Eagles Prep For Aggies And Saints

DURHAM — Back in Durham to defend the home nest again, the rangy Eagles of North Carolina College are preparing to withstand the attacks of Saint Paul of Lawrenceville, Va. on February 24, and the Aggies of A and T College on Wednesday, the 28th. The Saints of Lawrenceville will come here with the intention of avenging the defeat which the Eagles handed them last week on their home court to spoil the record which they had established this season. Until the Eagles came they had won every game which they had played at home.
As is always the case, the A and T game will draw fans from all sections of this and neighboring States and will be among the best clashes seen any where this season. The Aggies, who have given some fine exhibitions this season and who have lost some heartbreaking close games, will not have the mental obstacle of the Aggies' invincibility since Hampton showed that victory was not out of the reach of the Eagles' conference opponents.

Hillside Downs Chapel Hill

DURHAM — The Tigers of Orange County Training School in Chapel Hill threatened the excellent record of the Hillside Hornets when the two teams met here Tuesday night, February 20; however, Hillside came out on the big end of the 37-24 score. Hillside began the game in top form and while the Tigers were becoming accustomed to the large court, went on to rack up 14 points in the first quarter, to five for the visitors. Something happened in the second quarter and the Hornets were held to 4 points. The halftime score was 10-18 with Hillside leading.
When play was resumed for the second half, Chapel Hill began to find the basket with amazing regularity and succeeded in scoring 12 points in a single quarter with Jones leading the way. However, the final quarter saw Hillside move farther out in front with 10 additional points as the game ended 37-24.
In the girls' preliminary, being was a bit tougher for Hillside and the game seemed at its peak as the timekeeper's gun ended the game with the female Hornets leading 18-15.
meeting will be held at the home of Miss Cornelius McNeil, 423 Piedmont Avenue.
