NINE TAR HEELS WIN 4-H HONORS

A record-breaking total of nine young North Carolinians received national honors at the 4-H Club Congress in Chicago last week, according to Miss Mary Sue Moser, assistant club leader for the State College Extension Service.

Seven of the nine will receive college scholarships valued at $300 each. Another, Joan Penland of Clay County, winner in recreation and rural arts, received a free trip to the Club Congress. Ralph Brown of Iredell was a national winner in health, but no prize was offered in this project.

The scholarship winners are Carolyn Miller, Iredell, winner in girls' records; Pauline Howe, Gaston, home improvement; Wesley Manning, Pitt, farm safety; Nancy Pritchett, Guilford, poultry; Margaret Lee Stevens, Wayne, food preparation; Doris Strickland, Halifax, canning; and Evelyn Waugh, Surry, clothing.

The awards are made possible by the national business organizations which cooperate with the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, Inc., and the Cooperative Extension Service in sponsoring the 4-H Club program for teen-age rural youth of the nation.

The State's 4-H livestock judging team also made a good record in Chicago, placing 10th among 30 or more teams from throughout the nation. One member, Vance Yines, won an individual placing of eight in the nation. Other team members were Glen Reese, Bobby Gene Norris, and Hugh Hazaman, all of Watauga County. They were coached by C. H. Kirkman, assistant county agent.

Twenty-six State project winners from North Carolina attended the Club Congress. They were accompanied by Miss Moser and Fred H. Wagoner, assistant State leader. E. L. Norton, northeastern district agent, and Miss Rita DuBois, extension nutritionist. The group returned home Saturday, December 3.

HINTS TO HOMEMAKERS

Spots out, management specialist say! Valuable linens and clothes may be permanently spotted if stains are not removed before laundering. Hot water may set protein stains such as egg, blood, or meat juice, and soapsuds may set others such as coffee, tea, or fruit stains. Be safe, remove all stains before laundering. Keep a simple kit of supplies in a handy place so you can refer to it whenever a stain occurs.

General rules: Treat stains as soon as possible. Don't let stains dry because then they are very difficult and sometimes impossible to remove. If the stain is not greasy, try sponging it with cold water. Sugary stains are easily removed with clear water. If the stain contains grease, a dry-cleaning fluid or soapsuds may do. A fruit-flavored ice cream stain should be treated as a sugar, egg, grease, and fruit stain.

How to take out stains: Blood for fresh stain on white cottons or linens, soak in warm water. Wash in warm suds. For stubborn stain, use salt water solution (1-4 cup salt to 2 cups water). Do not use hot water first; it may set the stain. For washable colored or fine fabrics, sponge with warm water. Wash in lukewarm suds. For nonwashable fabrics, use absorbent first. Then sponge with warm water. Chewing gum stains on white cottons or linens—soak in cold and scrape off gum. If stain remains, sponge with dry cleaning fluid. Use the same directions for washable colored or fine fabrics. For nonwashable fabrics, sponge with dry cleaning fluid. If sugary stain remains, sponge with water.

Cream or ice cream on white cottons or linens—soak in cold water. If ice cream is fruit, berry, or chocolate, treat stain as such. Wash in warm suds. Rinse well. Cream or ice cream stains on washable colored or fine fabrics—sponge with cold water. Wash in lukewarm suds. Cream or ice cream stains on nonwashable fabrics—sponge with dry cleaning fluid to remove grease. Let dry; then sponge with cold water to remove egg or sugar stains.

Turkeys and livestock should make a good combination on the farm, says Herrick. Using a pasture every third year for turkeys which would make a good rotation plan for the Thanksgiving birds, would also keep the fields well-fertilized, he adds.

"Battleground" To Be Released Soon By MGM

NEW YORK CITY — When you see MGM's "Battleground," the first honest film of the Battle of the Bulge, you'll be amazed to watch such stars as Van Johnson, George Murphy, Ricardo Montalban and John Kodiak with a cast of 20 veterans of the 101st Airborne Division do the famous "Jive" drill with precision and excitement. And you'll be proud to know that it was Sgt. Samuel Jagers, a Negro who was flown to Hollywood to single-handedly whip the great cast into shape. For during the war, Sgt. Jagers, tired of the dull routine drills, created the "Jive Drill" at which Negro troops excelled. Its rhythm, fun and beauty have made excellent soldiers of thousands of young recruits.

Jagers, 6 ft. 6 inches worth of drilling authority is New Orleans born and Southern University educated. He now lives with his family in Tacoma, Washington. He loves to issue crisp commands in syncopated rhythm. So popular was he on the MGM studio that Robert Pirosh, a 35th Infantry Division soldier who wrote "Battleground" called Jagers a "Human metronome."

Arson Believed Cause Of Fire Battlesboro

BATTLESBORO — Edgecombe County authorities suspected arson in the investigation to find the person or persons responsible for setting fire to the frame Negro school house Tuesday night.

The fire was first discovered about 6 o'clock in the evening and firemen answering the alarm extinguished flames in two separate sections of the building. Another alarm was turned in about 10 o'clock the same night, but when the firemen arrived this second time, the blaze had become uncontrollable. The building burned to the ground and left only two chimneys standing amidst the ruins.

The building had housed 250 students and six teachers. An emergency measure, some classes are being held in the First Baptist Church. Sheriff Tom Bardin admitted that he had a lead in the case but wasn't ready to disclose his findings.

The building was reported to have been insured at a nominal figure.

strongest bulwark for peace. If it touches us in childhood, it will remain the rod and staff of our adult life.

By placing a high value upon church and Sunday School attendance, regardless of creed, we deepen the faith of our children and make a lasting spiritual contribution to their growth.

We fathers and mothers of America must "take" or "send" our boys and girls to Sunday School, for religion is likewise the strongest link in the chain of family unity. And united families, with firm spiritual faith, not only spell happy, wholesome childhood, but furnish one of the surest and best ways for the preservation of democracy.

Sunday School attendance makes for the well-balanced life!

So, fellow Americans, let's take the family to Sunday School, and give them a heavenly endowed fellowship in the greatest educational institution on earth.

With improved quality as the keynote, the 1950 Fords introduce a new treatment of the grille and parking lights, a colorful new crest — the first in Ford history — a new ornamental rear deck handle and lock, new instrument knobs, new and larger horn ring, foam rubber front seats with non-sag seat springs and a complete new line of interior trim fabrics. In addition the powerful Ford V-8 and 6-cylinder engines have been improved to give Ford the quietest and smoothest running engines ever produced by the Ford Motor Company.

American Negro Repertory Players Presented "Angel Street" In B. N. Duke Auditorium November 22

The American Negro Repertory Players were presented by the station wagon workers of the Harriet Tubman Branch Y. W. C. A. on Tuesday night in the production "Angel Street." The play was given in the B. N. Duke Auditorium, North Carolina College at Durham.

Under the guidance of the nationally famous director, Milton Wood, this star-studded Broadway cast gave to hundreds of play lovers an excellent presentation that will be vividly remembered some time to come.

Jaqueline Levy as Mrs. Manningham, Oden Browne as Mr. Manningham, and Milton Wood as Rough, the detective, took the leading roles. They were ably supported by Helen Marsh and Isabelle Cooley representing the maids Elizabeth and Nancy respectively. Patrons and leaders in the Young Women's Christian Association have been very vocal in their praise of the artistry of the cast and the high type of production chosen.

This event represents one of many features which Y. W. C. A. groups are planning in their efforts to secure a station wagon. With the decentralization of group work now carried on in various sections of Durham, the extension of some services in Durham County; for the effective running of summer camp; for attendance at various meetings and many conferences; and other routine work of staff, a station wagon for transportation and hauling has become a must for Harriet Tubman Branch.
