State Rep. Roy Taylor of Black Mountain introduced Col-trane.

In remarks made prior to the principal address, Ruben J. Daley, Asheville attorney spoke on behalf of the Negro people of Western North Carolina declaring that this newly completed wing for Negroes was a step forward in the march forward of a race, and that this dedication service was a "more important news item than any story of hooded mobs."

The new wing also contains kitchen facilities for the entire hospital and a 1,800 volume library. The addition will be staffed by Negro physicians, nurses and other personnel.

Patients for the new building will first be Western North Carolina residents now hospitalized at the McCain Sanatorium. Following these transfers, Applications for admittance now on file will be processed.

of Durham came through with an easy victory over Maurice Anderson and L. Martin, of Philadelphia for the veteran's Men's doubles crown in straight sets of 6-0.

Mrs. Doreen Jackson triumphed over Mrs. Charles Herbin, both of Greensboro for the women's singles championship. The team of Charles Herbin and Mrs. Q. X. Holt defeated the Dr. Simkins and Mrs. Herbin duo for mixed doubles honors.

Althea Gibson, national woman's singles champion, was soundly thrashed in an exhibition match by a male competitor, of Greensboro.

The tourney was sponsored by the Windsor tennis club and the North Carolina tennis association.

Eastern Star Service Held In Masonic Temple

ASHEVILLE

The first annual Eastern Star Memorial Service was held on last Thursday at 8:30 at the Masonic Hall.

Services were held in memorial of Brother E. W. Pearson, Rev. R. M. Mitchell, Sr., and Sister Anna K. Patterson.

The ritualistic service was performed by Past Patron Rev. William A. Davidson of Canton. Rev. A. C. Cooke delivered the sermon.

Music was given by the O. E. S. group. The service was largely attended by the Masons and Stars. Guest stars were from Canton. This service is to be an annual affair.

When Woolworth's first moved to its present location, the store did maintain restroom facilities for Negroes. However, it was closed several years ago leaving no facilities at all which its Negro customers may use.

In the letter to the churches in which the Committee asked the pastors to read to their congregation, the "Committee for Jobs for Negroes" asked that a broad community-wide committee be formed immediately to press for establishment of adequate restroom facilities for Negroes, for the various downtown stores not now maintaining them.

A spokesman for the Committee further stated that the local Merchants Association had been contacted about this restroom problem. The Merchants Association Board of Directors, through its president, W. S. Burns, stated that the Association had no power in such a matter, and that anything done would have to be carried out with the individual stores.

It is well-known that a great many Negroes who trade in the downtown area irked by this restroom condition which forces them to leave the downtown area to find facilities to use.

Some stores pointed out to the committee that the reason that they do not maintain facilities for Negroes is that they do not have the space for such and that whites would object to using the same facilities with Negroes. However, a spokesman for the committee has observed that the same restroom facilities are used by both Negro and persons in most filling stations in this area, many of these gas stations serving a tremendous number of people and their restrooms getting more uses than many of the downtown stores which claim that their white customers would object to using the same facilities with Negroes.

Dr. Edmonds, NCC Professor Makes New Jersey Talks

Dr. Helen G. Edmonds, professor of history at North Carolina College, Durham, arrived at Raleigh-Durham Airport Monday after filling two speaking engagements in New Jersey last Friday and Sunday.

On Friday, July 3, the NCC historian and noted lecturer, delivered an address on "World Leadership and the Non-Caucasian Races" at Glenfield High School, Montclair, N. J. She was the special guest of the Civic Community of Montclair.

Dr. Edmonds' last appearance in New Jersey was on Sunday, July 5. At that time she was principal speaker at the 11 a. m. service of the St. Paul Baptist Church of Montclair.

In addition to her busy work as teacher and lecturer, Dr. Edmonds is currently engaged in writing a biography of the late Dr. James E. Shepard, the founder and first president of the North Carolina College at Durham and one of the outstanding Negro leaders of the post-Reconstruction period in North Carolina.

The professor's last book, "The Negro in Fusion Politics in North Carolina", has been widely acclaimed in national historical circles.

mittées and introductions of visitors will round out the morning meeting.

Reverend J. A. Stewart, moderator for the New Hope Association, will conduct afternoon devotions at two o'clock. Reverend L. W. Reid, Durham, will be heard in a sermon following devotions.

Following Reverend Reid's sermon, a panel discussion on the Convention theme, "The Church's Program for the Whole Man," will be held. Participants include Reverend H. J. Cobb of Mebane; Rev. Fisher, Mrs. A. L. Filmore, Durham, and Rev. J. H. Jones, Chapel Hill.

Wednesday's program, featuring the B. T. U. program, will include a training clinic for officers, oratorical contest, a demonstration of church music, election of officers, presentation of prizes, reports of committees and a sermon by Rev. L. E. Daye of Durham.

Leaders of the training clinic are Mrs. Pecolia Hogan, Mrs. Herndon, Mrs. Georgia Barbee, Mrs. Amanda Cobb and Mrs. J. B. Mc Lester.

Mrs. Filmore and Mrs. Mc Lester will supervise the oratorical contest.

Convention officers are James Allen, president-emeritus; Rev. Fisher, president;

Dr. Alfonso Elder, N. C. College president, told the committee that although Duke University and the University of North Carolina have collegiate nursing schools, "there is no collegiate nursing school for Negroes in the State."

The federal courts have established the right of competent Negroes to attend graduate and professional schools of the University of North Carolina.

Miss Ruth Council, a member of the committee, said that it was the committee's hope that Negroes in the State would be given the "very best possible training and facilities available."

According to records, the best facilities for nurse training in the State are at the University of North Carolina, whose students use the multi-million dollar Memorial Hospital for clinical experience.

Hospital officials at Lincoln in Durham and L. Richardson Memorial at Greensboro, also backed the idea of setting up the proposed program.

A. and T. College had previously requested the State legislature to establish a nurse training program at its campus.

that the committee is ready to make recommendations to the Governor. The spokesman indicated that two schools would be recommended.

The spokesman further indicated that none of the three schools visited could adequately carry on the nursing program by affiliating with two or more hospitals in its area. It is thought that North Carolina College would have to affiliate with Lincoln and Duke or the N.C. Memorial hospital. A. and T. College would probably link with Cone and L. Richardson Memorial. Winston-Salem Teachers College would affiliate with Bowman-Gray and Kate Bittigs.

NAACP DELEGATES ADOPT RESOLUTIONS AT ITS 44TH CONVENTION AT ST. LOUIS

NEW YORK

Board and staff members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People were this week preparing plans for implementing the comprehensive resolutions adopted by the delegates to the Association's 44th annual convention in St. Louis last week.

In addition to approving the 10-year plan to complete emancipation and the setting up of the "Fighting Fund For Freedom," the convention passed resolutions establishing a national youth committee, setting up procedures for legal action, calling for expansion of public relations facilities and approving the calling of a special meeting to promote clergy-NAACP relations.

Other resolutions reaffirmed the Association's historic fight against segregation, decried "the tactics of Senator Joseph McCarthy and others who attempt to deprive any person of his rights, liberty and freedom of thought," rejected Communism "as an anti-democratic way of life," and called upon President Eisenhower "to restrict the loyalty and security program to security-sensitive departments of government, such as the State Department, Defense Department, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

Further, the resolutions endorsed the race relations service in federal housing, called for intensification of the registration and voting campaign, urged the organization of another civil rights mobilization, called for revision of Senate cloture Rule 22, reiterated the demand for enactment of civil rights legislation, and opposed "the current investigations into education being carried on by the Velde Un-American Activities Committee."

On the labor front, a resolution "hopefully calls upon the new leadership of the American Federation of Labor to take affirmative action to end the various forms of racial discrimination practiced by certain affiliated international unions," and condemned "the continuation of these vicious practices by the Railway Brotherhoods." Moreover the resolution warned the local and state units of the NAACP against cooperation with Communist controlled unions including the National Negro Labor Council.

The delegates re-affirmed their "belief in and support of old age assistance, unemployment insurance, vocational rehabilitation programs, public recreational facilities, adequate hospital and medical facilities, slum clearance, and urban redevelopment for all citizens on a non-segregated basis."

editorial, on June 29:

John Foster Dulles owes more than a telegram to Walter White, who happened to be in position to make Mr. Dulles apologize abjectly. Secretary Dulles owes more than apologies to Alan Barth, Bert Andrews, Gen. Stillwell, Langston Hughes, the Lynds and many other authors. He owes a full and prompt accounting to the American people. Never before has there been any such trampling of freedom of thought under the authority of the United States Government. This "burning of the books" is the most grievous of the blunders since Jan. 20 and it is not going to blow over.

Dulles' telegram was in response to an inquiry by White when he learned that his book, "A Rising Wind," had been removed from United States Information Service libraries in India.
