Association Organizes National Wide Drive For Jobs, and Abolition of Discrimination In National Defense

New York — A call to its members and the American public throughout the country to galvanize public opinion in their communities to create action against the segregation and discrimination against Negroes in the Army, Navy and Air Corps, and the barring of Negroes, adult and youth, from jobs in national defense industries, was announced here today by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The campaign, according to association officials, will culminate in the celebration of "National Defense Day" on Sunday, January 26, when mass meetings will be held in key cities throughout the country. National groups including church, welfare, fraternal, social and labor organizations that have worked with the Association in the fight to pass the Anti-lynching bill will be asked to cooperate in the campaign, the announcement said. The association urged its members to work upon ministers to set aside part of their Sunday services on January 26 for the voicing of protests against discrimination under the national defense program. The plan calls for flooding Congress with post cards, letters and telegrams, urging the abolition of all discrimination in the country's armed forces and the opening up of job opportunities to Negroes in defense industry in the skilled as well as unskilled occupations. The plight of Negro youth, under the national defense set up, will also be pictured with the participation of NAACP youth councils in the drive.

Further information about the conduct of the drive will be announced shortly, Association officials said.

is well prepared to play its part in national defense. There are adequate supplies of foodstuffs and plenty of soil fertility to meet any call that may come to the American farmer.

Much of the credit for that must go to the agriculture market ing cooperatives, which have done more than any other agency over the years to put the farmer on a business like production and distribution basis. They have done a fine work in promoting better methods of soil utilization, of harvesting, of shipping, etc. They have attempted not only to obtain a better return for the farmer, but to assure the consumer of a dependable supply of farm crops at a reasonable figure.

What you gave is more important than what you get if you got what you wanted. If these paragraphs sound silly to you as some we read, they are worse than we suspected.

BMB—The man I work under is jealous of me and I know that he is jealous of me and I know that he is against me and I want to know what to do as I don't have many customers now!

Ans:—Why don't you look around and see if you can't make a change. It would be well to make a number of different contacts and get several different things lined up before this change is made so that you will better yourself. You aren't happy working where you are now and it is time that you did something about it.

AES—I was in a contest and they sent me a letter that I had passed the judges and for me to send them one dollar and I would receive a $75.00 Ice Box or the same amount in cash. Will I get it?

Ans:—I have reasons to doubt your getting the cash or the ice box either, and would suggest that you read your letter again they mailed you regarding the contest. I don't advise your sending in any more money. It seems to me that you are one among quite a number who expect to win the prize.

GB—We were supposed to get married a week before Xmas and now he has put me off until Xmas and I wish to know if we will get married or not? Is he true?

Ans:—He joking in fact he doesn't want to marry you how or later. This fellow has brought you enough embarrassment it is my suggestion that you stop going with him altogether. Neither has he been true to you he leaves your house and goes around the corner and visits a certain girl that stops speaking to you around the first of December.

NMR—Have been going with this boy 3 years and he asked me to marry him. If I married him would he live with me alone or would his mother have to live with us and ruin our married life? Tell me what to do?

Ans:—He wants you for his wife more than anyone else in the world and you of course realize that his mother will have to live with you if you did get married. You are taking the wrong attitude toward life why don't you accept his mother just as you would accept him. She is sweet and easy to get along with and if you tried, you all three could be happy. Although if you are going to be jealous and spiteful do not marry the boy under any circumstances.

CBA—Do you think that this friend of mine will be released from prison anytime soon?

Ans:—No not in the immediate future. He will have to serve the greater portion of the specified time that was given him when he was tried.

DBM—My husband tells me he loves me very much. He takes care of the home and I do not work. He never comes home as he should and I want to know if he has another woman?

Ans:—No he's spending a good portion of his time gambling. It would be well to try to keep him at home evenings as his staying out may lead him to doing things that wouldn't be complimentary to a married man. You have too much time on your hands why don't you get a part time job or become interested in club and church work? Under no circumstances should you leave him as you seem to feel like doing at this time.

Ans:—When the house becomes vacant he will give his consent to move in under one condition that is that you help him by arranging to work some yourself. It isn't possible for you to hold down a regular job but you arrange to help in some way such as getting a couple of days a week or some afternoon work. If you don't then he can't pay the rent.

BEAUTY AND ROMANCE
SPONSORED BY LARIEUSE BEAUTY BUREAU

The Larieuse Beauty Bureau was established by the Godefroy Manufacturing Company to study methods of preserving women's natural beauty, and to make the results of this research available to the public.

A friend of mine once told me that the only time she really rested was in bed when she was recuperating from an illness. Then, forced by circumstances, she actually relaxed and made the most of her opportunity to rest—if only for a few days—the duties and cares that occupied her waking hours every day. She was a smart woman because she had learned to turn tedious moments into benefits. Here's how she did it:

First, she cleansed the polish off her nails. Next, she applied a good hand lotion to her hands, and little pads of cotton saturated with oil to her nails to soften the cuticle so that when she again was ready to be seen in public, her hands would be smooth and feminine-looking, her nails pliable and in good condition.

For ten or fifteen minutes three times a day, she lay napping with small squares of cotton wetted with warm boric acid solution on her eyelids. The soothing effect derived from this trick resulted in brighter eyes, with no red or blood-shot streaks to detract from their beauty. Moreover, because her eyes were encouraged to rest, the fatigue lines and circles around them gradually disappeared completely.

She tried giving herself simple facials and found them quite successful and easy to administer. She used a good cream, and allowed it plenty of time to seep into the pores. Then while she slept, while her body regained the strength it needed, she let these little beauty methods do their work—AND WITH AMAZING SUCCESS!

After only a few days of convalescing, my friend went back to her daily duties not only with her health fortified but with her beauty improved too. Wise woman!

It is, indeed, a simple and easy procedure—it worked with excellent results for a woman over forty-five, and it can do the same for you. Frankly, the benefit accruing therefrom far exceeds the amount of effort put into it.

Next time you are indisposed to the point of having to be bed-ridden, don't fret and fume because you think you are wasting time, or because life at the moment is tiresome and tedious. It needn't be if you make good use of it in trying to improve upon your appearance. If you do the little things that make for beauty and loveliness.

There are many ways of making yourself attractive—they just take time, that's all. So, when the opportunity practically falls into your lap, take advantage of it.

I'm sure some of my readers can add to my friend's beauty plan and, if so, I should like to hear from them.
