

-Schools-

(Continued from Page One) that "the State NAACP is opposed to any plan" which would extend segregation.

A statement from A. and T. College last week was to the effect that the nurse training program could get underway there in September with the regular Fall term.

President F. D. Bluford of A. and T. and that he thought the school already had at least 20 applications on file. (Governor Umstead's order directed that the program be started as soon as 20 persons have qualified to begin the first year of training).

It was not learned this week when the program at Winston-Salem would be started.

"We're very pleased with the Governor's action," Dr. Bluford was quoted as saying this week following the announcement of A. and T.'s election. "We will be able to offer a three year course leading to the degree in nursing."

The school at Winston-Salem will also offer a three year training course.

It is understood that one of the reasons influencing the committee's selection of A. and T. was the fact that L. Richardson Memorial Hospital in Greensboro is discontinuing its nurse training program.

Elizabeth City Teachers College, which earlier requested that a training program for Negro nurses be installed there, dropped its request when it realized that the college did not have access to a Negro hospital and suggested that "there would be some complications in this respect."

A spokesman for the committee which made the selection for the schools said that none of the considered could adequately carry on the proposed program without affiliating with some other hospital in its community than the Negro hospitals.

It is believed that A. and T. will associate with L. Richardson Memorial and Cone Memorial in Greensboro, and that Winston-Salem will have to associate with Kate-Bittings and Bowman-Gray.

The Durham Committee on Negro Affairs announced this week that in appreciation of the splendid work done by Bandmaster Phillmore Hall of the Hillside High School Band that it has made financial arrangements for him to attend a special course for bandmasters to be given at Michigan University July 21-26. The course will be taught in the form of a workshop and will feature the latest in band drills, formations and marching.

at 32 churches in the County each year since 1949. This year, Wheeler was selected to speak at regular Sunday worship services of the Howard Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Trice of Durham announced the marriage of their daughter, Louise, to Clyde Moore, Jr. The ceremony took place Friday evening, July 10, at the home of Mrs. Docia Askew, and Mrs. Della Ragland, aunts of the bride, in New York City. Rev. C. Y. Trigg, pastor of the Salem M. E. Church was the officiating minister.

Mr. Moore is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Moore of Washington, N. C. The newlyweds have returned to Durham where they will take up residence.

-Durhamites-

(Continued from Page One) company. The committee was scheduled to meet Wednesday with any persons wishing to be heard on the extension of the telephone company's franchise.

Funeral Rites In Durham For Mrs. Kirby

One of the oldest members of Durham's White Rock Baptist Church was funeralized Sunday at the church at one o'clock p. m.

She was Mrs. Fannie Bolden Kirby who died July 17 at her home on Elizabeth Street at the age of 77. Death came after an extended illness.

Mrs. Kirby was born in Orange County in 1876, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tomie Bolden. She came to Durham at an early age and joined White Rock Church where she remained a faithful member until her death.

She was married to the late Frank Kirby, and the pair had six children, two of whom survive. They are Misses Margie and Eddie Kirby of Durham. Other survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Roberts and Mrs. Lena Bailey, and a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren.

-Spelman-

(Continued from Page One) uled to complete 38 years of service to the institution on September 1, 1953.

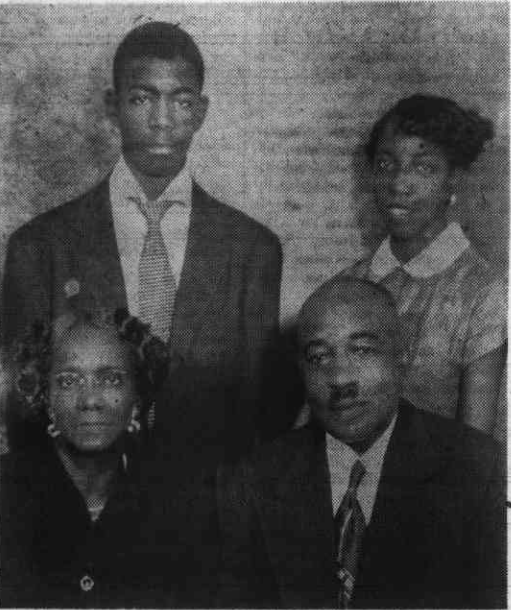

She served as dean of women at North Carolina College from 1925 until 1948. In her early years at North Carolina College, she taught mathematics and Latin. However, after her elevation to the Dean of Women position in 1925, she became professor of education. She was

A reception was held recently at St. Paul Baptist Church for graduates from high school and colleges that are members of the church. This affair was sponsored by the Benevolent Department. Graduates from left to right—

first row: Misses Eartha Mae McKenzie, Doris Williams, Mildred Smith, Ernestine Lilly, Juanita Franklin, Rosa Moore, Mrs. Marie Adams, and Miss Frankie McCue. Back row, left to right: Robert Steele, William Hill, Howard Thompson, David Fincher, Wilch Caldwell, Alexander Sloan, Clyde Edginton, Columbus Nesbitt, and Thomas Allen. (Not shown on picture, Miss Flossie Leake).

Mrs. Cassandra Smith Celebrates 85th Birthday

Mrs. Cassandra Smith of 914 Elizabeth Street was feted with a birthday dinner on July 12 in celebration of her 85th birthday. Mrs. Smith lives with her daughter, Mrs. Dora Toran Joyner and Mr. Bennie Joyner.

There were four generations represented. Those present to help her enjoy the dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. Maxie Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Smith, Mrs. Maggie Younger, Mrs. Louise Thorpe, Mr. and Mrs. Gus McGlathen, Mrs. Lucy Johnson, Mrs. Myrtle Haskins, Mrs. Walter Barbee, Mrs. Dora S. Jones, Rev. James Stewart, Mr. W. A. Amey, Mr. Rufus Norris, all of Durham.

Also Mrs. Mary White, Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt Hill and baby, Mr. Charles White, of Norfolk, Va. Mr. Taber Joyner, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Joyner and daughter, Mrs. Rose Joyner, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Joyner, Franklinton, Mr. and Mrs. Carl McDougal, Miss Fella McDougal, Mrs. Beatrice Artice, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Mitchell, Raleigh, Mr. and Mrs. Huey Kettere, Miss Elizabeth Kettere, Method, Mrs. Francis Matthew, Fuquay Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Ozell Holloway and children, Mrs. Annie Mae Chavis and children, Wake Forest Road, Durham.

The honoree received many gifts.

Mrs. B. W. Jones Is Funeralized In Durham

Funeral services were held in Durham Wednesday for Mrs. Bernice W. Jones, resident of 207 Nelson Street, at the St. Titus Episcopal Church at three o'clock p. m. The Reverend Fred Hunter, rector of the church, officiated.

Mrs. Jones died at the Lincoln Hospital Sunday morning around 1:45 following a lengthy illness. She was 49.

She came to Durham in 1923, shortly after her graduation from Talladega College to work in the city schools system. For a number of years she taught at the East End elementary school and at Hillside high.

Born in Mobile, Alabama, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Williams, Mrs. Jones' early formal training was done at the Emerson Institute in Mobile.

In 1927, she was married to J. W. Jones, who is one of her survivors. Other survivors include three sons, J. W. Jr., George and Carol Jones, one sister, Edrice Williams, two step-brothers, Dr. James P. and Grover C. Dixon, and one aunt, Miss Lillian Nicholas.

-Wheeler-

(Continued from Page One)

and to point the way toward better understanding among all races of the world and in all areas of American life.

One hundred of the "most distinguished American citizens" have been guest speak-

-Beckwith-

(Continued from Page Five) ent Hunts. Bettye Deloris Flowe, another Guild H. S. Diploma winner, earned a scholarship from Howard University School of Music, and an Alpha Kappa

Sorority scholarship. A fourth Guild H. S. Diploma winner, Vernon Castle Grigg, Jr. received a music scholarship from Virginia State College.

Carl Bennix voice certificate graduate and pianist, was given a music scholarship, from Fisk University.

Asheville Man Gets Nod For County Job

ASHEVILLE Appointed last week as a case worker in the Buncombe County Welfare Department was Robert L. Harbison of 23 Barfield Street.

Harbison fills a vacancy which was created by the resignation of Robert Alexander who is now on the staff of the Guilford County Welfare Department.

A graduate of Benedict College in Columbia, S. C., Harbison is also a veteran of some two years service in the Armed Forces including a ten months tour of duty in Korea.

During the past school year Harbison served as a substitute teacher in the local high school.

Harbison is a member of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, a 32nd Degree Mason and also a Noble of the Mystic Shrine.

serving as professor of education at the time of her resignation.

She was significantly honored in 1939 when the women students, as a gesture of esteem, named the freshman dormitory Rush Hall and hung in the lobby a portrait of Miss Rush.

Miss Rush has been unusually active in the civic and educational life of her state and region. She served for seven years as president of the North Carolina Federation of Negro Women's Clubs. She became nationally known as a result of the program which she developed for this organization.

Miss Rush was identified with the Durham school from its early period of hardship through the lush-building periods of the 1930's and 1940's. She was a close adviser to the late Dr. James E. Shepard, founder and first president of the college.

After Dr. Shepard's death in 1947, Miss Rush was one of three members selected to guide the institution's affairs until the appointment on January 20, 1948, of Dr. Alfonso Elder, who succeeded Dr. Shepard in the presidency. The other members of the interim administrative committee were then Dean Albert E. Manley of the undergraduate college and Law School Dean Albert T. Turner.

Following her service on the college's interim administrative committee, Miss Rush resigned as dean of women and took a one year's leave of absence. She returned to N. C. College in September, 1949 as professor of education.

In going to Spelman College, Miss Rush will return to Atlanta, Georgia, the city of her childhood and the scene of her early education. Members of her family reside in Atlanta. One of her sisters, Mrs. Emma Cunningham, is professor of English at Clark College in Atlanta University System. Her mother, Mrs. W. D. Rush, was for years connected with the old Atlanta University.

Informed sources in Durham said President Albert E. Manley who became head of Spelman on July 1 persuaded Miss Rush to accept the position at the Georgia woman's college. One of Miss Rush's friends said Miss Rush previously refused the deanship of women at Spelman on two previous occasions when the job was offered to her by Miss Florence Read, former head of Spelman.

Miss Rush, who makes her home in Durham at 511 Lawson Street, received the A. B. Degree from Clark University in 1914, and the master's degree in education from Harvard University in 1927. She studied personnel administration at Columbia University during 1930-31.

The REV. A. L. JAMES, Pastor of the First Baptist Church of Roanoke, Virginia will be the Anniversary speaker for the fifth anniversary of the Reverend E. T. Browne, pastor of the Mount Vernon Baptist Church.

Rev. James is a native of Madison, Florida. He was graduated from Florida Institute and has done work at Chicago University, and Andover Newton Theological Seminary in Newton, Massachusetts. He has received honorary degrees of Doctor of Divinity from the Virginia Theological Seminary and College and LL.D. from Bethune-Cookman College in Florida. Rev. James served as YMCA secretary overseas with the War Work Council of the YMCA during World War I.

He has served as minister of Roanoke since 1919. During his ministry in Virginia he has served as President of the Virginia Baptist State Convention; President of the Lott Carey Baptist Convention; President of the Lott Carey Baptist Convention; President of the Hampton Ministers Conference; Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Virginia Seminary and College, and many other honors of the denomination.

TIMES Adds New Feature

Beginning next week, a new columnist will write for the CAROLINA TIMES. He is Gene (Gene) Potts of radio station WGIV in Charlotte.

Potts has had a varied career, starting as a school teacher upon his graduation from Johnson C. Smith, working as a Fuller Brush salesman, taking a fling at the insurance business and winding up in his present position with station WGIV.

"His column will be known as 'KILO WATTS AND WHAT NOTS.'"

Mr. Potts is a native Charlottean, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Potts. In 1948, he became Charlotte's first Negro disc-jockey, at station WGIV. Since then he has been added to the station's regular staff.

"Genial Gene," as he is known to his radio fans, is heard at 6:30 a. m. daily. He also has a regular afternoon program and a "live show" on Sunday. A very popular and busy young man about Charlotte, he is a member of the Clement A. M. E. Trustee Board, Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Elks and many other civic groups. For the past two years, he served as division chairman for the Mecklenburg County "March of Dimes."

-Woman-

(Continued from Page One) The drives which lead to the Duke campus and the hospital are heavily wooded with trees and shrubs, making it very dark in the late evening, even. At press time, police were still searching for leads to a clue to trap the assailant.

Advertisement for tools: NO. 8 BEST MARCEL IRON $1.95, ROLLING HANDLES, NO. 10 COMB WOOD HANDLE $1.95, OIL STOVE $2.95, CHILDRON $1.95, RUBBER $1.95, E. L. COMPANY, BOX 2163-18, RICHMOND, VA.

Advertisement for Belated Welcome to the Charlotte CAROLINA TIMES from: Albert Anceldell and Daughters, PATTON CAFE 431 E. 2nd St., LOGAN CAMP

Advertisement for Seagram's Ancient Bottle distilled dry Gin. Includes image of the bottle and text: DISTILLED FROM AMERICAN GRAIN 90 PROOF. SEAGRAM-DISTILLERS CORP., NEW YORK, N. Y.

Advertisement for Golden Wedding Kentucky Whiskey - A Blend. Includes image of the bottle and text: $2.00 PINT, $3.20 BOTTLE, 86 PROOF - 70% GRAIN NEUTRAL SPIRITS. JOSEPH S. FINCH & CO., ALADDIN, PA. & FRESNO, CALIF.