Act, 27—1f

from the Vermont Wilmingtonian.
The election of Representatives to Congress has terminated in favour of the Democratic Ticket, by a little more than 2/3 majority. Although we knew, that a great change had taken place since September, and although we knew that the freedom of peace, in this part of the state, would do their duty, yet we dared not expect, nor did we expect to carry the election. We had more than three thousand votes to gain in three months. We did not expect so great a change, as we actually found. But to our surprise, we did believe, and the best informed of all people equally believed for ten days after the election, from the astonishing charges, so far as could be learnt, that the Peace Ticket must have certainly prevailed.
But we are disappointed. The North Western section of the state has not done its duty, and through a neglect the most unpardonable, where we had least reason to expect it, the election is lost. It is hardly so; and our consolation is, that the change in our favour is much greater than we had anticipated; and that the current is now every moment becoming stronger and stronger, in favour of peace, commerce and freedom. The "Border War" will soon be as unpopular in Vermont, as it is in other parts of New-England. And well it may: for one blustering, bullying, mountain labouring, cam-paing has come to a close, and we have gained nothing but an unbroken series of disaster, defeat, disgrace, and ruin, and down.

From the Norfolk Ledger.
Some of our patent Virginia democrats, are taking consolation from the circumstance of General Smyth being as they say an Irishman; the facts is, we believe he is a native of Virginia; but suppose it is otherwise, we see nothing to furnish consolation. This brings to our recollection an anecdote of the late capt. Clinch, of facetious memory.
There was a person who at the same time was a Member of congress, and a Colonel, and also an Irishman; he was accused of being an Irishman, and Clinch was one, who was much rallied about it, and he always ready, observed, "Gentlemen, the person you speak of may be an Irishman, and I do not say, that he is better for that; but I will venture to say, that he would have remained a long time in his own country before he would have been a member of Parliament, or a Colonel.

FROM THE N. YORK EVENING POST.
Interesting Document.—Among the documents lately transmitted by the President to Congress, is one from Admiral Warren, dated Halifax, October 21st, 1812, in which, after acknowledging the receipt of the application of John Dunn, of Boston, the father of Thomas Dunn, for the discharge of his son, as an American seaman and transmitting a deposition of his birth, the Admiral adds, "It appears the said man is married in England, has been eight years in His Majesty's service, and received a pension from Government; under these circumstances, and the man never having made any application for his discharge from prison, he continues on board the Scatira." Now this is precisely the case of a naturalized British subject voluntarily serving on board our navy. The Government demand him.
Great Britain has not yet gone that length; but we have thus impliedly admitted her right to do so. And does it not irresistibly follow, that if she has a right to demand, she has a right to take? On the other hand, by her refusal to discharge, she must admit in turn, our right to hold her naturalized subjects in the same manner that she holds ours? Ought not then these conflicting claims to be forthwith adjusted by negotiation?

From the Baltimore Sun.
A misapprehension has prevailed, we believe, as to the supposed new proposition, to Great-Britain, mentioned in debate by Mr. Calhoun. That gentleman explained his meaning, to be merely, that if consistent with the delicacy proper to be observed towards the Executive, with whom the power of negotiation rests, the committee of Foreign Relations proposed to make public, a proposition comprizing the offers, already made to Great-Britain, and by her rejected. This was intended wholly for the satisfaction of the people.
Perpetual motion.—All's over!—the secret's out! The perpetual motion lately advertised in this city and exhibited at a house about a mile out of town, and for the sight of which many a credulous visitor, has paid his dollar, is no more!— Alas! its motion has been stopped fore-ever. Among the visitors was Mr. Fulton, whose suspicions were awakened yesterday by the sound of a turning crank—On a repeated visit this morning, accompanied by several friends who were determined, if there was an imposition, to detect it, these suspicions were confirmed.

They began by requesting permission to take the machine to pieces for the purpose of examination, which being refused, they commenced an attack upon it, and the first piece, torn off, the upper wheel to which the perpendicular shaft was fastened, discovered the cheat. It appeared that the motion was communicated by a crank turned by an agent in the chamber above; on entering which they found him in the act.

The confusion that ensued was not small. The three fellows concerned returned the money to those present; but it is much to be lamented that they were suffered to make their escape, unmolested.

NOTE The above machine is denied to be Mr.
Reuhaeffer's.

MEDICAL
Cure for Consumptive Complaints A person who is interested in every thing that can be useful to humanity is desirous of giving the public a remedy that chance has discovered.—An officer, who had a consumptive complaint in his breast, was dissolving over a chafing dish of fire in a close room, an equal quantity of white pitch and yellow bees-wax, with an intention of soldering some bottles; and after having breathed some time in the vapor arising from it, he found the complaint in his breast greatly relieved. This observation, extremely interesting to himself, determined him to continue the same fumigation some days. He soon perceived a very considerable amendment, and at length was entirely cured.
This cure was very much talked of.— Madame de M... was informed of it, and medicated with it; and she was so serious that a trial might be made of this remedy, in D... she was so serious that a life was despaired of. The success equalled every hope that could be conceived, and the patient was perfectly cured; in consequence of which, the princess gave orders that the fact should be inserted in the Public Gazette. The same public paper confirms this recital; adding that this remedy has been experienced with equal benefit on several persons, who were attacked with complaints in the breast; and that very many, whose even the lungs were ulcerated, and who were entirely exhausted, had been cured by this simple remedy.
It should be observed, that the room in which fumigation is to be formed, ought to be very closely shut up, and that person should walk about to suck in the vapor by degrees.

The following recipe is said to be a speedy and effectual Cure for the Dysentery: Take one pint of good vinegar, and mix a pint of loaf sugar and simmer them together a convenient time in a pewter vessel with a pewter cover. Let the patient drink of this during the day, a small quantity at a time, either clear, or accommodated to the palate by diluting it with water.
The person who first made use of this prescription, was restored to perfect health in one day, and afterwards recovered his strength with a rapidity that astonished both himself and friends. Many persons of the first respectability, have since been relieved from the greatest distress & weakness to which this complaint had reduced them and cured in the same astonishing manner. This simple remedy, so potential its effects, is remarkably pleasant to the taste, more agreeable than lemonade, and, on being swallowed, seems to reach the seat of the disease with the velocity of electricity.
