Notes From DURHAM'S BLUE BOOK

BY F. MORINE DIXON

I heard from Ruth Mason the other day. The luck lady has a position as a "school marm" down in sunny Florida. How I envy her basking in the sunlight getting vitamins A through Z; and I can only get as far south as the second floor. (Medical Department if you please)

We regret to hear that Geneva Whitted Glover (pianist for the Swansons) is confined in Lincoln Hospital for an indefinite period of time. We hope that she will soon be back on the job again.

Virginia Williamson was guest soloist at the Pine Street Presbyterian Church on last Sunday. From reports that I have heard, she seemed to have gone over big. Virginia was the accompanist to "Uncle Dave and the Swansons" in Chapel Hill Monday night in the absence of Mrs. Glover.

Mae Spaulding was the charming hostess for the "Little Blams" on Saturday night. The affair was as pretty as it was enjoyable. The first prize a lovely umbrella was won by E. Bailey; the second a luteon set by Marie Paula, the Booby by Helen Whitted, and guest prize lipstick towels by Ruth Edwards Spurlock.

Girls! Girls! I'm utterly surprised. It is way past March the twenty first now and that means positively no more fur coats. Please don't let me see another one. If you can't make up your mind about your new spring outfit I will be glad to give you a few hints, because I know that the uncertainty of what you shall wear is the only thing that is causing you hesitation. There are so many lovely things that I can't blame you for being doubtful. So make up your mind, and I'll be looking for you on Sunday.
