WELL KNOWN CITIZEN DIES AT WHITTED STREET HOME

After an illness of three months S. P. Burton died at his home at 1012 Whitted Street, Wednesday June 23rd. Death came at 7:20 P.M.

Mr. Burton, who was 80 years old at the time of his death, has lived in Durham for a long time and was well beloved by all who knew him.

Born in Burlington, Mr. Burton moved to Durham when he was a young man, and made it his home. He was the husband of Mrs. L. A. Burton who, before her death several years ago was a teacher in the city school system.

Mr. Burton is survived by two aunts, Mrs. Keck and Mrs. Murray, both of Burlington. He leaves behind a host of relatives and friends who mourn his passing.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed as we go to press. The Scarborough Funeral Home will be in charge of the burial.

PLANNING A WEEK-END BEACH PARTY

BY AUNT RUTHIE
First you must pick out a cottage directly on the ocean. See that it has the proper equipment such as electric lights, at least two baths, a shower in the garage. These things are necessary in order to spend an enjoyable week-end at the beach. The shower in the garage is very convenient because as you come in from the beach full of sand, and you run into the garage and take a shower. This will keep the house free from a lot of unnecessary sand.

I may pick a cottage with two baths because the men can dress together in one and the women in the other.

It is mostly the women that will do the menu planning for the week-end. They will choose a nice ham, that can be used for Friday dinner through Saturday. Bake the ham in gingerale, after seasoning with whole cloves and brown sugar this baked ham served with baked beans and tomato salad will prove a very tasty and easy prepared meal. For dessert, I suggest ginger bread with whipped cream. The men will perhaps prefer, beer along with their dinner, while the ladies have iced tea or gingerale. After finishing a meal like the one mentioned and sitting on the porch enjoying the cool breeze blowing from the ocean—makes one feel as a queen or king. There will be those wanting to walk along the beach, while others play cards, bingo or sticks.

For the Saturday morning breakfast, plan to use the left-over ham. The best way to do this is to have the following breakfast menu; very cold grapefruit buttered toast, Ham Omelet coffee, and milk. You know, can't afford to eat heavy breakfast at the seashore for you want to jump, right into the ocean about half-hour after breakfast.

For lunch, why not choose a toasted lettuce and tomato sandwich, cheese soufflé and a refreshing glass of coca cola. There may be a few along that will want cookies or cake—so don't forget to add a cake and at least two dozen cookies to the menu. After lunch on Saturday you will want to bathe and dress, probably there will be some who will want to attend a matinee in town, others will want to remain at the cottage.

For the five o'clock dinner, plan a very quick and easy meal say, fruit cup; lamb chops with browned pineapple, creamy white mashed potatoes; and fresh string beans, by no means forget the Dixie Rolls. For dessert, the bread pudding with lemon sauce is very tempting—iced tea goes well with this meal.

Now for the last day on the week-end beach party—Sunday morning—First of all you plan to rise early for you must attend church services. For breakfast why not plan to have cold tomato juice; sausage and waffles, milk and coffee. I am sure one of the women won't mind taking her waffle iron along. Breakfast must be hurried for there is the "right after church dinner" to be prepared. An easy and quick meal is fried chicken with gravy, fried salad; candid sweet potatoes, carrots and peas; chocolate cake with vanilla ice cream; lemonade. The remainder of the day can be spent taking photos, and preparing to leave a very pleasant week-end with sweet memories of a grand beach party.

NEW GADGETS TO TAKE GUESSWORK OUT OF HOUSEKEEPING

Jelly, Golf, Roast Beef, and Bridge-Playing All Fall Under Thermometer Control

EVEN if you've cooked for years for your seven little brothers and sisters and everyone admits you're the best fudge maker in the block, there's something about a kitchen of your own that puts you on your mettle! So, if you want to dazzle your spick-and-span new husband (or your family of fifteen years' standing, for that matter) with your culinary triumphs, be sure that your kitchen contains a complete set of cooking thermometers!

There's one for roast meat that tells you just when the roast is as rare or well-done as you want it (saves up to 25% of the juice most tyro cooks waste, too). There's an oven thermometer; another with a long handle for testing deep fat; and a perfectly splendid one to do double duty for jellies and candy. No more tears over jam that won't jell! It's as far into the limbo of forgotten things as burnt biscuits and mustache cures.

When you're putting the finishing touches on your kitchen, have the carpenter nail a two-inch strip of wood shoulder high along the wall nearest your stove. Paint it to match the color scheme of your room. Then screw in a set of books for your kitchen thermometers with a hook at either end to hold a pollifier.

The woman who doesn't forget details starts housekeeping a long step ahead. And practical details are often as important to the comfort of the more ornamental rooms as they are to the success of the
