Newspaper Man Sworn In As Special Consultant For Unemployment Census

WASHINGTON — (CS Flash) — Floyd J. Calvin, founder and editor of Calvin's Newspaper Service, 148 West 125th street, New York City, was sworn in at 11:40 Friday morning in Room 6802, the Department of Commerce Building, by Oliver C. Short, executive assistant to the Director of the Bureau of the Census, as Special Consultant to Hon. John D. Biggers, Administrator of the Census of the Unemployed. Mr. Calvin was recommended to the post by Edgar G. Brown, president of the United Government Employees, and Hon. Charles E. Hall, Specialist in Negro Statistics of the Department of Commerce and was placed on the payroll at $20 per day, making him one of the highest-paid officials of the New Deal.

Mr. Calvin was given a desk in Room 6109, the office of Mr. Hall. Present at the taking of the oath were Mr. Brown and J. A. Rogers, noted war correspondent and historian.

In a statement to the press Mr. Calvin said: "It is my hope that colored citizens throughout our country will appreciate the importance of this voluntary census of the unemployed — and that those who are out of work, or are working only part time, and want to work and are able to work, will register between November 16 and 20. On November 16 postmen throughout the country will distribute blanks and all persons who are eligible to register should register. Persons working on government projects, such as the NYA, CCC, WPA, etc., should register. It is most important that the final figures, when tabulated, will reflect the true picture of unemployment conditions among our people as well as all other groups. If additional blanks are wanted, they may be secured from postman or from the local post office. The blanks, when filled out, are not to be sent to Washington, but mailed back to the local post office. No stamp is required."

TRY DRIVING WITHOUT HORNS IN CAPETOWN

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Nov. 11—(ANP)—Motorists in Capetown this week shook their fists at pedestrians instead of hooting at them with their auto horns. The traffic authorities had asked them to cooperate in a "no hooting" experiment, which proved quite successful. The streets were restful, office workers were able to concentrate and natives who had been in the habit of jumping for their lives as speeding motorists shot down thoroughfares, were composed as they crossed streets.

"Jaywalker" of the old school did not like the idea however. They expect to be warned of the presence of cars.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11—(ANP)—With 350 delegates and observers in attendance from all parts of the state and from St. Louis, New York, North Dakota and Cary, Ind., the Second State-Wide Conference for Negro Youth held successful sessions here last Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

One of the high lights of the program was the mass meeting at Good Shepard Congregational church on Friday night, Chas. P. Ewing, assistant state NYA Director, presided. Miss Pauline Redmond, state chairman, delivered the keynote address stressing the need for universal cooperation among Negro youth and urging that differences be forgotten in planning practical solutions to every day problems.

Atty. George L. Quilici, member of Civil Liberties Committee, traced Democratic liberties back through English history showing how nations had struggled for definite legal provisions guaranteeing civil rights. Angelo Herndon, the principal speaker, discussed Democratic liberties from the point of view of the Negro. He mentioned the Scottsboro and Herndon cases as flagrant ex-

Blind Man Formerly On Relief Now Supports A Family Of Thirteen

ROXBORO, N. C., Nov. 10—(ANP)—The case of blind Percy Warmack, head of a family of 13, and a former relief client, is being cited here to show that a good man may be down, but is never out and that we get out of life just as much as we put into it. Living in Person County, Warmack, in 1933 while working on a relief project was blinded when struck by a flying stone from a dynamite blast.

Realizing the $11 a month paid him by the relief agency was not enough to support his large family, he determined to do something about it. In 1935, aided by his family he had saved $150, which he apportioned as a first payment on a 100-acre tract of land, being aided in his plan by Charles J. Ford, colored farmer agent of the State College extension service.

During the following months, by working hard and "cutting corners wherever possible," Warmack and his family have paid $500 on this farm, hope to pay off the remaining $150 through the sale of timber. The blind man's wife is an expert canner, has put up nearly 1,000 containers of fruits and vegetables for the family larder this coming winter. Nine of Warmack's children are in school and he says he proposes to give them as good an education as possible.

MYSTERY WOMAN PAYS FOR PRINTING AND DISTRIBUTION OF 100,000 ROSCOE CONKLIN SPEECHES

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10—(ANP)—Following a typical Roscoe Conkling Simmons speech delivered Friday night at Metropolitan Opera house, an elderly white woman who wanted her name withheld was so impressed that she paid for the printing and distribution of 100,000 copies of the address.

The white woman said she was the daughter of a well known abolitionist who took an active part in the old underground railroad. Simmons was speaking in behalf of the Republicans and lambasting Democrats when the benefactor volunteered to pay for the publishing.

NORTH CAROLINA SEEKS TO ELIMINATE "POOR HOUSES"

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 11—(ANP)—The County Poor House, long the bogle of the aged and destitute, may be eliminated in the future, if the program sponsored by the State Department of Public Welfare is pushed to a successful conclusion.

The Department seeks the ultimate of county homes through substitution of Social Security benefits, home comforts and institutional care, according to the welfare commissioner, Mrs. W. T. Bost.

Mrs. Bost pointed out this week that the State of Alabama, by giving old people the advantages of Social Security and by consolidating welfare activities, has been able to reduce the number of county homes from 62 to 26, a decrease of more than half in one year.

Watch Your Step...

Some people fear passing under a ladder, while others dread a black cat crossing their paths. That's SUPERSTITION.

Others fear the possibility of an unavoidable accident or being struck by a careless motorist. That's APPREHENSION.

Whether it's superstition or apprehension, the wise thing to do is to be prepared with a sufficient amount of life insurance. That's FORESIGHT.

See a NORTH CAROLINA MUTUAL agent today. It's better to have life insurance and not need it than to need it and not have it. More than 37,800 people were killed in automobile accidents last year. DON'T TAKE CHANCES.
