

'LUCKY' MORRIS TO DIE MAY 19th

CHARMING CO-EDS

BENNETT COLLEGE STUDENTS during leisure hours linger informally in a corner of the living room of Annie Merner Hall, sophomore dormitory. Dorothea Taylor, of Pinehurst, North Carolina who was High Priestess at the recent Greek Festival at the college, is seated at the piano. It is almost time to sing the "Swan Song" for this school year. Commencement activities are held this year from May 28-29.

Eel Will Go To Gas Chamber

RALEIGH, N. C. (FLASH)—Unless executive clemency is forthcoming immediately, Arthur "Lucky" Morris, known to police as the "Eel", will go to his death in the gas chamber at Raleigh on Friday May 19.

In a decision handed down by the North Carolina Supreme Court this week, no error was found in the trial of Morris for burglary last year in February which resulted in a sentence of death being pronounced on the youth.

Morris was apprehended here last year after he had terrorized Durham homes for several months in a series of burglaries that baffled local police authorities. An attempt to cash a Liggett and Myers check taken from one of the homes he had burglarized was the beginning of the end for the Eel.

David Fisher, another young Durham Negro, implicated as an accessory to the crimes committed by Morris, escaped with a sentence of from five to seven years.

Churches

DURHAM—Services of unusual interest were conducted at the church last Sunday morning with the minister preaching from the subject, "The Great Salvation."

At the evening services, which are held at 7:30, the Junior Church took over with Associate Pastor Hubert G. then doing the preaching.

Sunday, May 7, promises to be equally as interesting. Rev. Humphries will preach from the practical subject, "Dreams and Dreamers." For the night service, an evangelistic message will be delivered by the pastor. The choir will also feature some of the old hymns of the church.

Monday night following, the monthly church social will be held in the dining hall of Saint

Matthew. The entire membership is to be entertained free with a repast while the stewards and trustees act as hosts to this affair. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

MOUNT CALVARY JUNIOR CHURCH MAKES PROGRESS

The Junior Church of the Mount Calvary Holiness church met Tuesday night at the church on Glenn Street. They had a successful meeting although the pastor, Rev. Miss Gertrude Norris was absent. The Junior church is now under the leadership of Rev. Miss E. Whitley who is making much progress with the young people. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to come out and enjoy yourself in these meetings.
