

RED CAPS

igation of employment conditions among red caps, two passenger agents of the largest railroads in the country stated that 10 cents charge system is not satisfactory to the railroads.
"2. I has created for you intricate and difficult problems of administration which are surely burdensome to railroads who should be devoting all their energies to serving the public and the nation.
"3. Despite the best efforts of red caps, the system has caused passengers to complain to railroad management repeatedly that red caps do not give efficient service.
"4. It has materially slowed up red cap service in the stations.
"5. It has destroyed the pleasant relationship which formerly existed between red cap and passenger and which used to be one of the assets of railroad travel.

"6. In the recent senate investigation of employment conditioning among red caps showed, it is beyond doubt an imposition and annoyance which the travelling public regards with unqualified resentment."
In making the proposals for inclusion of the service in regular passenger rates, union spokesmen stated, "Some may say that the inclusion of this charge in passenger fares is impossible since all passengers do not use red cap service and therefore should not be charged for that which they do not use. To this argument we wish to call attention to the baggage service for which all passenger are charged and for which only a small percentage of passengers apply. The circumstances surrounding the charge in passenger fare for baggage service would be similar to the charge for red cap service if included in the passenger's fare."

Kentucky State as assistant secretary-treasurer and director of publicity (last year's appointment was made after the Conference meeting).
The Conference voted to take the Conference Track and Tennis meet to Wilberforce in 1942.
Tennessee State and Philander College pledged full support in the Conference this coming year and promised a more varied athletic program. Louisville Municipal did not have any representative at the meeting.
This is the essence of the eleventh annual M. W. A. A. meeting.

ROSE BOWL

retary of the Durham Chamber of Commerce, the local daily newspaper, the PRESIDENT of Duke University, the local radio station and various other centers and men of influence, all of whom have returned the same answer: The only difference is that some attempted to evade the issue by saying that all tickets have been taken. BUT as early as Monday morning with tickets being sold right and left to other persons in the long line of buyers, whenever a Negro would appear at the window he was politely told that there would be no accommodations for colored people, and hence he could not be sold a ticket.
Who is to blame will possibly never be known. In the absence of the Rose Bowl officials who had not arrived as early as Tuesday morning, there was some effort, on the part of the athletic department of the university, to shift the blame which prohibits Negroes from attending the game to Pasadena, California, the home of the tournaments of Roses.

It is hard for Negroes to understand how they could be told that no tickets would be sold them to the Rose Bowl game, but that if there were Japanese desiring to see the game they could get tickets. These Japanese who bomb our cities, blow up our ships and murder our citizens may know something about human relations that is a secret to their darker brethren.
"Thirteen million American Negroes want to know if only white Americans are to be permitted to fight and perhaps die for our country in the Navy."
It was pointed out that the Navy's present policy is doing more than almost any other thing to dampen enthusiasm of Negroes for all-out aid to their country.
In spite of radio and newspaper appeals for enlistment, Negroes are still being turned down by the Navy for service in any division except the messmen branch.

State Teachers college in Fayetteville. The nation's leading "moral builders" were present for the affair and participated in the ceremony, and 400 enlisted men of Fort Bragg and the 29-piece military band of the 16th battalion in the field artillery replacement center were present.
Opening the exercises at 2:30 P. M. the band played "The Star Spangled Banner." Chaplain H. J. C. Bowden of the of the 16th gave the invocation.
The first speaker was Col. Frederick S. Strong, Jr., fourth Zone construction quartermaster. Following his address, Brig. Gen. Breton B. Somervell, chief of the construction division in the quarter-master corps, turned the keys of $53,000 Soldiers' Recreation center building over to Mark McCole, locater near the Fayetteville key of the Federal Security agent.

Harper Sibley, president, of the United States organization, spoke briefly and stated that the USO Recreation centers are being built as a meeting place for soldiers and civilians.
Among the huge group attending were M. G. Blackon, supervisor of recreation among Negroes in North Carolina; Dr. W. L. Cassio of Durham, Arthur W. Hardy of the army and navy department of the YMCA; Louis L. Watson, YMCA secretary and Mrs. Carolyn Cassio, YWCA secretary, will direct the activities of the center.

It's not exactly original . . . but the claim of the St. Louis Post Dispatch, that the nation needs most "a good ten cent cigar", is a natural follow-up.

Washington, D. C. - An immediate cancellation of the lease of the Air Terminal Services, Inc., whose restaurant management at the National Airport here refused to serve the Southernaires radio quartet recently, has been asked by the legal committee of the D. C. branch of the NAACP.
In a letter to General Donald H. Connelly, administrator of the Civil Aeronautics Authority, Leon A. Ransom, legal committee chairman, stated: "It should need no argument to convince you or any of your subordinates, charged with the responsibility for administration of the National Airport, of the fact that all facilities afforded in interstate transportation must be furnished without discrimination on account of race or color.
We therefore ask you for an immediate declaration of policy that will be enforced from this day on in regard to the use of all terminal facilities elects to insist upon discrimination, then we ask you immediately to cancel such lease, inasmuch as it is voided by the constitutional practice of the lessee."
The Southernaires, Spencer Odum, J. Toney, Lowell Peters, Homer Smith and William Ermondson, were on their way from Williamsburg, Va., to Cincinnati, Ohio, and were forced by bad weather to stop over at the National Airport. When they went into the dining room to get breakfast they were given menus and were about to order when the assistant manager of the dining room and the manager of the dining room told them they could not be served because white waitresses could not serve Negro customers and Negroes could not be served in the same dining room with whites under the laws of Virginia. The officials claimed that Virginia had jurisdiction over the airport.

NO BARGAINING FOR . . . 7-0
By RUTH TAYLOR
We are at war—actual open war at last. And yet—we have been in a war ever since Hitler first laid down in "Mein Kampf" his plan of world domination. The trouble has been that we did not open our eyes to its verity at a time when we could have won without armed conflict.
We have learned in bloodshed that the day of the formal declaration of war is over. They attack first now and talk afterwards. The war against this country by the totalitarian powers had no formal declaration to mark its inception—but it has been waged for years. Infiltration, agitation among divided nationality groups, appeals to racial and religious prejudices, economic pressures (the polite term for blackmail), sabotage, rabble rousing by power corrupted demagogues—do we need to see goose stepping in the streets of Washington to recognize an invasion?

There is no sense in being in a fight without putting forth every effort to win it. Every last one of us is a soldier with a task to do—from the boys in the camps, learning how to get along together as well as how to fight, to the housewife, studying how to make do and how to do without; from the business man reorganizing often not only his methods of operation but his product itself, to the child in school, learning history while it is being made.
War means sacrifice. We cannot bargain over the cost of freedom. Without freedom, we have nothing left. We must pay the full measure
