Hampton Pirates To Meet J. C. Smith In Season's First Game

BY WARREN GARDNER HAMPTON, Va. — Saturday, October 2, will mark the opening of another gridiron campaign for the Hampton Pirates who will clash with the Johnson C. Smith powerhouse on that day in a home game at Armstrong Field at 2:30 p. m. Coach Sylvius Moore, who took over the reins from James Little Train Griffin, now in the army, will field a team composed mainly of freshmen, built around a nucleus of six returning lettermen, some of whom, however, may be forced to yield their positions to hard charging newcomers.

Although no definite lineup has been announced, and backfield prospects are in abundance, Penic Harper of Commerce, Ga., and Theodore Cross of Annapolis, Md. two skillful performers from last year's frosh, may nab the starting berths at quarterback and right halfback, respectively. John Wesley Carroll, Jr., of Eastport, Md., looks good as left halfback, and Wesley "Buckwheat" Carter, veteran performer of Lexington, Va. is slated to start in the fullback slot.

Bureau of Public Relations, U. S. War Department TASTE WILL TELL—ASK SERGEANT LEWIS—The late Ignace Paderewski, former President Herbert Hoover, Mrs. Douglas MacArthur—these and other personages have enjoyed the cooking of Staff Sergeant James A. Lewis (left), veteran of the war that ended in 1918 and present mess sergeant at the Moses Lake Army Air Base, Washington. Son of a Civil War veteran, also a cook, Sergeant Lewis has a son in the service who, strangely enough, is a practitioner of the culinary art.

Other contenders are Tom Casey of Aliquippa, Pa., last year's freshman punting sensation, of New Bern, N. C. all-CIAA selection, who is being experimented with at several posts, Harold "Aec" Parker of Newport News, and Alegro Godley of Pantgo, N. C., as well as Horace Dismond and Wilbert Lovette, both freshmen and both from Hampton.

What to expect from the Pirate forward wall is a question. Henry "Mac" McIntosh of Lake Forest, Ill., heretofore a veteran, is anchored in the pivot position.

Johnnie Bailey, of Norfolk, who saw service last year, and newcomer Frederick Middleton of Charleston, S. C., are slugging tooth and claw for the left end slot, while William Cansi Estko, a freshman, of Richmond, and Sidney Rucker, a junior, of Harrisburg, Pa., will probably pass the test at the guard positions, with Glendi "Big John" Johns retaining his last year's position as tackle, and David Young, lanky freshman from High Point, N. C., as right end.

A & T College Meets Allen University In Opener Saturday

GREENSBORO — The A and T College Bulldogs, winners of last season's Flower Bowl Classic against Southern University, New Orleans at Jacksonville, Florida, by a comfortable margin of 14-6 before a crowd of 15,000, will begin their 1943 edition when they meet Allen University of Columbia, South Carolina, holders of the southeastern championship for 1942, at the Greensboro Memorial Stadium Saturday night, October 2nd at 8 o'clock.

Cotton, Powell, Doub, Fikes and Bill Saunders. Freshy "Tarzan" Fisher, Salisbury, tackle, tipping the scales at 215, can toss the pigskin a distance of 70 yards with ease. Charles Weaver, Chapel Hill, another frosh candidate for a halfback berth, a triple threat, shows great promise.

With A and T's large student body in attendance backed with fans from nearby U. S. Basic Training Center No. 10 and traditionally interested local fans, the opening tussle with Allen is expected to attract a crowd of 6,000 persons. Tutors DeBerry and Morrow, of the Bulldogs, and Mentor Pegues of the Allen Eleven have been drilling their men Camps confident of victory pronounce their teams ready to go.

Homecoming Four Quartet Wins WDNC Radio Broadcast Contest For Thirteen Weeks Program

Livingstone Opens 76th Year With Larger Enrollment

SALISBURY — Verifying earlier comments by college officials, tentative final enrollment figures for the first semester of Livingstone College show that the size of this year's student body has increased 25 per cent over the previous year. Dean F. D. Drew announces a current enrollment of 250 students to date.

Largely responsible for the increase is the matriculation of some 120 freshmen as compared with 93 last year. In addition, student mortality in the upper classes has declined, with almost three-fourths of last year's freshmen returning this year. The number of juniors is slightly above figures for the last session while seniors enrolled in about the same number. Thus the break down of total enrollment figures comprises 120 freshmen, 58 sophomores, 40 juniors and 30 seniors, plus two special students, to bring the total to 251. Dean Drew emphasized in releasing these figures that additions are to be made later when the registration lists are complete.

These Three were paired off, with the winner of the first week's mail-count receiving the right to meet the Third group. It was this Second program which brought more than Four Hundred of the Seven Hundred and Fifty Six votes cast by the audience to the Homecoming Four.
