HAVE A COCKTAIL

The storekeepers tell us that women are improving in taste when it comes to cocktails. When one remembers some of the atrocities coyly masquerading under the title of "cocktail" during the prohibition era, one can only breathe a prayerful "thanks." However, although their taste has improved it is said to note that the storekeepers feel that the ability of women to mix good drinks has not kept in step with their appreciation.

The answer in that, of course, is a ready mixed cocktail. We don't equal joyfully, so we are told, when they realize that they won't have to worry and fuss about those necessary little before dinner drinks. However, there are still some sturdy souls who fancy drinks of their own concocting. That being the case, we will continue our intelligent search for good recipes.

SALAD TIPS

The salad is a very important part of the meal. This fact is appreciated by more women each year. Furthermore, most men who formerly scorned "rabbit food" now realize that many modern salads are mighty hearty, very tasty and extremely healthful dishes—filled with the minerals, salts and vitamins needed in a balanced meal. The salad has come into its own.

A grape salad made by many hostesses is the serving of the same simple salad regularly. Sliced tomatoes on crisp lettuce leaves makes a good salad, but this dish should not appear regularly like bread and potatoes. Salads should be varied as new fruits and vegetables are in season.

Right now we have the Bartlett pear and the Tokay grape—both delicious salad foods that should be featured as long as possible. The Bartlett pear is a yellow, sweet, juicy fruit that should be used immediately if bought ripe. If bought green, it will soon develop its natural find flavor if left in a cool place.

1-4 jigger brandy
1-2 jigger madeira
1-2 tablespoon sugar
1-4 jigger rum
1-1 pint fresh milk

Shake well in shaved ice, strain and serve in 8 oz. glass.

1-2 tablespoon gelatin
1-2 cup cold water
2 cups boiling water
1-2 cup sugar
1-2 cup lemons
1-2 cup Tokay grapes
1-2 cup walnuts

Maionnaise
ettuce
Soak gelatin in cold water, add boiling water, sugar and lemon juice, stir until sugar and gelatin dissolve and set aside to thicken. Peel oranges, discard white skin and cut into pieces; wash Blue Cross grapes and cut in halves, removing seeds; cut

Marie Downing BEAUTY AND ROMANCE

SPONSORED BY LARUE'S BEAUTY FOUNDATION

The Larue Beauty Foundation was established by the Godfrey Manufacturing Company to study methods of preserving woman's natural beauty, and to make the results of this research available to the public.

BEAUTY BEGINS AT 40

It has often been said that if a woman keeps the health and beauty of her youth, years are an asset. But what of the woman who has found the years too busy to devote time to the preservation of her complexion, her figure, and her vitality?

Especially important is the use of cosmetics. No matter how many creams and lotions are applied, it is impossible to remove without plastic surgery the little wrinkles and lines that advancing years have brought. We should not try to remove them, for they are often a mark of character. We should endeavor, instead, to turn our attention to improving complexion and general appearance.

Rouge should be used lightly. Be sure it is the proper shade and that it is applied correctly.

If the eyebrows have become fuzzy and unkempt it is well to pluck them in the manner dictated by the shape of the face. If jewelry is worn, especially earrings, it should follow conservative trends.

The hands and fingernails are especially important, because men notice them more in older women. Fingernails should be kept well groomed and polished. Bright enamel should be used sparingly.

Above all, women should remember they have not lost their charm at 40; that by following commonsense rules they can become more truly beautiful than they ever were in their lives.

Many of my contest letters remind women of this fact, and later I'm going to pass on to you some of the beauty hints they contain. But right now there are so many excellent letters I've kept busy just reading them. And I do want to thank you all for your letters and your help. You were just grand!
