ROSENWALD FELLOWSHIPS FOR 1938 ARE ANNOUNCED

34 Negroes Share $85,000 Fund For Further Study

CHICAGO, May 4—(ANP)—Fellowship awards by the Julius Rosenwald Fund to 34 Negroes were announced this week by E. R. Embree, president of the fund. Awards to white southerners were announced last week.

Approximately $85,000 has been devoted to fellowships this year, Mr. Embree said. The individual amounts range from a few hundred dollars upward, and average around $1,500. The awards to white fellows are restricted to those who are making their careers in the south, and who propose to work on problems with a distinct bearing upon that region. The awards to Negroes are not limited geographically or as regards fields of interest, and the fellows are permitted to work with the fullest freedom. Among the awards to Negroes the field of sociology claims seven, the largest number of fellows in one group. Biology, drama, economics, and history have three each, chemistry and language and literature two each, and there is one each in physics, political science, mathematics, music and creative writing.

Awards are made once a year by a committee consisting of Dr. Will W. Alexander, director of Farm Security Administration, Dr. Charles S. Johnson, of Fisk university, Mr. Henry A. Moore, secretary of the John Simeon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation, Mr. Edwin R. Embree, president of the Julius Rosenwald Fund, and Mr. Raymond Paty, director for fellowships of the fund.

There were 18 awards to white scholars and $4 to Negro students. Those receiving awards in the Negro group and the field in which they will work, follow:

Fred W. Alsop, head of the Science department, Morristown college, Morristown, Tenn.; zoological studies at the University of Pennsylvania.

FANNIN S. BELOHER, assistant professor of English, director of dramatics, West Virginia State college; studies in drama at Yale university.

Arna Bontemps, writer, Chicago, Illinois; creative writing.

Spilsford R. Brazel, dean of men, Morehouse college, Atlanta; studies in economic at Columbia university.

Local Kappas Observe Guide Right Week

The Durham chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity along with other chapters throughout the nation will bring before the public an educational program for the youth which has become known as "Guide Right Week" (May 8-16). The purpose of this movement, which has been going on for several years, is to help the young man to discover himself before leaving high school to enter college. To explain, many boys enter college with no specific educational purpose. Many who are skilled in various fields lose sight of such skill and enter college to pursue an A. B. or B. S. degree when he should follow the type of course offered by some technical institution or directly into one of the trades.

By means of questionnaires, conferences, lectures, forums, and self-analysis blanks, the talents of the young man are possibly discovered and he is then advised to pursue the course for which he seems best fitted, thusly saving him a great loss of time and money which would be necessarily involved in the trial and error method of seeking a vocation.

The movement tends to engage the attention of parents, teachers, business and professional men, the tradesmen, churches and schools; and is thrown open to the public through the church by soliciting the services of pastors to include the idea in their morning sermons. This year we are confronted with "Mother's Day". Hence, the committee is asking the pastors of all the churches to consider the unique relation of mother and son. To bring greater joy to the hearts of mothers by including in this "Mother's Day" sermon words of wisdom to the son, which will guide him rightly into some useful field of life's endeavor.

The following is the Guide Right Proclamation for 1933 issued by the Grand Polemarch of Kappa Alpha Psi, Theopolis M. Mann.

Commencing Sunday, May 8th and continuing through Saturday, May 16, 5,000 college-trained men of Kappa Alpha Psi will sponsor what has been designated as Guide Right Concentration Week.

The chief purpose of the week will be to contact Negro high school senior boys, and other interested young men throughout the nation, and concentrate their attention upon thinking through their further preparations for success in life in terms of a definite, suitably chosen life work. To this end elaborate plans have already been perfected, including mass meetings, methods of self-analysis and expert counselor service for the boys, radio addresses, forum discussions, and other special features.

NORTH WILKESBORO, May 3.—The old worn out gag that his pistol went off when he stumbled and fell was used here effectively this week by C. V. Lloyd, North Wilkesboro policeman who testified before a coroner's jury that he killed little 13-year-old Willie Howell Negro boy of this city when he was chasing him after he had found him with two other boys trying to break into a bakery.

Mrs. Laura Howell, elderly grandmother of the boy labelled as false the rumors circulated here that she had accepted an amount of $50 as a bribe to drop the case against the policeman. She also denied that she had threatened suit against the town of North Wilkesboro.

"I have put the matter in the hands of the Lord and when He gets through it will be no use for anybody to say this, that or the other, said Mrs. Howell." According to the officer young Howell was killed at the rear of the bakery in an alley. The other two boys escaped the officer testified. After hearing the testimony of the officer the coroner's jury composed entirely of white men, held that the boy came to his death by accident.

KERNERSVILLE USHERS TO MEET SUNDAY

The Ushers of Kernersville, North Carolina will present as their main speaker, on Sunday May 8, L. E. Austin, who is President of the N. C. State Ushers Association. The program arranged by Mrs. Pearl Matthews will consist of vocal selections by Miss Beatrice Hayes and C. H. Friends; papers by Mrs. Millie Williams and Miss Frances Taylor; remarks by G. E. Brown, J. W. Doak, Mrs. Pearl Felder, J. H. Friends, (President). The welcome address by Mrs. C. L. Johnson will be responded to by Mrs. Ida Wright.

Music for this occasion will be furnished by a special choir and the closing remarks will be made by the pastor, Rev. J. H. Ledwell.

L. J. SPAULDING LEADS FIGHT TO SAVE YOUTHS

L. J. Spaulding, local business man, has led in the fight to save the lives of three young men who have been sentenced to die for an attack on a white woman. One of the boys, James Outlaw, has already been killed by the state but the other two, Epperson Outlaw and John Gardner, were granted thirty-day reprieves by the Governor as result of Mr. Spaulding's efforts. The fight was greatly aided by Dr. J. N. Mills who used his influence with the local branch of the NAACP to secure funds. Attorney M. Hugh Thompson has given a great deal of legal aid and it was he who conferred with Governor Hoey in the interest of the boys.

Mr. Spaulding stated that he became interested in the case when the father of two of the boys for the use of the telephone.

369th INFANTRY TO HAVE FIRST NEGRO COLONEL AS COMMANDING OFFICER

NEW YORK, May 4—(ANP)—Col. B. O. Davis, ranking Negro officer in the United States army, is to become commander of the 369th Infantry of New York state. Governor Herbert H. Lehman announced Wednesday in Albany that Col. Davis had been appointed by the War Department as an instructor from the regular army to the 369th and that he in turn was appointing him commander of the regiment which is part of the state militia. Col. Davis will take up his duties on July 1.

This is the last of a series of rapid changes made during the past few weeks and which have revamped the leadership of the regiment. Col. Joseph A. Munday white, was appointed to the colonely last March, succeeding Col. Grimley, also white, who retired under charges. Major Chauncey Hooper was then promoted to it. Colonel, a post which had previously been filled always by white officers.

For the first time, this regiment, famous in peace and heroic in war, will have Negro officers in complete control. The 8th Illinois, the only other complete Negro regiment in the country, and located at Chicago, has always had Negro officers except when they were cashiered during the World war while the regiment was in France. The 369 has been commanded by several famed and aristocratic white men, including Col. William Jay Schieffelin and Col. Arthur W. Little. Likewise for the first time, Colonel Davis, one of the ablest officers in the army, a man who would grace brigadier-general's epauletts with dignity, will for the first time command a regiment. He has been denied active duty by the implacable bigotry and prejudice of the United States army because his rank would have placed him above white officers. Instead, he has been shunted about to different schools. For years he was commandant at Tuskegee institute; he is at present stationed at Wilberforce university.

Governor Lehman, in his statement, said, "When Colonel Davis reports for duty as Regular Army instructor of the 369th Infantry, he will be commissioned as a Colonel of the New York National Guard thus, becoming not only the instructor, but the Commanding Officer as well."

NO FEDERAL LAW VIOLATED IN KIDNAPPING OF BRIDE

NEW YORK, May 4.—The Federal Bureau of Investigation (G-Men) has indicated that the Lindbergh kidnapping act was not violated when the white bride of William Stewart, colored, was taken forcibly from her honeymoon apartment in Chicago, and returned to New York in charge of her relatives and a doctor.

The NAACP, which has been trying to get the Department of Justice to act in kidnapping and lynching cases involving colored people, requested an investigation by the G-Men as soon as the alleged kidnapping of Stewart's bride was made public. The NAACP previously had opposed the Ab Young kidnapping and lynching in 1931 to the G-Men because Young was taken across the Tennessee-Miss. line and lynched. The department failed to act.

The NAACP also reported the Claude Neal kidnapping and lynching in 1934, when Neal was taken from Alabama into Fla. and lynched. The department also refused to act here. In calling the department's attention to the Stewart case, the Association acted merely on principle and not from any interest in the details of the Stewart interracial marriage tangle.

T. J. MOORE TO BE INSTALLED AT CHRISTIAN CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

During the two-week period, May 9-22, the United Christian Congregational Church at the corner of Beaman and Pine Sts. will hold installation services for Rev. Thomas Jefferson Moore. Pastors and choirs from most of the city's churches will take part in these meetings.

On Monday night, May 9, Rev. J. H. Thomas and his choir from Mt. Vernon Baptist church will have charge; Tuesday night, Rev. T. C. Graham and choir from West Durham Baptist Church; Wednesday night, Rev. W. A. Green from Northside; Thursday night, Rev. J. S. Stewart from Gethsemane Church; and Friday night, Rev. E. W. Lassiter of Orange Grove. Rev. Jefferson's sermon Sunday morning will be "Correcting Wrong Ideas of Religion." During the second week of this meeting the speakers will be: Reverends J. T. Tabrom, S. P. Perry, and on Friday night May 20, the Durham Ushers' Union will have charge and L. H. Austin, president of the state Ushers Association, will speak. Sunday, May 22 is installation day and the sermon at three o'clock will be delivered by Dr. Stanley C. Harrell, pastor of the Congregational at Christian Church on West Main St.

Lincoln Hospital Observe National Hospital Day

Thursday, May 12, is to be celebrated at Lincoln Hospital as National Hospital Day. This date, which is the birthday of Florence Nightingale, is an annual celebration and is observed by practically all of the hospitals in the country, having been inaugurated May 12, 1921 by the American Hospital Association. The celebration at Lincoln Hospital will feature open house and a grand reunion of all of the babies who have been born at the hospital during the past five years.

Beginning at 10:30 A. M. the program for the day will feature conducted tours of all departments of the hospital. These tours will show how and what is being done at Lincoln and promise to be highly informative. There will also be exhibits and displays representative of the work done in all of the various departments of the hospital. The surgical department will set up in the operating room a display in the manner in which a major operation is planned and carried

Bennett College Holds Dedication Of Dormitory

GREENSBORO, N. C.—On Sunday evening Bennett College dedicated a new dormitory, the fourth building given to the college by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pfeiffer of New York City, naming it the Annie Merner Hall, in honor of Mrs. Pfeiffer. Annie Merner Hall, together with a more recent gift of $100,000 for endowment, makes a total of $447,000 which these friends have contributed to Bennett College.

At a joint service which closed the Twelfth Annual Home-making Institute, Dr. Arthur D. Wright, president of the Southern Education Foundation, Washington, D. C., spoke on "The Contribution of Modern Education to Present Day Society." At this time announcement was made that the new library, the gift of the General Education Board, to be constructed this summer at a cost of $100,000 is to be named the Thomas F. Holgate Library in honor of Dr. Thomas F. Holgate of Evanston, Ill., treasurer of the Bennett College Board of Trustees and also of the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The dedicatory service was led by Mrs. W. H. C. Goode, president of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, of Sidney, Ohio. In the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Pfeiffer on account of the illness of Mr. Pfeiffer, Mrs. A. K. Rower of New York City accepted the keys in her behalf from the architect, Odie Clay Poundstone of Atlanta. Mrs. J. W. Cone, chairman of the Buildings and Grounds Committee of the Board of Trustees, Greensboro, accepted the keys on behalf of the board and Mrs. Jane H. Freeman of Delaware, Ohio gave the invocation. The sophomore class, which occupies the building, assisted in the service. Miss Merna Tate of the college faculty, chairman of committee on dedication, arranged the service.

Music was very beautifully rendered by the college choir, directed by Dr. R. Nathaniel Dett.
