CHILDREN OF CARINI HOMES DEFY PRIEST TO VOTE CHOICE

CHICAGO, (A N P) — When the boys and girls in the Carini homes went to the polls Wednesday they elected 14-year-old Charles Brown as their "mayor." More than 200 children, both whites and Negroes, gave preference to Brown even though Father Luigi Giambastiani, white Catholic priest, advocates a policy of segregation among the Negro and white tenants in the project homes.

The Frances Cabrini homes have 586 dwelling units. Of this number, 117 are to be occupied by Negro families. Eighty-five are now housed in the project.

Father Luigi feels that the integration of Negroes into the homes will present an undesirable influence. In commenting on his mode of reasoning — he said:

"Separation of the two groups while not the ideal theoretical solution, is the only practical road to community brotherhood. Negroes have the Ida B. Wells project. Why do they want to come into this project where they

Mississippi Governor Promises Protection For Negro Prisoners

NEW YORK — Guaranty of the safeguard of George A. Burrows a cook who fled Mississippi after shooting his way out of a group intent upon his lynching for an alleged attempt to kiss a white woman was secured this week by Thurgood Marshall and Donald Christion, counsel for the NAACP. The NAACP appealed to Governor Dewey to act against the extradition of Burrows. Governor Dewey announced on March 10th that Burrows would be returned to his home state with the personal pledge of Governor Johnson of Mississippi that he would have the "full protection of the law."

Additional safety was assured Burrows in his being returned to Gulfport, Mississippi by train rather than in the automobile of the Mississippi sheriff who had come to New York to get him.

The NAACP announced that it is now in the process of obtaining competent counsel to defend Burrows when he reaches Gulfport.

As a result of routine police investigation Burrows was questioned and found by New York police not to be in possession of a draft card. Further questioning revealed that in 1942
