

Pictorial REVIEW

1
9
4
0

Interesting Events And Interesting People Who Figured In Last Years News Parade

President Frank P. Graham, of the University of North Carolina was the principal speaker at the dedication of two new buildings at A & T College. President Graham is shown delivering the address at the edicatory exercises, President Bluford is seated on the rear—right of the speaker.

One of the most heinous crimes of last year was the blasting of the home of Mrs. Nerva Lyons at 1017 Rock Street. Mrs. Lyons was instantly killed, but four of the occupants of the home escaped with their lives. Two were slightly injured.

For the first time in the history of the United States the face of a Negro appeared on a U. S. postage stamp. It was that of the late Booker T. Washington, founder of the Tuskegee Institute. The above photo shows C. C. Spaulding, president of North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company purchasing $500.00 worth of stamps at the Tuskegee Post Office to be used by his Company.

The North Carolina Baptist Convention which was held in Raleigh was one of the best according to delegates and visitors. The public gathering which included ministers from various other churches in Raleigh was a most momentous event. Several of the dignitaries are shown seated on the platform while the principal address was being delivered.

J. W. V. Cordice, Jr. son of Dr. J. W. V. Cordice who entered New York University last fall as a first year medical student. Young Cordice is considered one of the most brilliant students of ever matriculate at NYU.

The national Basketball Tournament held at Fayetteville State Normal was attended by outstanding Basketball teams from various sections of the nation. After battling for most of the week the Gary, Ind., Basketeers emerged as the nation's championship team.

As is usually the case the Algonquin Tennis Club social affairs are unusually brilliant. The pow-wow held last year was one of the season's top-ranking social events.

The birthday party given the late Dr. S. L. Warren was one of the last major affairs attended by the noted physician and business man. Dr. Warren is shown seated at the banquet table together with Dr. C. C. Spaulding and Shepard. Mrs. P. N. Carter, assistant superintendent, is seated at the left of Dr. Warren.

447542