and in that generalization of c
